MITCHELL KNEW ALL ABOUT THE PROPOSAL

News from Washington Did Not Surprise Him—Has No Statement to Make.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WILKESBARRE, PA., Oct. 14.—President Mitchell, when shown a synopsis of the statement issued from the White House early this morning, in which the operators agree to arbitration, refused to make any comment and immediately retired.

A few moments later a full copy of the statement was brought to strike headquarters, but he refused to get up to see it. The correspondents talked to him through the transom of his bedroom, and in answer to further questions he said he knew about what the statement contained.

While no information can be had at this time, it is not believed the arbitration plan proposed by the operators will be entirely satisfactory, but the miners' officials may waive and objections they may have and accept it.

The three district presidents are at their homes and cannot be reached from here this morning for an expression of opinion on the new turn of affairs.

RAILROADS ASKING MUCH IN COUNCILS

Five Ordinances Introduced at Yesterday's Sessions.

P. R. R. RESPONSIBLE FOR FOUR OF THEM

WABASH SEEKS ENTRANCE

It was railroad day in city councils yesterday. The ordinances granting the Wabash and Pennsylvania railroad interests franchises and privileges were introduced in common council in the evening; the general ordinance prepared by the select council president, John S. Lambie, was introduced in select council in the afternoon. All the ordinances were referred to the committee on corporations. It is expected that none of them will be passed until they have been thoroughly gone over in committee or some general provision has been made for the terms and, perhaps compensation under which railroad franchises shall be granted.

The ordinances, for the re-location of a part of Second avenue and for the gift of the Monongahela river front to the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, were returned to common council from the committee on corporations, but on motion of the chairman of that committee were sent back to the committee. Opposition has developed to the ordinances and they were recommended favorably by the committee under a misapprehension, so that it is probable that now the measures will be thoroughly threshed over before they are again presented in council.

Five Ordinances Presented.

The five ordinances presented in common council, were the following: One conferring upon the Pennsylvania railroad the right to build an elevated railroad along Duquesne way to the Monongahela wharf, in connection with the warehouses planned to extend from Duquesne way to Liberty street; two ordinances, one providing for the new Negley Run branch, including overhead bridges over Hamilton and Kelly avenues, and the other providing for the continuation of that branch through Highland park, the strip taken from the park to be made up to the city by two donations of land aggregating 95 acres on the hillside opposite Lake Carnegie; a fourth, providing for the overhead crossing at Second avenue and Try street, and a fifth, conferring on the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad, the Wabash extension, franchises to enter the city and connect with the South Side manufacturing establishments. All these ordinances provide that the city shall assume all damage to property caused by the railroad construction. The ordinances were all referred to the committee on corporations.

Lambie Thinks Differently.

If the conditions set forth in the general ordinance prepared by Mr. Lambie should be approved by councils the railroads will certainly pay indirectly for their franchises by undertaking lots of expense that the ordinances presented last night put upon the city. The item of damages to property alone, which Mr. Lambie considers the railroads ought to be responsible for, is important.

The general ordinance regulating the conditions under which railroads shall be permitted to enter upon or cross the streets and highways of Pittsburgh was prepared by President Lambie himself. In speaking of his work on the ordinance Mr. Lambie said:

"It was my intention in preparing the ordinance to protect the city in every way possible. I tried to get information from many cities, but succeeded in securing information only from Philadelphia, Baltimore and Buffalo. I consulted councilmen, business men, railroad men and lawyers, but I could get no assistance. The ordinance is, of course, not complete. It will be gone over in committee and can there be amended.

Dodges Compensation.

"The question of compensation is a difficult one to handle, and I did not attempt to cover it in the body of the ordinance, although it is inserted in the title, so that the committee can deal with the question."

The ordinance first provides that railroads desiring to enter upon, occupy or cross over streets, highways or public grounds of the city shall file plans of the proposed routes, with the location of piers, abutments, tracks and structures, in the office of the director of the department of public works. If the railroad cannot obtain the consent of the director to the plans, it is permitted to appeal to council, which may pass the ordinances, the railroad having first filed a bond for $100,000 with the director of public works.

No railroad may enter upon or cross over streets and public grounds unless specifically authorized to do so by councils.

Councils to Have Power.

All crossings above grade shall be steel, with a headway of 14 feet over highways and 20 feet over the tracks of another railroad company; crossings below grade shall be by tunnel or subway. All changes in grade must be authorized by councils and made at the cost of the railroad company, which shall also pay all damages to property.

All grade crossings shall conform to grades now or hereafter to be established; the railroads shall pave the streets they occupy from curb to curb, and shall erect safety gates and employ guards for them wherever the department of public safety shall direct. The railroad must replace all sewer and water pipes at its own ex-

WHISTLE SILENT AT MAHANOY CITY

Union Officials Intercept Men the 14th Was to Guard to Work.

TO TRY AGAIN TODAY

Staff Correspondent.

Mahanoy City, Pa., Oct. 13.—Only the clever work of President Mitchell's lieutenants prevented, just before daybreak, an attempt to man the North Mahanoy colliery of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, a few hundred yards from the Fourteenth's camp.

According to private advices, a party of 100 non-union men was intercepted about midnight at Tamaqua by strikers, and these non-union men yielded to the entreaties of the unionists not to hurt a cause they believed nearly won.

"If you say that Tamaqua stopped the men, it will be right," Edward Sweeney, the mine workers' leader of that town, told me over the 'phone tonight.

As exclusively told in The Gazette this morning, the Second and Third batallions were ordered out about 4 o'clock. The move was made so quickly that few beside the men called out knew of the plan. The battalions covered the streets leading to the North Mahanoy collieries and kept constantly on the move.

No Resistance Apparent.

A large crowd of union men gathered, for it had been whispered among them that the whistle, unheard for five months, was this morning to blow and non-union men were to enter. If there were preparations for forcibly resisting this none was apparent. Moral suasion was too effective and the operators gave up the plan. The whistle did not blow, no workers appeared at the colliery and after dawn the troops went back to camp.

There is a report that another attempt will be made tomorrow morning. Col. Thompson told me tonight that he had no knowledge of such a plan. It is a certainty that the operating companies are preparing for some coup of much importance. They have ample protection; they have had time to secure workers. If 6t men can be found willing to work, and still the mines are unworked.

Col. Thompson, commanding the Fourteenth regiment, narrowly escaped serious injury today from a falling brace in his tent. His left forearm is disabled and swollen where the brace struck. The brace was 10 feet long and 2x4 inches in size. The arm will be all right again in a few days, as no bone is broken.

Gen. Wiley Makes a Call.

Gen. John A. Wiley and staff of the Second brigade visited camp this morning for over an hour. A careful inspection resulted in the same compliment bestowed yesterday by the division officers, well located and well made throughout.

Today Gen. Wiley issued a general order for the rigid exclusion of citizens, except when having proper business in camp. He further tightens down on the issuance of passes beyond the lines. He orders the arrest of enlisted men outside the lines when not properly uniformed or without passes.

Two companies, A and K, are patrolling the streets of the city tonight, and at the guard house goes the man outside without a white pass.

A new pair of shoes and a new blanket for every man in the regiment were received today. The shoes have been distributed amid loud howls over misfits.

The hospital tent has but one occupant tonight. That is Lieut. Milligan of Company F, who is a victim of chills. He will be out tomorrow or next day.

Requires Some Changes.

He was an officer of the guard today, but his place was taken by Lieut. David C. Farrar, Company D. Lewis M. Baker, Company A, was also an officer of the guard, while Capt. Joseph Rising, Company G, was officer of the day.

Lieut. Milligan's illness interfered slightly also with another program. Tomorrow the football team of Company E was to have met the Sandy Bottom team of Mahanoy City. The lieutenant plays full back. As a result the Company A team, managed by Bert Snyder, first sergeant of the company, will meet the locals. The pigskin was being chased lively over the camp today.

STEEL STRIKE MENACED.

New Plant at Buffalo, May be Tied Up by a Dispute Involving Unionism.

BUFFALO, Oct. 13.—A general strike of union steel and iron workers employed at the new plant of the Lackawanna Iron & Steel Company, at Stony Point, is threatened.

At a meeting of the iron trades council held tonight a committee was appointed to wait upon Supt. Scranton in the interests of about 50 boilermakers who went out on strike last week. Supt. Scranton refused to confer with the men as representatives of the union.

The committee reported the reply, and it was decided by the council that if the boilermakers' demands are not complied with before next Wednesday an effort will be made to bring out every union man employed at the new steel plant. Their number is estimated at 1,500.

LARGEST TANK SHIP ARRIVES AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The Sun this morning says: The new Standard Oil steel tank steamship New York, largest of her kind afloat, arrived last night from Shields, making the trip in 12 days. She is 428 feet long between perpendiculars and can carry 8,800 tons on 25 feet draught. She has 16 oil-tight compartments.

DRAWN BATTLE IN STRIKE FIELD

TEST YET TO COME

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 13.—What was looked upon as an important day in the matter of resumption of work in the coal mines passed without serious trouble, and each side to the controversy tonight is claiming a victory. Reports received here from coal companies all over the region are to the effect that at least 12 colliries and four washeries started operations today. President Mitchell just as positively asserts that reports received by him from his lieutenants in the field showed fewer men at work today than last week.

It was evident that extra efforts were made to gain an advantage. The soldiers of the Third brigade were sent into the outlying mining towns in this region long before starting time to patrol the streets and roads leading to the collieries. In some places the soldiers were scattered in twos and threes along streets and on street corners, but they were not compelled to rescue anyone from strikers. The company superintendents are authority for the statement that for the past two days the mine workers have been again making house to house canvasses all over the entire territory, holding the men in line, and that if it were not for this method of keeping the men from work there would have been a large increase in the number of employes at work.

"The number of men who returned to work today was not very large, but the movement was gratifying. The companies did not make a great effort to break the ranks of the strikers, preferring to wait until the New York conferences are over. They have held out false hopes to the men and as soon as they are over the men will see that there is no use to hold out any longer and will be glad to resume work."

In an interview tonight President Mitchell summed up the general situation as follows:

"I have heard from every point in the coal region today, and my information is that fewer men were at work today than last week. There were desertions from the companies at Scranton, Hazleton, the Panther creek valley and Shamokin. The report that 12 collieries resumed operations is not true. The Bellevue colliery of the Lackawanna company, which it is claimed was started, hoisted two cars and then shut down; the Johnson collieries Nos. 1 and 2 of the New York, Ontario & Western Company, contrary to report, did not move a wheel; at the Lattimer mines of C. Pardee & Co. the mine foremen raised some coal that had been gathered at the bottom, and no men were started there, as reported. The Prospect colliery of the Lehigh Valley, which is also said to have begun work, did not ship any coal. I have not heard anything of other collieries, but if they started work I would have been informed."

ALLEGED STEAMSHIP SWINDLERS CAUGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The World this morning says: Two professional confidence men, who are alleged to have swindled passengers on the American line steamship St. Paul out of $10,000 on her last trip over, were arrested yesterday in the corridor of the Fifth Avenue hotel while they were attempting to collect I. O. U.'s from one of their victims.

ROBBERS LOOT OSBORNE HOME

BIDDLES THERE TOO

Two daring negro porchclimbers looted the residence of Anton Glamser in Osborne, on the Ft. Wayne railroad, of jewelry and money aggregating $1,000 while the family were at supper yesterday evening. The burglars made good their escape by jumping through a window of a second floor room, in which they were working when Mr. Glamser interrupted them.

Less than two years ago the Glamser residence suffered a visit from the Biddle gang, which added several bloody and startling chapters to the criminal annals of the community. The Biddles were less successful in their visit to the Glamser home than the negro burglars of last night. The Biddle secured a rich haul, however, some of the articles, which were not easy to dispose of having been identified at the Safety building in Pittsburgh by Mr. Glamser when the plunder of the Biddles was taken by the police after their arrest.

The Glamser family was at supper at about a quarter past 7 o'clock last evening when a noise was noticed on the second floor. Mr. Glamser went to investigate. Entering the room of Mrs. Glamser he found the negroes on the alert for his approach.

They had ransacked every possible receptacle for valuables. One after the other they bounded through an open window at the sight of Mr. Glamser. It was through this window that they had evidently entered. It opens over a porch and ingress to the house was a comparatively easy trick.

Mr. Glamser had time only to note something of the appearance of the men. One was a burly negro, fully six feet tall and of heavy build. His associate was a much smaller man, of slight build. Both were quite dark. Both secured a good start, for Mr. Glamser, being without any weapon, refrained from giving too close a chase to so desperate a pair.

When he started to investigate the source of the noise heard from the dining room, it was with no expectation of meeting burglars, and all he could do was to give an alarm and notify the borough officers.

An investigation of the house showed that the burglars had only worked in the one room. The missing articles are three diamond brooches, a diamond stud, diamond ring and about $90 in money. Mr. Glamser is the head of the Glamser-Huckestein Drug Company, Federal street, Allegheny.

WORK IN 24 HOURS.

That Is President Mitchell's Assurance If Strike Is Settled.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—In a special from Wilkesbarre, Pa., the World this morning says:

President Mitchell said tonight that, assuming the strike is settled, the full force of 143,000 men will report for duty within 24 hours. Seventy-five thousand tons of coal can be mined and ready for shipment in 48 hours, and the amount increased to 125,000 tons a day at the end of a week. It can be moved to New York and other Atlantic cities in 36 hours from the time it is brought from the mines.

THE OPERATORS AGREE TO STRIKE ARBITRATION BY REGULAR COMMISSION

A CONFERENCE WITH MORGAN AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

The President Brings the Anthracite Mine Owners to Time by a Threat to Withdraw Treasury Support from the Money Market.

President Roosevelt has settled the anthracite coal strike and relief from the personal distress and commercial disaster which threatened the people of this country is now immediately at hand.

In behalf of the coal operators, and at their suggestion, J. P. Morgan came to the White House last night and informed the president that the mine owners would accept the arbitration of a commission to be appointed by Mr. Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt accepted this and will appoint the commission.

Inasmuch as this was the original proposition of John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, in behalf of the strikers, the labor party to this great controversy, no doubt, will accept, and the strike will be at an end.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.

J. P. Morgan and his partner, Robert Bacon, representing the anthracite operators, have consented to arbitration of the coal strike by a commission to be appointed by President Roosevelt.

J. P. Morgan's change of front in the coal situation resulted from his interview with Secretary Root on Sunday. It is said with authority that Root was told to put this proposition to Morgan, squarely: Either the financial interests must persuade the coal operators to settle the strike on a fair basis, or public money—that is, the United States treasury—would be closed to great financial interests, reversing Secretary Shaw's actions.

On September 30 Secretary Shaw's notice that banks need not keep 25 per cent reserve against deposits released $35,000,000. Roosevelt has stopped other similar contemplated action and will put Wall street on the anxious seat unless it settles the strike.

Morgan, after a contemplation of his fearful load of industrials and other enterprises, and the demoralizing effect of the proposed course upon the market, agreed to aid in the settlement.

Then it was that Gov. Crane of Massachusetts, who is said to be slated to succeed Secretary Shaw, was asked to confer with Morgan and Mitchell, and possibly one other, in New York Wednesday to take the final steps in the settlement of the coal strike. Gov. Crane will be Roosevelt's representative.

Now Willing for Arbitration.

Mr. Morgan told the president tonight that he had come to see him at the suggestion of the coal operators, and that they were willing to submit the controversy to a commission to be appointed by the president. This virtually brings the question back to the first White House conference. The operators recede from their position and accept arbitration by a presidential commission.

Mr. Morgan and Mr. Bacon arrived by special train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad shortly before 10 o'clock and were driven at once to the Arlington hotel. They were shown at once to their rooms. President Baer of the Reading railroad, who was supposed also to be in the city, kept himself in the background.

Mr. Morgan, on being asked if he had been summoned to see the president, said: "I have nothing to say."

After going upstairs he and Mr. Bacon were at once joined by Secretary Root. Then all three walked over to the temporary White House. Secretary Root hastened up the steps, but just before entering Mr. Morgan hesitated a moment, then took his hat and followed Secretary Root into the outer hall, Mr. Bacon being the last to enter. All three were shown at once to the president's room on the second floor and cordial greetings were exchanged.

Mr. Baer Not Present.

The conference lasted just one hour and a half. Mr. Baer was not present. Not one word came from the conference room while it was in session, except that just before its close Mr. Cortelyou, who had been in his office all the time, was sent for by the president. Then, at 11:55, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Root, Mr. Bacon and Secretary Cortelyou all came down the stairs together.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. Cortelyou, "I shall have a statement to make in half an hour."

"Has the strike been settled?"

"I can say nothing more now."

Mr. Morgan, Secretary Root and Mr. Bacon left the White House at once and walked back to the Arlington hotel. Mr. Morgan was deaf to all questions. He simply shook his head. Mr. Bacon also was silent. Secretary Root, in reply to the question, "Has there been any result?" said:

"You must ask Mr. Cortelyou. He will make a statement."

Mr. Morgan and his companions went to the Metropolitan club after leaving the White House and will stay at the Arlington hotel tonight.

The Operators' Statement.

J. P. Morgan came to Washington with his partner, Mr. Bacon, at the request of the coal companies, who desired that as a matter of courtesy their statement should be shown to the president before it was made public. Having been laid before the president by Mr. Morgan, it is now given to the press by Mr. Cortelyou:

To the public—The managers of the different coal properties comprising the anthracite coal fields wish their position in the present strike to be understood, and, therefore, make the following statement of facts:

There are in the anthracite regions about 75 operating companies and firms and 147,000 miners and workmen (of whom 30,000 are under age), comprising some 20 nationalities and dialects. Of these workmen possibly one-half belong to the United Mine Workers' union, of which John Mitchell is president. The organization was originally formed in the bituminous coal region, and three-fourths of its members are miners of bituminous coal, and bituminous coal is sold in active competition with anthracite coal. The remaining workmen in the anthracite fields either belong to no union whatever or do not belong to the mine workers' union.

The present strike was declared by the mine workers' union on the 10th of May, 1902. Since that time many workmen not belonging to or not willing to follow that organization were working or had about the mines. From 17,000 to 20,000 are now at work. Many more have wished to work, but have been prevented by a course of violence and intimidation toward those working and toward their families, accompanied by the destruction of properties and the fear of death or bodily harm to every man who wishes to exercise his right to work.

Mitchell Unable to Stop Violence.

A schedule is annexed to show some of the things done to create this reign of terror, and every instance stated can be verified by reference to the officers in the service—civil and military—in the anthracite region. This violence has continued and steadily increased, notwithstanding repeated disavowals by Mr. Mitchell, and it is clear that he either cannot or will not prevent it, and that the rights of the other workmen cannot be protected under the supremacy of the mine workers' union.

The coal companies believe that the wages paid in the coal regions are fair and full and that the business in its normal condition has been able to stand it the capital invested is to have any reasonable return. The profits have been small. Several of the companies have become bankrupt and been reorganized several times. Several have never paid dividends, and the dividends of the others have been a small return for the capital invested.

It is not, however, the purpose of this statement to discuss this question. The undersigned are not, and never have been, unwilling to submit all questions between them and their workmen to any fair tribunal for decision. They are not willing to enter into arbitration with the mine workers' union, an organization chiefly composed of men in a rival and competitive interest, and they are not willing to make any arrangement which will not secure to the men now working, and all now or hereafter wishing to work, whether they belong to the mine workers' union or not, the right and opportunity to work in safety and without personal insult or bodily harm to themselves or their families. For these reasons the arbitrations heretofore proposed have been declined.

Operators' Previous Offer.

It will be remembered that at the conference in Washington, October 3, we made the following offer. That we would take up at each colliery any alleged grievance and consider it fairly and adjust it if it proved to be a grievance, and in the event of a failure to make a satisfactory adjustment the questions at issue to be submitted to the final decision of the judges of the court of common pleas of the district in which the colliery is located. This offer was made by us in good faith, and we desire here to reaffirm it.

The coal companies realize that the urgent public need of coal, and the apprehension of an inadequate supply for the approaching winter, calls for an earnest effort to reach a practical conclusion which will result in an increased supply, and the presidents of the companies desire to make every effort to that end which does not involve the abandonment of the interests committed to their care and of the men who are working and seeking to work in their mines. This responsibility they must bear as best they can.

They, therefore, restate their positions: That they are not discriminating against the United Mine Workers, but they insist that the miners' union shall not discriminate against or refuse to work with non-union men; that there shall be no restriction or deterioration in quantity or quality of work; and that, owing to the varying physical conditions of the anthracite mines, each colliery is a problem by itself.

We sugest a commission be appointed by the president of the United States, if he is willing to perform that public service, to whom shall be referred all questions at issue between the respective companies and their own employes, whether they belong to a union or not, and the decision of that commission shall be accepted by us. The commission to be constituted as follows:

Composition of the Commission.

First—An officer in the engineer corps of either the military or naval service of the United States.

Second—An expert mining engineer, experienced in the mining of coal and other minerals, and not in any way connected with coal mining properties, either anthracite or bituminous.

JURY DECIDES SOLDIERS' ACT UNJUSTIFIED

Advises District Attorney to Investigate Death of Durham.

GUARD WILL HOLD WADSWORTH SAFE

QUIET DAY AT SHENANDOAH

By ROBERT WRAY,
Staff Correspondent.

Shenandoah, Pa., Oct. 13.—The adjourned hearing in the case of Sentry Wadsworth of the Eighteenth regiment, who shot and killed William Durham in Coal street last Wednesday night, was concluded late this evening. The jury paid two visits to the scene of the shooting, and after carefully examining the ground arrived at the following conclusion:

.."We find that said William Durham came to his death October 8, 1902, at Shenandoah by a gunshot wound inflicted by Arthur Wadsworth of Company A, Eighteenth regiment, N. G. P., and from the evidence before us and examination of the premises on West Coal street we believe the shooting was hasty and unjustifiable, and we recommend that the matter be placed in the hands of the district attorney for investigation."

The jury, after deliberating nearly an hour and a half, returned with a verdict as above stated. This verdict was expected by the officers of the guard, but they will refuse to surrender Wadsworth to the civil authorities.

"Of course, they will hold him for murder," said an officer of the Eighteenth this morning, "but before we surrender the man to the civil authorities of Schuylkill county every civil court of resort in the country will be appealed to. He obeyed his orders and the civil authorities of Schuylkill county will have to go higher than this soldier." This affair was unfortunate, but men are not dragged from their homes and made to walk post with ball cartridge on a Sunday picnic. The regiment deplores the shooting of Durham, but Wadsworth had his orders and simply obeyed them."

W. Atkinson and H. W. White of Detroit arrived in the city today. They are a committee appointed by Mayor Maybury of Detroit to investigate the condition of the miners in the strike region and to report at the conference to be held in Detroit next Tuesday. They say that they will recommend that all the concessions asked by the miners be granted. They left tonight for Harrisburg.

This was another uneventful day in the camp, so far as alarms were concerned. All but the sentries paced their streets in peace, and not a single shot was fired.

Late tonight Col. Rutledge issued a series of orders, one of the most important relating to the patrol. The order says, in part:

"Sentinels will challenge distinctly and as loudly as possible three times before firing. If the party challenged fails to halt or respond to the first challenge, the sentinel will again challenge, and if the party fails to halt when challenged the second time, the sentinel will again challenge, 'Halt, or I'll fire.'"

Gen. Wiley inspected the camp of the Eighteenth today. He expressed himself as pleased with the condition of the regiment.

STRIKE FUND GROWING.

Pittsburgh Is Contributing Liberally to the Support of the Anthracite Miners.

The Pittsburgh fund for the anthracite strikers is growing rapidly. When headquarters were closed yesterday evening the fund had grown to $1,925 23, of which $700 has been sent to Secretary-Treasurer William B. Wilson of the miners. As a result of the work of the collectors on Sunday, Secretary William J. Kelly of the committee had received $202 40 yesterday evening, with not nearly all reports in. Of this amount $100 came from Elevator Constructors' union No. 5 and $25 from George H. Bennett & Co. Secretary-Treasurer William Dodds of the Pittsburgh miners received $351 83. Last night the East End carpenters forming local union No. 165 voted $250 for the fund.

Chairman M. M. Garland has arranged to secure credentials from Superintendent McAleese of the department of police for the collectors. These will be used by the men in addition to the credentials furnished by the committee officials.

After Papers for Evans.

Detective William Elmore went to Harrisburg last night to be present at the application today for requisition papers for John A. Evans, now at Youngstown, O., in the gift brought by directors of the Keystone Gold & Copper Mining Company. Detective Elmore will go to Columbus at once with the papers if they are granted, and there another legal battle in the case may be fought.

New Minister Ordained.

George H. Seville, a recent graduate of the United Presbyterian seminary, Allegheny, who joined the Baptist church because of his views concerning immersion, was publicly ordained as a minister of the Baptist denomination in the First Baptist church, Wilkinsburg, last evening.

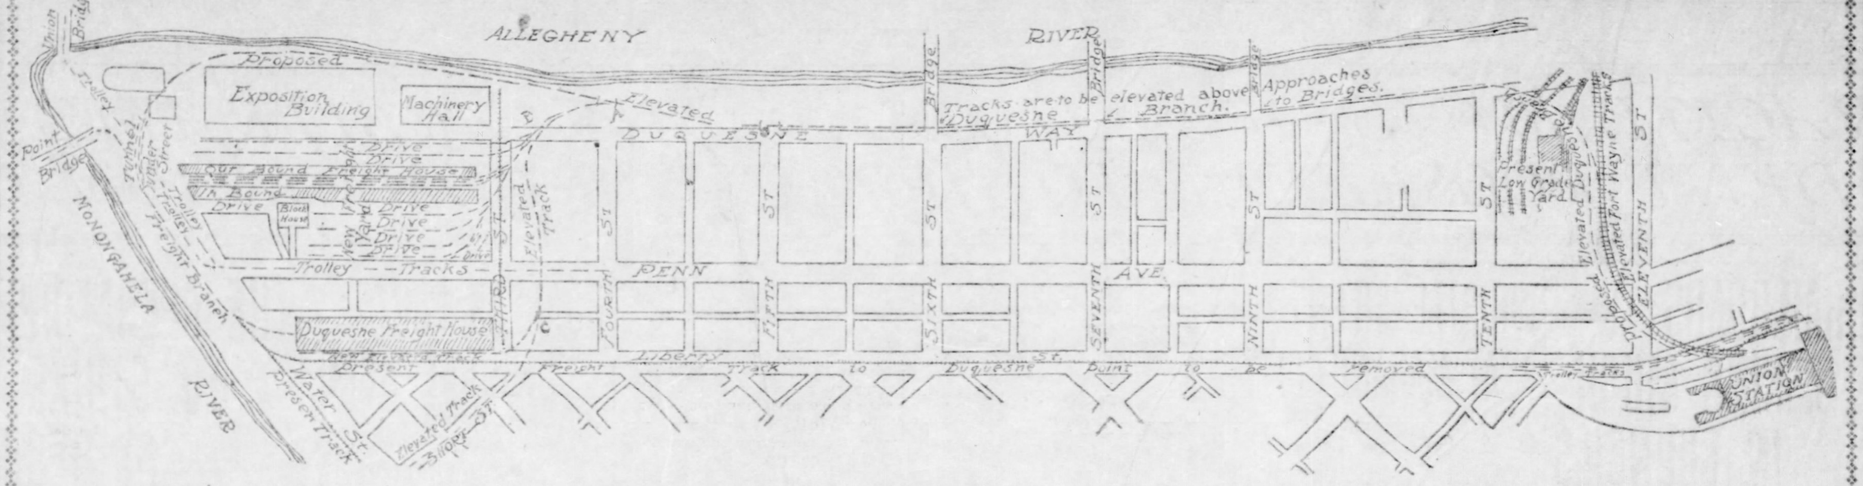
PLAN OF THE PROPOSED ELEVATED TRACK SYSTEM OF THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.



This Plan Accompanied the Ordinance Presented to Councils Yesterday and Shows How the Company Proposes to Build an Elevated Track Along Duquesne Way from Eleventh Street to the Lower End of the Exposition Grounds, Thence Along Water Street to the Duquesne Freight Station, With Branches on Third and Short Streets to the Proposed New Freight Houses.

RAILROADS ARE ASKING MUCH IN COUNCILS

pense. At any time hereafter the city may change the grades and vacate or open streets where the tracks are situated and the railroad must conform to the changes at its own expense.

The railroad must be responsible for all damages to property; the city has a right to have a competent engineer inspect the work; no soft coal shall be burned in the locomotives that switch trains through the city. The ordinance applies to all railroads hereafter to enter the city and all railroads now operating here.

Must Pay Elsewhere.

The Gazette has information that in Milwaukee the railroads are more liberal than they are here and voluntarily undertake improvements with hardly any cost to the municipality. The Chicago & Northwestern railroad recently agreed to change the level of its tracks at a cost of $3,500,000 to the railroad; it paid the whole cost of depressing its tracks, the city agreeing only to build the viaducts and pay the cost of lowering the sewer and water mains. The Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads have agreed to pay the whole cost of elevating their tracks.

In Boston the city issued bonds for $2,000,000 to pay its share of an immense railroad improvement that changed the topography of part of the city, but increased the value of property so enormously that the city was benefited.

It costs money for a railroad to gain entrance into Manhattan, for the Pennsylvania railroad will pay not less than $2,500,000 to tunnel its way into New York and will have to pay other sums into the city treasury at certain times. The railroad must pay for its station rights, must pay for the closing of West Thirty-second street, perhaps $600,000 or $700,000, and the station sites and incidental privileges will bring the sum up to $1,500,000. In New Jersey several railroads have elevated their tracks, and in most cases have formed the cost themselves. In Newark grade crossings were abolished entirely, and it cost the city only about $200,000.

PLANS FOR POINT RAILROAD CHANGES

The Pennsylvania Has Submitted to Councils Its Ordinance for Elevated Freight Tracks.

The ordinance providing for the removal of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks from Liberty street and the building of an elevated road along Duquesne way to reach the Point freight depot, was presented in common council yesterday.

Under the terms of the ordinance the railroad company agrees to lift the tracks in Liberty street between Twelfth and Fifth streets within a year after the new elevated system is completed, all the surface lines at the Point will be removed. The freight depot is to be reached by an elevated road along Duquesne way. Three branches are provided for. They will cover the territory in the lower part of the city and take the place of the present surface lines.

The company will pay for the elevation of the tracks. The city is expected to make the necessary changes in the grades of the streets. The cost of this work will be born by the railroad company. All claims for damages resulting from the change of grade will have to be paid by the city, but the railroad is protected by nominal damages. The ordinance and agreement the city is asked to enter into is as follows:

The Ordinance.

An ordinance to authorize and direct the proper officers of the city of Pittsburgh, in the name and on behalf of said city, to enter into and execute a contract with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, whereby said railroad company may, within the limits of said city, re-vate, change and elevate a part of its railroad now on Liberty street and the branches therefrom.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the city of Pittsburgh, in select and common councils assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that the proper officers of the said city be and they are hereby authorized and directed in the name and on behalf of said city of Pittsburgh, to enter into and execute a contract with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company in the following form, to wit:

CONTRACT.

This agreement, made this —— day of —— between the city of Pittsburgh, hereinafter designated "City," party of the first part, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, hereinafter designated "Railroad Company," second party, witnesseth:

Whereas, The railroad of said railroad company enters the limits of said city and extends inter alia along the surface of Liberty street in said city, from a point near the intersection of Liberty and Eleventh streets to Water street, on the surface of Short street, and extending across Liberty street into its Duquesne freight station;

And Whereas, In the future hereinafter set forth, said city desires and said railroad company is willing that the above recited portions of its railroad shall be improved by a re-location, change and elevation of the same;

Route Is Defined.

And Whereas, The proposed re-location, change and elevation will be of the general character set out in the blue print hereto attached and made part hereof, and on substantially the following route:

MAIN LINE.

Beginning at a point in the center line of the Pennsylvania railroad, south of Liberty street and in the line of the eastern wall of the Union station produced, and extending thence by a curve to the northward across private property to a point about four hundred and sixty (460) feet south of Duquesne way, crossing Liberty street, Eleventh street, Exchange alley and Penn avenue by extensions of the existing structures across those thoroughfares; extending thence by a curve to the westward by an elevated structure over the freight yard of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railway and over Duquesne way to a point in the south line of Duquesne way about sixty (60) feet west of Tenth street; thence by a line substantially parallel with Duquesne way and north of the north curb line thereof to a point marked "A" on the plan, about eighty (80) feet east of the eastern house line of Fourth street; curving thence to the southward, crossing Duquesne way by an overhead bridge to the south side thereof, and thence on private property to the north side of Penn avenue, thence crossing Penn avenue by an elevated structure to a point on the easterly house line of Water street; together with branches therefrom as follows:

The Branch Lines.

Branch No. 1, which will begin at said point "A" in the center line of the above described main line, east of the easterly side of Fourth street the harbor line of Monongahela river, and about one hundred and eighty (180) feet south of Duquesne way; thence southwestwardly parallel with Water street about eighty-five (85) feet, and thence by a curve to the eastward, crossing Water street at grade and connecting with the surface tracks in the Duquesne freight house.

Branch No. 2, which will begin at point "B," on the main line, near its intersection with the northerly house line of Duquesne way, extending thence by easterly curve to an overhead bridge to the southern side thereof; thence across private property to the easterly line of Third street; thence across Third street over an overhead bridge to the westerly side thereof to private property located in the square between Penn avenue and Duquesne way and between Third street and Ward street.

Branch No. 3, which will begin at point "C," on the main line, at its intersection with the southerly side of Penn avenue, extending thence by curving structure across the northerly side of Liberty street; thence across Liberty street by an overhead bridge to a point where short street intersects Liberty street; elevated structure near the westerly curb line thereof, to a point where short street intersects the northeasterly line of Water street.

Agreements Made.

And Whereas, In the judgment of said city the manner of said re-location, change and elevation as set forth is not adapted to secure the safety of lives and property, and promotes the interest of said city;

No this agreement witnesseth, That in consideration of the premises and of the covenants hereinafter to be entered into, it is agreed by and between the said city and said railroad company as follows, to wit:

First. Said city hereby assents and agrees that said railroad company, its successors and assigns, may relocate, change and elevate the said portions of its railroad to and on the above recited lines and in accordance with the attached blue print, and on said new location and elevation, construct, maintain, operate and use tracks as hereinafter provided; and said railroad company, its successors and assigns, in making said relocation, change and elevation, may do or cause to be done, inter alia, the following things:

To Build Many Bridges.

(a) A two-track bridge over Duquesne way, east of the west line of Tenth street, with a clearance of not less than thirty feet above the existing grade of said Duquesne way.

(b) A four-track bridge over Duquesne way between Third street and Fourth street, with a clearance of not less than twelve feet above the existing grade of said Duquesne way.

(c) A six-track bridge over an unnamed alley between Duquesne way and Penn avenue, with a clearance of not less than thirteen feet above the existing grade of said alley.

(d) A one-track bridge over Penn avenue between Third and Fourth streets, with a clearance of not less than fifteen feet above the existing grade of said Penn avenue.

(e) Three bridges, to wit, a four-track bridge, a three-track bridge, and a one-track bridge over Third street, each with a clearance of not less than twelve feet above the existing grade of said Third street.

(f) A one-track bridge over Liberty street between Third street and Third avenue, with a clearance of not less than thirteen feet above the existing grade of said Liberty street.

(g) Extensions of the existing railroad bridges over Penn avenue, over Exchange alley and Eleventh street, and over Liberty street near Eleventh street of sufficient width to accommodate two additional tracks.

2. Construct, maintain and use elevated viaducts of iron or steel, with suitable masonry supports, and with intermediate supporting columns of iron or steel within the curb lines, and in the middle of the roadways wherever these additional columns are deemed necessary by the railroad company over the following streets:

To Build Many Bridges.

(a) A two-track bridge over Duquesne way, east of the west line of Tenth street, with a clearance of not less than thirty feet above the existing grade of said Duquesne way.

(b) A four-track bridge over Duquesne way between Third street and Fourth street, with a clearance of not less than twelve feet above the existing grade of said Duquesne way.

(c) A six-track bridge over an unnamed alley between Duquesne way and Penn avenue, with a clearance of not less than thirteen feet above the existing grade of said alley.

(d) A one-track bridge over Penn avenue between Third and Fourth streets, with a clearance of not less than fifteen feet above the existing grade of said Penn avenue.

(e) Three bridges, to wit, a four-track bridge, a three-track bridge, and a one-track bridge over Third street, each with a clearance of not less than twelve feet above the existing grade of said Third street.

(f) A one-track bridge over Liberty street between Third street and Third avenue, with a clearance of not less than thirteen feet above the existing grade of said Liberty street.

(g) Extensions of the existing railroad bridges over Penn avenue, over Exchange alley and Eleventh street, and over Liberty street near Eleventh street of sufficient width to accommodate two additional tracks.

2. Construct, maintain and use elevated viaducts of iron or steel, with suitable masonry supports, and with intermediate supporting columns of iron or steel within the curb lines, and in the middle of the roadways wherever these additional supports are deemed necessary by the railroad company over the following streets:

(a) Change the grade of Duquesne way from a point about eight hundred and fifty (850) feet west of Third street to the southern portal of the Union bridge, by raising the grade of Duquesne way about twenty-one feet at its intersection with Branch No. 1.

(b) Change the grade of Water street between a point at or near Penn avenue and a point at or near the southern portal of the Union bridge by moving said portion of Water street southwestwardly, as shown on the aforesaid plan, and by elevating the same eighteen feet where it crosses the line of Branch No. 1.

Railroad Foots the Bill.

(c) Change the grade of Penn avenue so that Penn avenue on said new grade shall be approximately level between a point two hundred and fifty (250) feet west of the west line of Third street, and a point in the center line of Water street.

2. Furnish all material and perform all work incident to all changes of grade of streets hereinbefore enumerated, and assume and pay all lawful claims for damage or injury to property resulting from said changes of grade. Provided, however, that said railroad company shall not be entitled to any damages for or by reason of anything herein mentioned with respect to property owned by said railroad company and provided further, also, that the reasonable cost of the materials by said city agreed to be furnished and of the work by it agreed to be done, incident to said changes of grade, shall be charged to and paid by said railroad on the completion of the work of changing said grades.

In testimony whereof, said city of Pittsburgh has caused its corporate seal to be affixed, attested by the signatures of the proper officers of said city and the said The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has caused the seal of the said company to be hereunto affixed, attested by the signatures of its proper officers, the day and year first above written.

The contract being executed for and on behalf of said city under and pursuant to an ordinance of the said city, entitled (hereto be inserted the title, dates of enactment and approval and place of record of the ordinance) and being executed for and on behalf of the said The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, under and pursuant to a resolution duly adopted by its board of directors.

Section 2. That any ordinance or part of ordinance conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance be, and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this ordinance.

PENNSYLVANIA PLANS FOR IMPROVEMENTS

The New Connecting Link's Route Through East End and Try Street Elevation.

To pave the way for the Pennsylvania's new branch line from the overhead crossing on Fifth avenue at Point Breeze, to Guyasuta station on the West Penn railroad, two ordinances were necessary, one to provide the right of running the railroad by overhead crossings over certain streets, and to vacate certain streets and alleys, the rest of the line to the park being through private property; the other to grant a right of way through Highland park, down Negley's run to the Allegheny river, from which point the railroad will cross the Allegheny river and connect with the West Penn railroad at Guyasuta station.

In the first ordinance the new branch is described as starting from the main line at the Fifth avenue crossing, thence curving to a point on Frankstown avenue, near Linden avenue; also starting from the main line where the railroad crosses Dallas avenue, thence curving northeastwardly and crossing over Hamilton avenue and Kelly street and connecting on Frankstown avenue with the line that starts from Fifth avenue, thus forming a "Y."

Another V at River.

Thence the railroad is to proceed in a straight line across Frankstown avenue to a point 150 feet north of it; thence in a straight line in a northerly direction parallel with Beechwood avenue to a point 300 feet south of Larimer avenue, thence curving eastwardly and passing under Larimer avenue to a point 300 feet north of Larimer, thence in a straight line parallel with Beechwood avenue to a point 1,100 feet south of the Allegheny Valley railroad, thence curving westwardly and northwardly to and across the Allegheny river, where a "Y" is to be put in to connect with the Allegheny Valley railroad 2,000 feet south of Brilliant station. The ordinance provides for the vacation of a part of Formosa alley, Linden avenue, Angle alley, Kirker alley, Tennis street, Dagg alley, Lyric street, Odessa alley and Rowan avenue. The grade of Hamilton avenue is to be depressed where the railroad crosses it.

The ordinance provides for a height of 13 to 14 feet above the street of the bridges crossing Hamilton, Frankstown and Lincoln avenue, and the railroad is to provide a bridge to carry Larimer avenue where the tracks pass under Larimer avenue.

Not to Pay Damages.

The railroad is willing to pay half the cost of depressing or elevating the streets to be hereafter opened, and agrees to pay the cost of grading and depressing Hamilton avenue and to build the overhead bridges, but the city is to assume the liability for damages to property owners. President Lambie thinks the railroads ought themselves to pay the damages caused by such improvements.

To get through Highland park, as described in the foregoing ordinance, the railroad presented another ordinance, providing that the city shall give it a strip of land 66 feet wide east of the boulevard through the park down Negley's run, and for this strip the railroad agrees to give the city one tract of 70 acres of land, owned by John Leech, and 19 acres owned by Robert S. Wilkinson, except a strip 66 feet wide through the Leech land. This property is on the steep hillside east of the boulevard and the proposed railroad tracks.

City to Pay Dearly.

The ordinance providing for the elevation of the Panhandle tracks over Second avenue at Try street, thus doing away with the overhead crossing, was also introduced in common council last night and referred to the committee on corporations.

The railroad agrees to elevate the Panhandle tracks six feet above the present grade, and to afford a headway of 13 feet for the bridge overhead the city is to depress the grade seven feet below the present grade. The railroad is to build an overhead bridge for its own use and a retaining wall along both sides of the street where the grade is depressed.

The railroad is to pay the cost of its part of the work, the city is to pay for the grading and the lowering of sewer and water mains, and the Pittsburgh Railways Company is to pay the cost of lowering its tracks. Then the whole amount is to be footed up and each of the three parties is to be assessed one-third of the cost of the whole improvement, and the party who paid less than one-third is to make up the difference to the party or parties that paid the larger proportion. The city, of course, is, as usual, to pay all damages to property.

WABASH MAKES THE MOST LIBERAL OFFERS

Agrees to Abide by City Restrictions if Allowed to Enter Pittsburgh.

The ordinance giving the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western railroad its rights of way seems to be drawn partly on President Lambie's proposed general franchise ordinance, for the railroad agrees to burn no soft coal in its switching locomotives and to pay $50 for an infraction of the ordinance and $50 a day thereafter for continued infraction.

The railroad asks for a franchise over the following route: From the corner of Liberty and Ferry streets to the city line in the Thirty-fifth ward; from the north side of Second avenue west of Ferry street to low-water mark on the Allegheny river, 75 feet east of Fourth street, and from the south side of Carson street in the Thirty-third ward to a point 100 feet east of South Twenty-fifth street, connecting with the Monongahela Connecting railroad.

The right is asked to cross streets and alleys and go along West Carson street to a point on Carson street opposite the former Robinson-Rea property in the Thirtieth ward. The railroad is to run its trains at grade crossings no more than four miles an hour, is willing to conform to all rules necessary for the protection of persons and property, to make its bridges over crossings conform to the width of the street and to pay the cost of the necessary change of grade.

Four Stolen Bodies Found.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 13.—Four bodies were found tied in sacks in Georgia street and in the rear of the Central College of Physicians and Surgeons today. The bodies were identified as stolen from the Ebenezer cemetery, Anderson cemetery and the German Catholic cemetery.

Pittsburgh Hussars Drill.

The Pittsburgh Hussars, the new military organization of the city, was granted its charter in common pleas court No. 1 yesterday, and last night the first drill was held in the Schenley riding academy. About 65 members were present, and the initial drill was highly successful.

FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP BRIDGE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHAMOKIN, PA., Oct. 13.—Early this morning unknown persons drilled a hole in the masonry of the Reading railroad in the suburbs of Shamokin and placed dynamite in the structure to blow it to pieces. The explosion awakened hundreds of people in the northwest section of town. Not much damage resulted. Detectives are searching for the dynamiters.

Following the attempt to ruin the structure the company strung a number of station hands along the road between here and Tamaqua to prevent other bridges from being dynamited.

Soon after the explosion a company of Tenth regiment soldiers came down from Camp Hawkins and took charge of the territory embracing the bridge. They are on guard tonight.

Few non-union men reported for work today. On all sides were militia and deputies, but strikers occupied conspicuous positions along the paths and streets leading to the collieries. The few non-unionists, except being hissed, were not molested. They say they hate the hissing about as much as standing a pummelling.

Owing to strike leaders informing men that the operators will soon have to surrender to the United Mine Workers, scarcely more than three or four dozen men reported at any local colliery. A fresh carload of potatoes and another of flour were shipped into town today, and as the men received their week's provisions many of them cheered for Mitchell, gave three yells for the union, and said they would remain on strike until next summer if provisions continue coming in.

OTHER BUSINESS WAS BEFORE COUNCILS.

Downtown Water, City Dificit Municipal Hospital Came Up—Virgin Alley Widening Was Sustained.

In select council the ordinance for a better supply of water in the congested district was introduced by P. J. Donahoe. This was the ordinance prepared by Recorder J. O. Brown's special water committee, aided by the board of fire underwriters.

The same ordinance was introduced in common council by Max G. Leslie. The machine had intended to claim the credit for the introduction of the ordinance, but honors are now considered even, although, as Donahoe's ordinance was referred to the committee on finance, which is in the control of the Citizens party, it is probable that it will have the right of way.

Auto's Speed Limit.

An ordinance limiting the speed of automobiles to 10 miles an hour was amended, on motion of Peter Hermes, to allow automobiles to go over the boulevards at 15 miles and hour, and went over for printing.

A resolution authorizing the payment of $473 to Booth & Flinn for extra work, was referred back to the joint committee on public works, on motion of the chairman of the committee, R. H. Douglas, although the resolution had been affirmatively recommended by the joint and the rump committee.

Common council did not adjourn until shortly before midnight. There was some discussion of the ordinance returned from the finance committee authorizing the city treasurer to borrow $650,000 to meet the deficit in the city's funds. M. L. Leslie favored the ordinance, but councilmen of the Citizens' party spoke against the ordinance, saying there was enough money in the city treasury to defray expenses for five months, and the ordinance was referred back to the finance committee.

Old Issues Revived.

Resolutions to pay for an old bill of the Pittsburgh & Allegheny Telephone Company were referred back to the committee. The resolution to pay $250 each to three engineers for examining the old South Tenth street bridge, was referred back to the committee on public works, on the ground that the compensation was excessive.

The plans and specifications for the new municipal hospital, with a letter from Director A. H. Leslie, came up. Mr. Leslie referred to Controller John B. Larkin's assertion that $300,000 was appropriated by ordinance for the hospital. He submitted a copy of the ordinance, which showed, he said, that of the $600,000 appropriated, no specific amount was set apart for the hospital. After the letter had been read, there was some discussion, and the matter was postponed to the next meeting.

By resolution the city recorder was authorized by common council to sign a petition for the widening of Virgin alley, from Wood to Smithfield streets, to a width of 50 feet. Ordinances for grading and paving streets were finally passed and others were presented.

Had His Wife Arrested.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elsie Kramer of Wheeling and Charles Riddenour of Connellsville were arraigned today before Justice Williams on charges instigated by Paul Kramer, husband of the woman. The couple were arrested last night at Robinson's Crossing, where they were boarding. Today the husband and wife effected a reconciliation. The prisoners were discharged.

A NEW NATIONAL BANK BEING ORGANIZED IN PITTSBURGH.

A new national bank is being organized for Pittsburgh. It will be called the Washington National bank. M. J. Dain, the investment broker, with offices on the third floor of the Frick building, has successfully promoted the new institution. Behind him are a number of prominent persons, who intend to make the new bank one of the strongest institutions of the kind in the city. Its capital is to be $500,000, divided into 5,000 shares of $100 par value. These shares have already been over subscribed at $110 each, the extra $10 going to a surplus fund of $50,000.

Two or three sites on Fifth avenue, about three squares beyond the court house, are under consideration as a permanent home for the bank, and a selection will probably be made today or tomorrow. The board of directors has not yet been decided upon. Nor have the officers, but both will be selected shortly by the stockholders, and as soon as possible the bank will begin business.

Among the backers of the concern are Dr. A. Blumberg of Fifth avenue and Stevenson street, G. A. F. Allberg, the president of the Hunt Foundry and Machine Company, and S. Abel, the wholesale clothier. The proprietors of a prominent downtown department store are also said to be large subscribers.

The location of the bank is thought to be an exceptionally good one, being about half way between the court house and the Fifth Avenue bank, where a large retail business is transacted.

A WORD TO FARM TOILERS.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Home Friend of the Farmer and His Family in the Autumn Season.

After the labors and toils of the summer time, and harvesting of crops in the early autumn, many of our farmers, their wives, daughters and sons, find themselves in a condition of health demanding careful attention if suffering is to be avoided later on. Many experience kidney trouble in some form; with some the liver is torpid; there is biliousness, nausea and vomiting, with loss of appetite and depression of spirits. Thousands who have been exposed to cold, damp winds and rains while toiling in the harvest fields, now feel the twinges of terrible rheumatism; others run down by worry, overwork and irregular dieting are tormented with the pangs of dyspepsia.

To the thousands of rundown, sickly and half dead men and women in farm homes we recommend with all honesty and confidence the worker's friend, Paine's Celery Compound, the only medicine that can quickly and fully restore strength to the weak body and vigor to the muscles. Paine's Celery Compound tones the stomach; it removes poisonous acids from the blood which cause rheumatism; it feeds the weak and diseased nerves and banishes neuralgic tortures, it purifies the blood and gives true vitality and life. The use of Paine's Celery Compound in autumn means the establishing of a perfect physical vigor to withstand the rigors of a severe winter.

OLD MEN SANG COLLEGE SONGS

ONE GRADUATE OF 1837

By JOHN P. COWAN,
Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Pa., Oct. 13.—The historic halls of Washington and Jefferson college rang today with the class songs of half a century ago. The gray-haired alumni who have gathered here from all parts of the country to participate in the old school's centennial anniversary were boys again, and while some of their voices were cracked by age, they were no less enthusiastic, singing the old-time melodies with the same spirit that awakened the echoes of the campus in days of cherished memory.

It was the second day of the celebration and was given over to the reunion of the veteran classmen. Nearly 300 of the old students assembled in the college halls and the Washington county court house to meet their fellow collegians. With few exceptions every class graduated from the institution within the last 60 years was represented, and it was at their meetings that the college melodies were sung.

But all the classmen did not sing. While scores of the old students were enjoying the good fellowship of their former comrades, one man, the oldest of them all, stood alone. He looked in vain for the familiar face of some of his early chums. He was the Rev. Dr. Joseph T. Smith of the class of '37 of Jefferson college. He had traveled all the way from Baltimore in the hope of meeting an old acquaintance of his class. Of the 50 young men who received their degrees in Canonsburg 65 years ago Dr. Smith is the sole survivor.

Girls Were Fascinating.

"How things are changed," he said. "I did not recognize some of the old townsmen, for in the lapse of years I had carried in my memory a picture of the buoyant young faces that had said farewell when I left school and started out to battle in the world. Some of them greeted me yesterday after I had preached a sermon in one of our local churches. How changed they were! It was not until then that I realized how age cuts down the strongest and most robust. But my classmen—not one is left.

"There was Walter Lowrie, our valedictorian. He was admitted to the ministry and was sent to China as a missionary. Pirates overtook his ship on the high seas and he was cruelly murdered. Many great and good men were in that class, but they are all gone."

Tears filled the eyes that had looked through the vast crowd for the face of a classmate, and the voice that yesterday rang full and strong from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church, quavered with inexpressible sorrow.

"We had no football team in '37," said Dr. Smith when the shouts of W. & J. gridiron enthusiasts filled the town and hundreds of rooters set up a cry for vengeance on Lafayette tomorrow. "Athletic sports in those days were confined to wrestling, town ball, paddle ball and long walks far out into the country. Did we have college hops? Never. Dancing was frowned upon as the diversion of the ungodly. However, our social duties were not neglected. The young ladies were just as fascinating then as their great-granddaughters are today. We walked with the girls, took them driving and went horseback riding together.

Didn't Have Smokers.

"Yes, we used tobacco, but a college 'smoker' then had not become fashionable. We read only the best literature and The Pittsburgh Gazette was one of the few newspapers we received. I have read The Gazette always, when I could obtain it."

Dr. Smith was born in Mercer in 1818. He was a member of the faculty of the Danville Presbyterian Theological seminary in Danville, Ky., until the outbreak of the civil war, when he was called to the pastorate of the Central Presbyterian church in Baltimore, continuing actively in the pulpit until 1896.

Dr. W. H. Van Voorhis of Bellevernon, a veteran of the '40s, wore the class badge today that he used when he delivered his commencement address. "One of our boys who grew to fame was 'Jim' Blaine," said Dr. Van Voorhis. "We called him 'puggy' on account of his pug nose. How we would shout if Jim were here today! Old Washington is proud of him, and his memory is held by those who knew him here as a sacred heritage."

The Jefferson college class of 1856 is represented by the Rev. John S. Gilmer of Haverstraw, N. Y. Gen. James A. Beaver, the president of '58, will not arrive until tomorrow. The oldest living graduate, the Rev. Dr. James Laird Vallandingham of Delaware, and the brother of the famous Clement Vallandingham, will reach Washington tomorrow.

Graduate Is 99 Years Old.

None of the oldest graduates of Jefferson college, Washington college or the united college attended the celebration. Dr. James P. Henderson, a physician of Newville, O., who was graduated from Washington in the class of 1825, is 99 years of age. He was born in Buena Vista, Allegheny county, and many years ago was a member of the Ohio legislature.

Jefferson's oldest graduate is Thomas Nichol of the class of 1826. He was born in Muskingum county, O., in 1805, and is a physician in Oskaloosa, Ia. The Rev. Nathan H. Downing, a Presbyterian minister of Chicago, is the oldest graduate of the united colleges, having received his degree in 1866, the year after the consolidation of the colleges.

In the main college building tonight a reception was given the alumni and their friends by the college authorities. The exercises tomorrow will begin at 9:30 o'clock by a procession of the students, faculty and alumni to the gymnasium, where the exercises will be held. In the afternoon the principal feature will be the football game between W. and J. and Lafayette. Today five teams were engaged in hauling wood to Gallows Hill for the monster bonfire which will be lighted there tomorrow night. The Rev. Dr. John R. Paxton of New York is expected tomorrow. Several banquets have been planned, and a reception will follow in the college building.

She will startle you! In New Exposition music hall tonight will be heard Gussie Zuckerman, a 15-year-old girl musical piano wonder.

Wonderful how the masses are coming to enjoy Damrosch's magnificent music at the New Exposition. Only five days more of it.

OLD PRISON SHIP JERSEY IS FOUND.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—After lying buried for over a century, the famous English prison ship Jersey, in which several hundred Americans were martyred while the British held New York in the days of the revolution, has been discovered at the Brooklyn navy yard. The half-burned hull of the ship is under 12 or 14 feet of dirt and water. It is in perfect condition.

MANIAC TO WORK OUT INVENTIONS

Charles Cawley Will Finish in Jail Patents That May Be Worth Millions.

WORRIES ABOUT PLANS

In Prison, He Is Constantly Possessed With Idea That Burglars Are Stealing Them—Does Not Believe He Killed Anyone.

Charles Cawley, the Homestead murderer, will work out the details of his inventions in his cell at the Allegheny county jail.

Since his incarceration he has been worried over the fate of his inventions. He imagined that burglars were attempting to steal the plans, and it was while under this hallucination that he made his murderous attack on his sleeping mother and her children.

He was interviewed yesterday afternoon by Assistant District Attorney Robb and County Detective Robinson and made a pathetic plea to have the drawings of his latest inventions, which are in the desolated residence in Homestead, given to him, that he might finish them in jail.

Inasmuch as the worry over the pet ideas of his brain is telling on the boy, Mr. Robb decided that it would be best to let him have the plans, and they will probably reach the jail today.

Sister Visited Him.

Mrs. John O'Brien of West Tenth street, Braddock, paid a visit to the jail yesterday afternoon. She was deeply affected at the sight of the maniac boy. He told his sister he was glad to see her and wanted to know what had happened.

Then Charles asked about his patent papers. He wanted to know if all the plans were safe at home, and said a plot had been hatched to steal them from him. When Mrs. O'Brien came out of the jail after a 15-minute conference with her brother, she informed Warden Lewis and Assistant District Attorney Robb of the conversation.

Charles believed his sister when she told him of the terrible crime, but could not believe he had committed it.

Wanted His Drawings.

He told her he was willing to tell the officers anything he knew, if they would only come to see him. When Assistant District Attorney Robb had his conference with Mrs. O'Brien he immediately hunted up County Detective Robinson and the two visited the jail.

Warden Lewis accompanied the men to Cawley's cell and he was let out into the jail rotunda and seated at a table between the assistant district attorney and the county detective. Cawley appeared perfectly sane as he told his story.

Charles will probably receive his plans today and expects to start to work at once to perfect his invention. The officials argue that his work upon them will relieve his brain, and it is expected that during his term in jail he will complete all his plans now in the rough state.

The incomplete drawings for his patent air brake, applied to traction cars, and for his improved dumping cart for hauling steel slag will be given him as soon as possible. Both, if practical, are of immense value.

Told of His Crime.

In his conversation with Assistant District Attorney Robb and County Detective Robinson yesterday afternoon young Cawley told them all he knew about his movements on the morning of the crime. He said he recollected everything from the time he got out of bed until the murder. There his mind is a blank.

Coroner McGeary said yesterday he had set no time for the inquest and would not do so until the condition of the two children in the South Side hospital changes. If they die the inquest will be held at once after their demise, but if they get better the inquest may not be held until they are able to appear.

FAMILY IS DESTITUTE.

Relief Committee Organized to Relieve the Cawley Family.

Last evening at a meeting in the office of Burgess Miller of Homestead a relief committee was formed for the aid of the surviving members of the Cawley family. With the load of debt added by the misfortune of last week the survivors are practically destitute. Contributions will be received by Harry Hale of No. 234 Eighth avenue, Homestead.

The condition of Adelaide and Agnes Cawley, in the South Side hospital, was little changed last night. The physicians believe that each day increases the chances of the children for recovery. The baby, which is being cared for by a neighbor in Homestead, has improved somewhat.

AIRSHIP'S FALL KILLS TWO MEN

THE CAR FELL 100 YARDS

Wire Ropes Broke and the Aeronauts Came Down With a Crash, While the Balloon Shot Up Into the Clouds.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, Oct. 13.—De Bradsky, the aeronaut, and Morin, a companion, were killed by falling from a dirigible balloon today. The airship started from the aerostatic station at Vaugirard, a suburb of this city, at 7:55 a. m. on a trial trip. After preliminary maneuvering with a rope attachment De Bradsky released the balloon and proceeded southward at a heighth of 300 or 400 feet.

When the balloon arrived over Staines one of the wire ropes broke, and then another gave way, and the car, weighing 880 pounds, crashed to the ground, burying the aeronauts beneath it.

A number of aeronauts, friends of DeBradsky, and the latter's wife were present at the start. His wife, though anxious that her husband should demonstrate the success of his invention, witnessed his departure with considerable emotion, especially as the conversation of the spectators turned on the fatal ending of Servero's experiment. DeBradsky first tried the ascensional screw situated below the car, and the airship, held by ropes, rose easily and maintained its equilibrium. DeBradsky was satisfied and said he would maneuver over the drilling ground.

Suddenly a southwest wind sprang up and the airship swerved to the southwest, instead of to the northwest. Crossing the main boulevards the aerial craft executed a number of evolutions but continued northward with the wind. The aeronaut's wife and their friends waited at the shed from 8 till 10 o'clock and grew anxious at his prolonged absence.

When the balloon was perceived at an immense height this increased the anxiety, as it was known the airship was never intended to rise to such a point. It was, however, merely the inflated envelope, which drifted back across Paris after the accident had relieved it of the weight of the car.

Saw the Car Fall.

An eye-witness gave the following account of the accident:

"I was standing on the steps of my building. I saw the balloon, about 100 yards high, turn sharply, and at the same moment I heard a noise like the tearing of cloth. The wires attaching the front of the car to the balloon had broken. Other wires followed suit, the car became detached and fell to the ground. The balloon itself bounded up in the air and disappeared. I hurried to the spot and found DeBradsky dead and terribly bruised beneath the motor. Morin was lying under the remainder of the car. He lived but a few moments."

DeBradsky was a Hungarian baron, 36 years of age, rich and clever, and had been in the diplomatic service. He made his first ascension in 1901. Morin was his engineer. He leaves a widow and three children.

BIG CHARGE IGNITES COAL DUST IN MINE

Two Men Are Killed and Four Fatally Injured Near Springfield, Ill.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 13.—Two men were killed, four fatally and others seriously injured this afternoon in an explosion at Victor mine, Pawnee, 18 miles from here.

The dead are W. V. Overcash, aged 30, single, and Michael Yoria, aged 27, single.

The explosion occurred just before the day force of 190 men went off duty, and was caused by too much powder in a blast, the concussion causing coal dust, which thickly overhung the mine, to explode with great force.

All those killed and injured were about 400 feet from the place where the shot was being fired. It is reported that Overcash was worth $20,000, and had no relatives. He had been in town but a few days.

Guarded by His Men.

POTTSVILLE, PA., Oct. 13.—The remains of Col. Theodore F. Hoffman, commander of the Eighth regiment, who died Saturday night in the Moses Taylor hospital, Scranton, were brought to his residence in this city today. A detail of his regiment accompanied the body.

TWO MEN ARE STRUCK BY AN EXPRESS TRAIN

One Is Instantly Killed and the Other Seriously Injured.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROCHESTER, PA., Oct. 13.—John W. Athey and John Farrell, structural iron workers employed at the American Bridge Company's plant at Ambridge, east of here, were struck by a fast express train on the Ft. Wayne road this evening. Athey was instantly killed and Farrell seriously injured.

Both were placed on the train and brought to Rochester and Farrell was removed to the Beaver County General hospital. Farrell's home is at Cincinnati, while Athey's home was at Portsmouth, O.

Both were members of local No. 3, Structural Iron Workers' union of Pittsburgh. The officials of the union have been notified.

NEW BUILDING IS THROWN OPEN

DIRECTORS HOSTS TODAY

Will Be Open for Business Tomorrow, but All Pittsburgh Is Asked to Visit It and See the Splendid Finish and Fittings.

The Keystone bank of Pittsburgh is ready to open its sumptuous new banking rooms in the new skyscraper, Nos. 320-4 Fourth avenue, for the inspection of the public. Tomorrow morning the bank will throw open the doors of its new home for business. Today the directors of the bank will receive their friends and all who desire to inspect the magnificent new banking house, its great modern money vaults, the power plant of the building and the building itself. The building has been open for business for some time, but there was never a formal opening of the splendid structure.

The banking rooms, which will be open for inspection today, are regarded by critics as the most handsome in Pittsburgh. The massive mahogony fixtures, furniture, Sienna marble walls and mosaic floors present a most beautiful and artistic effect. It is a most harmonious interior, spacious and at the same time comfortable.

A Fine Structure.

The banking room is 50x65 feet. There are two great burglar-proof vaults, one for money and the other for valuable books and securities. Two interior safes are of manganese in one case and the patented Corliss safe in the other, both comparatively innovations in safes. The Holmes electric protection system is installed in connection with the vaults.

The Keystone building, which stands 15 stories high with its handsome exterior of buff brick and terra cotta, was designed by Architects MacClure & Spahr and cost $500,000. The work of erection was started early in the summer of 1901 and last April the office occupants began to fill the building. It has a frontage of 60 feet in Fourth avenue and is 85 feet deep. It is of distinctive architecture, one notable feature being the great front light well, which extends well back in the middle of the structure.

Directors As Hosts.

At the bank today the directors will act as a reception committee for their housewarming between 10 o'clock in the morning and 2 in the afternoon. Invitations have been sent out to about 6,000 people, but the bank's home will be open for inspection of any who care to see it.

George M. Laughlin is president of the Keystone bank; W. H. Nimick, vice president, and A. S. Reymer, cashier. The directorate is formed of the following well-known Pittsburghers, providing a tower of strength to the institution: G. M. Laughlin, Frank J. Hearne, Joshua Rhodes, James I. Buchanan, William Witherow, S. H. Vandergrift, J. C. McDowell, W. C. Magee, G. W. C. Johnston, W. B. Rhodes and W. H. Nimick.

The bank was organized under the state banking laws in 1884 and for years has had its home where the magnificent new property is located. During the erection of the building the temporary banking house has been at No. 427 Wood street. The bank's capital stock is $500,000, which was increased from $300,000 in 1891. Its surplus is $500,000.

The New York correspondents of the bank are the Seaboard National bank and the National Bank of Commerce. The last balance sheet of the Keystone bank at the close of business, May 22, 1902, gives the following: Resources, cash on hand, $521,858 10; checks and other cash items, $3,073 41; due from banks and bankers, $1,181,152 02; loans and discounts, $2,677,050 59; investment securities owned, $112,000; real estate, furniture and fixtures, $575,000 94; overdrafts, $10,402 87; miscellaneous assets, $1,000; total, $4,583,092 23. Liabilities: Capital stock paid in, $500,000; surplus fund, $350,000; undivided profits, less expenses and taxes paid, $186,887 28; deposits subject to check, $2,847,698 51, etc., making a total of $4,583,092 23.

WAILERS REACH PHILADELPHIA

Pattison and Guthrie Speak in Two Suburban Districts There.

FIND LITTLE SUPPORT

The Pittsburgher Gets Very Little Encouragement in Talking on the Railway Franchise and Ballot Reform Issues.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 13.

Pattison and Guthrie invaded Philadelphia tonight and repeated their stories of alleged political iniquity with variations. Two meetings were held, in Germantown and Manayunk, in the suburbs, but in neither place did the gathering correspond with the ordinary vote there. Small halls had been chosen because they could be more readily filled.

Pattison made an urgent appeal for votes and declared that if he had sufficient good luck to be again elected governor he would do as he had done in previous terms. He made no further reference to his official record.

He attacked the election of Senator Quay and drifted into a discussion of railway franchise legislation. He insisted that if the Republicans had another chance they would repeat that legislation. Mr. Pattison had the Democratic view on other issues, which were unchanged from his declarations on the stump up the state.

Guthrie repeated his violent arraignment of political wrongs and told the voters how easily the shackles of ring government were thrown off by the citizens of Pittsburgh. That theme apparently was time worn, and there was a marked lack of enthusiasm when compelled the candidate for lieutenant governor to abandon it and take up ballot fraud and ballot reform as proposed by him. He declared that he was shocked by the reports of fraudulent voting in Philadelphia.

A man in the audience shouted, "Not here," and Mr. Guthrie switched to the railway franchise again.

Meetings will be held for a few nights, and then the Democratic spellbinders will take to the country districts again.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

Pay Car Abolished.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The pay car on the Erie railroad is to be discontinued, according to an order just issued. Employes hereafter will be paid with drafts, payable at all banks and negotiable in all business transactions without discount. The drafts will be sent to the station agents for delivery upon application. The new system will take effect in November.

Barrett Still Missing.

LAREDO, TEX., Oct. 13.—Vice Consul J. F. Kimball, at Nuevo Laredo, says a message has been received from the United States consul general at Monterey stating that no news has yet been heard of United States Consul Garrett, who went into the Sierra Madre range on a hunting expedition September 9. Garrett is from West Virginia.

Crown Prince's Sightseeing.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—Chowfa Maha Vajiravudh, crown prince of Siam, spent the whole forenoon today in visiting the capitol and congressional library. At 1 o'clock he left for Annapolis to inspect the United States naval academy and returned at 6 o'clock. He attended theater after dinner.

SHORTAGE CHARGED AGAINST EX-MAYORS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—Mayor Vance C. McCormick created a sensation in municipal circles today by sending to councils a message asking for an investigation of alleged discrepancies in the accounts of his predecessors, ex-Mayors John D. Patterson and John A. Fritchey. The mayor's message is accompanied by a letter from Fritchey in which he intimates that his subordinates are responsible if there are any shortages. The communications were referred to the joint finance committee by which it is expected the proposed investigation will be made.

Patterson is a Republican and retired from office in April, 1890. Fritchey is a Democrat, and was one of McCormick's most active supporters in his campaign for election. His term expired last April.

The mayor's message states that during Fritchey's term, fees, costs and licenses appear to have been collected and not accounted for which amount to $1,282 41. During the same period fees for service of criminal process were collected on account of cases returned from the office of mayor, paid by the county, to the amount of $1,159 62, a total of $2,442 03.

During Patterson's term fines and fees appear to have been collected and not accounted for to the amount of $718 17.

Mayor McCormick states that the items forming these amounts have been obtained from the records of the Dauphin county court, and of the mayor's office, and from other sources which are subject to the call of councils whenever it may be desired.

As soon as these discrepancies were ascertained Mayor McCormick informed Messrs. Patterson and Fritchey and asked for their explanation. The only reply he received is Fritchey's letter, in which the former mayor asks for a full and impartial examination.

THE CHURCH COUNCIL COMMITTEE NAMED

Men Who Will Consider Leasing of First German Evangelical Property.

At a meeting of the council of the First German United Evangelical Protestant church in the pastor's office at the church last night, William Freese, president of the congregation, announced the committee to meet with the trustees and consider propositions for the lease of the property. The following were named: Julius Eicher, Otto E. Oetting, Henry Berg and Frederick Manns. The trustees are William Freese, president; John Luckhardt and Henry Gaff.

The first meeting of the trustees and the committee will be held in the church office next Monday night. When the bids have been considered the trustees and committee will act upon the most favorable proposition made. Then a congregational meeting will be called.

BOERS CHEERED IN PARIS.

Gen. Botha Says Burghers Will Not Be Dragged In the Mud by England.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—The Boer generals, Botha, DeWet and Delarey, arrived today. The pro-Boer committee received them at the station. The route to the hotel was thronged with spectators, who heartily cheered.

Gen. Botha said: "We had to sign a peace which was a great shock to you and us. I hope self-government will soon be given to the Boer people, for they loyally laid down their arms and took the oath of allegiance. But it must not be inferred from this allegiance that they will allow themselves to be dragged in the mud."

The society for the aid of the Boer children handed Gen. DeWet $15,000.

Just think! The picture entitled "The Fair Masquerader," has been on display in our windows for $1.50, and the Gazette will give it FREE with next Sunday's issue.

HAMILTON'S PIANOS

AS CHRISTMAS GIFTS

It is not too early to begin looking at pianos with a view to selecting one for a Christmas gift. The earlier the better for us concerned. Not only do you have more time now than will be possible later, but you have the advantage of lower prices.

This is the advice given at Hamilton's old reliable music house, which for over a quarter of a century has catered successfully to the wants of the music loving people of this vicinity.

There is no need to dwell upon the importance of buying one's piano at a store whose reputation is based upon years of conscientious dealing, but it is pertinent here to point out the fact that there are good, bad and indifferent pianos on the market, and that the poor ones invariably cost most in the end. This does not imply that it is necessary to pay a high price in order to procure a good instrument, but it does imply that a person has to be careful as to where the purchase is made. You can form your own opinion as to the quality of the pianos at Hamilton's by considering the names of the leading pianos in this remarkable stock. First of all, there is the A. B. Chase, undoubtedly the finest piano in the world today. It is not sold on a reputation made 100 years ago, but is the product of recent years, and therefore embodies the best features of the most recent discoveries. The A. B. Chase is an art piano for artists. It is the refinement of tonal beauty.

The J. & C. Fischer is noted everywhere for its marvelously brilliant vibrant quality. Over 118,000 Fischers are now in use. The Schumann piano is noted for the sweetly sympathetic quality of its tone, and it is also famed because of its being so much superior to many instruments costing from $100 to $200 more. The Schumann is the best moderate price piano sold anywhere. The Hamilton, the Smith & Barnes and numerous other reliable makes cause the stock at Hamilton's to appeal to all classes of music lovers.

You can get a good piano here for $200 and up. And if you have an old instrument it will be accepted as part payment on a new one. Write if you cannot call.

The special feature of this Tuesday is the general opening and elaborate showing of Radiant Autumn Millinery.

Paris, London and Vienna creations in the company of Pittsburg and New York Hats—the whole making a climax in millinery high art.

Pittsburg never before saw such an exhibition. Beauty that is at once striking without being eccentric, is the keynote to this exhibit.

To go into details would but tax your patience. Besides, reading of beauty is like reading of an exquisite composition in music—you know of it but you do not know it. The one the eye must see to compreheud—the other the ear must hear to comprehend.

Come and welcome. If not today, tomorrow; if not tomorrow, then Thursday. But come on some one of these days. Such sights are not of every-day occurrence.

Black Silk Waists

are here in unusually rich variety—new and distinctive styles. Beginning at a very modest price they range upwards to exquisite productions, many of which are inspired by foreign models.

There is a profusion of strappings and pendant tabs here and there, aided by various effects in stitching, hemstitching, faggoting and piping of more or less elaboration. $60 purchases the highest priced waist. The following are on the way up:

At $7.50, a special new waist of either black peau de soie or taffeta. The front and back has yoke formed of faggoting and small pin tucks, and the waist is finished with a trimming of buttons down side. It is a comely waist in every particular.

Taking the line beginning at $5 and ending at $60, there is no question of our not being able to meet your taste in a black silk waist.

Silks and Velvets.

Think of the silk you prefer and come here and find the realization of your preference—for less than you had expected to pay.

Some of the underprices:

Moire Poplins, white grounds with small dots in colors of turquoise, pink, blue and black.

Persian Silks and Roman Stripe Silks on Louisine grounds—$1.50 quality at $1 a yard.

And here is a lot of Striped Silks that you may buy for 65c a yard, although they are worth and sell many places for $1 and $1.25 a yard: Pompadour, Louisine, Barre and open-work.

White Taffeta in striped and fancy weaves, and white and black striped silks—$1 and $1.25 qualities—at 75c a yard.

A very excellent Black Taffeta—full yard wide—soft of finish, and fully guaranteed—a $1 grade for 85c a yard.

Black Moire Velours, one of the favorites, as well as the most fashionable, fabrics for skirts and coats. Very luminous, with a rich, wavy effect. 27 inches wide—$1 quality—here at 65c a yard.

Fancy Velutinas and Velvets in novelty stripes and figures—$1 and $1.25 qualities—at 85c a yard.

The New La Fleur Corset

has met with signal favor—its fame has gone abroad as the most perfect corset ever designed.

It is absolutely essential in these days that the accompaniment of the perfect fitting gown must be the perfect fitting corset.

It would be idleness to undertake to find a more sensible or more perfect corset. There is none made.

Black Chantilly Lace Galloons 5c a Yard.

Seems ridiculous, but it's true. Beautiful new patterns.

Such goods as you have often paid 15c, 20c and 25c a yard for.

Canada Homespun

is the name the manufacturer styles a new and beautiful flecked suiting.

It is all wool, and the prettiest color combinations we ever saw.

The width—55 inches, or 54 without the selvage—and the price, make it absolutely unmatchable.

For something real fine we commend this trio:

French Knots, $1.25, $1.50, $2.00 a yard.

English Curls, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00 a yard.

American Snow Flakes, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 a yard.

And for any of the various styles of dresses now in vogue the following list of materials will appeal strongly to women of taste:

Plain Kersey Cloth and Mixed Melton Cloths—equally fine for the tailored suit and the separate skirt, $1.25, $1.50, $2, $2.50 a yard. 52 to 56 inch widths.

A special showing of over one hundred colors in tailor Broadcloths, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $2 up to $4 a yard.

Two hundred and fifty newest colors in French Crepes and Veilings, 85c, $1, $1.25, $1.50, $2 a yard.

If you have been thinking of a handsome black novelty, it is here—say a cloth from $1 to $6 a yard, or Zibeline or Camel's Hair from $1 to $5 a yard.

Ready for a first inspection this morning, 10,000 yards of Black Dress Goods, ranging from 75c a yard up to $1.50.

Girls' Coats for School and Dress Occasions.

The greatest variety, comprising such good cloths as zibeline, cheviot, kersey and rough effects.

Three-quarter coats are the rage, still some prefer the half length. Both kinds, either plain tailored or braid trimmed; all the new effects in sleeves, bishop and coat-shaped. Prices range from $5 to $45.

In Corduroy Coats—Russian and Box styles, very handsomely trimmed—we have some elegant examples at $14, $16 and up to $50.

Also Silk Lined Corduroy Coats, with collars and cuffs of squirrel and coney, at $25 and up to $45.

Football—Golf—Ping Pong.

The three leading games of the season—especially Table Tennis for indoors.

Footballs, 75c each up to $4.
Football Trousers, 50c to $1 a pair.
Football Jackets, 25c to $1 each.
Shin Guards, 50c to 75c a pair.
Nose Masks, $1.50 each.
Golf Clubs, 75c to $3 each.
Golf Balls, $1.75 to $6 a dozen.
We are sole agents for the Cann & Taylor Golf Clubs.
Table Tennis Sets, 50c to $20.
The Tables, our own make, $12.50.

News of China.

From the medium to the very finest—and more variety than you will find anywhere in Pittsburg.

Jardinieres from France, beautiful new green effects, not to be found among domestic makes, and the price so moderate—$2, $2.50, $3, $4, $5, $6.

New today, Plates in French faience ware, very quaint reproductions in the way of decorations. Plates that usually sell for $1 each, here for 50c. Finer ones, $1 to $5 each.

Plates by the dozen or half dozen—all sizes—finest French and English China—such as Doulton, Minton, Crescent, Coalport, Haviland, Guerin, Pouyat, Dilenier, Redon, Martin and Royal Copenhagen, from $3 a dozen up to $150.

165 styles of Bouillons in the same makes of China as the foregoing, at about the same range of prices.

Tea Cups and Saucers to match all plates.

More New Cotton Waists.

Cotton is king this season in the pretty materials for waists—cotton waistings, and the waists themselves, are the rage.

We try to keep up the supply and have met with no difficulty so far. But it's coming.

These for consideration:

In woolen waists we have a new one made of corded etamine, with pleat over shoulder and pinch tucks to form yoke; box pleat down front finished with piping of black satin; cuffs and collar to match. The waist is trimmed with small white silk buttons. Colors, black, green, red, white and navy. Price $6.50.

Oriental Wrist Bags.

A novelty—a charming novelty. They are made from an Imperial Chinese Mandarin Coat, such as are worn by the nobility in the Orient. The silk and gold embroidery is all done by hand, requiring years of work to complete a garment.

There are very few of these bags in the United States. We were fortunate to get hold of four pieces, and they are on sale at the Leather Goods Department.

Imported Umbrellas.

Best silk, solid sticks, new and original designs in handles—tortoise shell, gunmetal, ivory or silver.

These are the finest of Umbrellas—nothing finer or better made. $8 to $20.

Of course, for the run-about Umbrella you will see us, for we have all the good and least expensive kinds.

SAPOLIO

FLINN WRITES TO J. F. GRIMES

Develops Wonderful Interest in the Initiative and Referendum.

PREPARES AMENDMENTS

The Ex-Senator Makes Some Observations About the Legislature Now That He Is Through Getting Legislation.

Ex-Senator William Flinn has been heard from again. From the "Watch Tower" he has written a letter to the management of his "Muddy Water" party in which he deals with the initiative and referendum and the "criminally rich." There are things in his epistle which may be taken as an indication that the next time Mr. Flinn dips his pen in ink it will be for the purpose of writing a joke book.

Flinn wrote his letter to James F. Grimes, and says it is in answer to a request from the "Muddy Watertes" to draft amendments to the constitution providing for the initiative and referendum. Here are the amendments:

Amend article XV, section 1, of the Constitution of the state of Pennsylvania, which reads: "Cities may be chartered whenever a majority of the electors of any town or borough having a population of at least 10,000 shall vote at any general election in favor of the same," by adding:

"The legislative power of the city shall be vested in councils, consisting of a select and common council, but the people reserve to themselves power to propose laws and to enact or reject the same at the polls independent of the councils, and also reserve the power, at their own option, to approve or reject at the polls any act of the councils."

Referendum Provided For.

"The first power reserved by the people is the initiative, and not more than 10 per cent of the legal voters shall be required to propose any measure by such petition. Every such petition shall include the full text of the measure so proposed. Initiative petitions shall be filed with the controller of the city not more than 60 days after the enactment of any ordinance by city councils.

"The second power is the referendum, and it may be ordered, except as to laws necessary for the preservation of peace, health or safety, either by petition signed by 5 per cent of the legal voters of the city, or by councils, as other ordinances are enacted.

"Referendum petitions shall be filed with the controller of the city not more than 60 days after the final passage and approval of any ordinance.

"The veto power of the mayor or recorder shall not extend to measures referred to the people.

"All elections or measures referred to the people of the city shall be held at the next municipal election, except when councils shall order a special election.

"Any measure referred to the people shall take effect and become a law when it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon, and not otherwise.

"The whole number of votes cast for mayor or recorder at the regular election last preceding the filing of any petitions for the initiative or for the referendum shall be the basis upon which the number of legal votes necessary to sign such petition shall be counted.

"Petitions and orders for the initiative and referendum shall be filed with the controller of any city, and in submitting the same to the people, be, and all other officers, shall be guided by the general laws and ordinances."

Applied to State Laws.

Amend Article XI, Section 1, of the constitution of the state of Pennsylvania, which reads: "The legislative power of this commonwealth shall be vested in a general assembly, which shall consist of a senate and a house of representatives," by adding:

"But the people reserve to themselves power to propose laws and to enact or reject the same at the polls independent of the general assembly; and also reserve the power, at their own option, to approve or reject at the polls any act of the general assembly.

"The first power reserved by the people is the initiative, and not more than 10 per cent of the legal voters shall be required to propose any measure by such petition. Every such petition shall include the full text of the measure so proposed. The initiative petitions shall be filed with the secretary of the state not less than four months before the election at which they are to be voted upon.

"The second power reserved by the people is the referendum, and it may be ordered, except as to laws necessary for the preservation of public peace, health or safety, by petition signed by 5 per cent of the legal voters, or by the general assembly as other bills are enacted. The referendum petitions shall be filed with the secretary of state not more than 90 days after the final approval of any law by the governor. The veto power of the governor shall not extend to measures referred to the people. All elections on measures referred to the people of the state shall be held at the general election following the filing of such petitions, except when the legislature shall order a special election. Any measure referred to the people shall take effect and become a law when it is approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon, and not otherwise.

"The style of all bills shall be: 'Be it enacted by the people of the state of Pennsylvania, etc.'

"The whole number of votes cast for governor of the commonwealth at the regular election last preceding the filing of any petition for the initiative or for the referendum shall be the basis upon which the number of legal voters necessary to sign such petition shall be counted.

"Petitions for the initiative and for the referendum shall be filed with the secretary of the state, and in submitting the same to the people, be, and all other officers, shall be guided by the general laws, and the acts submitting this amendment."

Funny Mr. Flinn.

Since the senator is through getting legislation for himself he is free to comment and these observations will probably cause much amusement:

"My observation as a member of the senate of Pennsylvania during the past 12 years has convinced me of the absolute necessity of the initiative and referendum in this state to enable the people to protect themselves against the greed of the criminal rich, who corrupt the legislature in order to procure legislation profitable to themselves.

"If we remove the final power to enact laws from the legislature and councilmanic bodies, agents of the criminal rich will be unable to ply their profession with profit, and the honest man will not continually be tempted to be dishonest.

"There is no doubt in my mind that if the initiative and referendum were adopted in Pennsylvania the people would be largely relieved from the ban of powerful corporations and the influences of the commercial politician, who, with no other occupation than his corrupt practice, often lives in the style of a monarch and waxes rich and powerful."

Road Contracts Delayed.

The delay in letting contracts for about $500,000 worth of county roads is likely to become an issue in the campaign. The bids were to have been opened by the county controller on October 1. The contractors say that nothing has been done and at the court house the excuse is given that Col. W. E. Thompson, the controller, was called to the strike region before he had an opportunity to open the bids. This explanation is not satisfactory, as Thompson did not leave the city for several days after the bids were received.

League Ready for Business.

The Voters Civic league has issued a bulletin explaining the progress of the organization. It favors a non-partisan government for municipalities; publicity in public affairs, and declares that national issues and national parties have no place in municipal politics in which honesty and fitness for office are the only grounds upon which candidacy for office should be based. It believes that a municipal corporation is a business corporation and should be run on business principles.

The especial business of the league is to see that voters are fully informed of the record of candidates for public office. Experts in the employ of the organization will investigate and make public the political and business record of every candidate for public office within the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny county. The method in which officers are being conducted. Special questions of vital importance and interest demanding public consideration.

The league expects to accomplish its purpose largely by means of bulletins. The election bulletin will give to the voters the full record of the candidates as well as their views on municipal questions, which information is felt to be absolutely necessary for an intelligent vote, and the lack of which is felt to be one of the important causes of the apathy displayed by a large proportion of the voters towards the elections. These bulletins will be issued shortly before primary and general elections, and the league, by reason of having no candidates of its own, feels that it can present this information without bias or partiality. The offices of the league are at No. 321 Fourth avenue, and are open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The machine last night held meetings in Elizabeth, Rose street school house, Thirteenth ward, Pleasant Valley, Willock and Eighth ward, Allegheny.

Big Wilkinsburg Meeting.

Citizens spell-binders last night spoke to the largest body of citizens that ever assembled in one hall in Wilkinsburg. The meeting was held in Penn hall, at Penn avenue and Wood street. The speakers were Thomas M. Brown, E. Y. Breck, John L. Wehn, A. B. Stevenson, Daniel Ashworth, James A. Balph and S. G. Porter.

At Heidelberg the Citizens held an open-air demonstration, which was largely attended. The speakers were James W. Brown, William J. Brennen, Joseph H. Vitchestain, R. H. Heath and H. H. Negley.

McKeesport representatives of the party turned out in large numbers to meet some of the candidates at the headquarters in that city. Among the speakers were R. H. Allen and J. M. F. Foster.

The open-air demonstration in Webster avenue, near Fulton street, was also a success. A parade preceded the meeting. H. K. Porter, T. S. Levin and others made addresses.

There was a well-attended Citizens mass meeting in Allegheny last night at the Avery school in the Fourth ward. Addresses by John F. Cox, J. M. Goehring, Meredith Marshall and L. C. Beatty.

Tonight there will be a meeting in Harugari hall, Seventh ward. The speakers will be George Shiras III., J. M. Goehring, S. G. Porter and Meredith Marshall.

Many Meetings Tonight.

Numerous Citizens meetings are scheduled for tonight. At the Rose street school house, in the Thirteenth ward, the speakers will be H. K. Porter, Jere Doherty, L. S. Levin, W. M. Randolph and T. J. Gatewood. There will also be meetings of ward workers in the Twenty-sixth ward, at Sunnyside school, addressed by H. H. Negley, George H. Stengel, J. Denny O'Neil, John B. Kelly, James B. Russell and W. S. Woods; at Oakmont, where the speakers will be R. G. Mattern, Leander Trautman, Thomas M. Brown, A. G. Colvin and R. T. McElroy; at Willock, where Joseph H. Vitchestain, J. T. Euwer, John Campbell, U. M. Beck, William Best and John Costello will speak.

Tomorrow night Citizens party mass meetings will be held in the Osborne school, at Haysville station, on the Ft. Wayne road; at Castle Shannon, at the Limehill school in Wilkinsburg township, and at the Homestead opera house.

The Democratic mass meetings will be held tonight, one in the Sixth ward school hall, Allegheny, and the other in the Springfield school hall, Twelfth ward, Pittsburgh. At the Allegheny meeting the speakers will be Joseph Howley, John C. Bane, M. L. Thompson, H. L. Hegner and W. J. Brennen. The Pittsburgh meeting will be addressed by T. B. Alcorn, Jere Doherty, John E. O'Shea, John O'C. Campbell and A. G. Smith. Democratic meetings have also been scheduled for Thursday evening in the Franklin school, Eighth ward, and Lichts hall, No. 808 Fifth avenue.

NEW OIL REFINERY.

Neville Island Plant of West Pittsburgh Refining Company Is Almost Completed.

The new oil refinery, one of the many new industrial plants being erected on Neville island, will be ready for operation about the beginning of next month. The plant is being built by the West Pittsburgh Refining Company, which has secured 13 acres on the island near the plant of the American Steel and Wire Company, the site costing $33,000.

The refining company was organized by Jacob W. Mettler, who will have charge of its affairs. Mr. Mettler has been an extensive producer. The company will operate a complete tank car system of its own and will ship illuminating and lubricating oils to all parts of the United States, Canada and England. The wax plant of the company is the only one of its kind in the world. Others interested in the new company are J. A. Ferguson, Thomas R. Pittock, S. M. McConnell, R. T. Pittock and J. J. Elwell.

SURPRISE FOR TONIGHT.

Child Pianist Will Aid Damrosch at Exposition.

A surprise is in store for the visitors to the exposition tonight in the person of Gussie Zuckerman, the child pianist. She is the prize pupil of Alexander Lambert and has remarkable ability far beyond her years. She will essay Liszt's fantasie. The program for this afternoon follows:

DENOUNCED AS LIES.

Wire Rope Manufacturer Pitches Into the Democratic Campaign Book.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—F. W. Roebling, head of the John A. Roebling Sons Company, today denounced statements in the Democratic congressional campaign book as deliberate lies.

The particular passage in the book that aroused Mr. Roebling's ire was an article on the "wire rope trust." The article asserts that half a dozen large manufacturers are operating under a "gentleman's agreement" to keep prices up; that they sell their product in England and to other export trade cheaper than it can be bought in this country, and that they are contributing largely to the Republican campaign fund.

MANY AT WHITE HOUSE.

Roosevelt Sees Supreme Court Justices and Boer Leaders.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—President Roosevelt was "at home" today to official callers, and received more visitors than on any other day since his return to Washington. The members of the supreme court of the United States, which convened today for the October session, called about noon.

Herr F. W. Reitz, former secretary of state of the Transvaal republic, and Capt. Du Toit of the Boer artillery, were received. These gentlemen refused to become citizens of the British government an dare in America looking for homes.

FOOLED HIM.

But in the Pleasant Ways of Peace.

Good thing some men are married. Their wives keep a sensible watch over them, and have a way to help overcome their troubles.

Mr. E. Lewis of Shaniko, Ore., was located for several years at various points in South America and fell into the native custom of frequently drinking coffee. He says: "I took to using it the same as these nervous, excitable people in South and Central America. They make very black coffee, and it becomes more or less an intoxicating beverage. At the end of about four months I began having severe sick headaches and nervousness, but supposed it was from the tropical sun. At last my wife became alarmed at my headaches and stomach truble. She tried to induce me to quit drinking coffee, laying my trouble to that, but I continued to use it.

"She read of Postum Food Coffee, and ordered some from the states, but kept it a secret from me. The very first time she made it, when I came in for my coffee and roll, I noticed that peculiar, pleasant flavor of Postum and asked her what it was. She said it was a new brand of coffee, and asked me how I liked it. I tried two cups of it with rich 'leche-de-cheua,' which is used by everyone as milk in Panama, and thought it excellent. After a couple of days my headaches stopped, and in a short while my nervousness disappeared as if by magic. I have been using nothing but Postum for the past year, and have been completely cured, and my wife has also been cured of constipation by changing to Postum, and we shall never go back to coffee again."

TWO POLISH MINERS SHOT BY CONSTABLE

Both May Die of Wounds Received While Resisting Arrest.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WEST NEWTON, PA., Oct. 13.—At Port Royal yesterday, Sheppard Moore, township constable, attempted to arrest two Polish miners, when they attacked him with stones and other weapons, severly injuring him.

Moore shot both of his assailants, one receiving three bullets and the other a serious and perhaps fatal wound. They were taken to the Connellsville hospital and will probably die.

The constable held a warrant for the arrest of both men on charges of assault.

FOURTEEN PAGES.

A Hamburg dispatch says that the German government has ordered the cruisers Vineta, Panther and Gazelle to go to Venezuela, where a German subject, manager of the Venezuela Plantation Company, is reported to have been murdered. The Panther is the German gunboat that sunk the insurgent Haitian war vessel, the Crete-a-Pierrot, which had stopped and overhauled a German vessel carrying munitions of war to the legitimate Haitian government. When the kaiser's gunboats reach Venezuela it may be surmised that they will not be slack in demanding satisfaction for injuries done German subjects there. The situation in Venezuela is a good deal like what it is in Haiti and Colombia. Revolutionists hold a good part of the country, and the interests of German colonists at Angostura may be seriously menaced. The regular government may disclaim responsibility, and what then will the kaiser do? An obvious course is to sail up the Orinoco and land marines, as we have done in Panama. How will this affect the Monroe doctrine?

The chronic disturbance in Central American countries confronts us with a serious dilemma. Government exists for the protection of society and it is the plain duty of every civilized government to protect its people at home and abroad. If injuries abroad occur within the jurisdiction of a responsible government that government can be held to account. If no such government is to be found, then such action as may be found expedient may be taken by the aggrieved power to obtain redress by its own force and authority. If we gainsay the right of European powers to do this in Central America, we invite the retort, "then you must assume the responsibility for maintaining order there and afford us the satisfaction which we have a right to demand."

We have heretofore kept off the horns of this dilemma by holding that the Monroe doctrine prohibits only occupation and settlement by any European power, and is not infringed upon by temporary occupancy of territory to enforce the payment of an indemnity or to inflict some penalty for wrongs committed. Great Britain has before now seized a port to compel settlement of claims, and there was no protest on the part of our government, but when Great Britain proposed to annex a part of Venezuela our government made a protest that compelled her to desist and submit her claims to arbitration. But occasions might easily arise when temporary occupation might lead to permanent control, and the movement of Central American politics is fecund of just such occasions. When disorder is chronic the conditions that caused interference tend to make it permanent. England occupied Egypt temporarily in 1882 and is still there. Nominally Egypt is a tributary state of the Turkish empire; in actual fact it is a British province. It is quite conceivable that similar German control of Central and South American provinces occupied by German colonists might arise in the same way. The nominal sovereignty of the American country claiming the provinces might be respected as a convenient fiction, but the real sovereignty would be with the actual control, just as it is on the isthmus of Panama today, where neither the Colombian government nor the rival revolutionary government is allowed by United States Admiral Casey to use the railroad to transport troops.

A circumstance of immense importance bearing upon the future of the Monroe doctrine is the rapidity with which the German empire is completing the naval program adopted in 1898. While in this country naval construction drags so slowly that new cruisers and battleships are from 10 to 20 months behind the time set for their completion, the German navy by 1908 will reach the full strength contemplated by the legislation of 1898, although the year 1916 was originally thought to be the probable period of completion. The work of construction has, however, been pressed so strenuously that six years hence the German empire will have at its command 38 battleships, 11 armored cruisers and 38 protected cruisers, a force overwhelmingly superior to any the United States could concentrate in opposition. The lack of a fleet did not hamper Germany in her previous continental wars, and its only real value is for safeguarding the wonderful expansion of her commercial interests. When she has the power to do so she will be just as prompt to knock in the head anywhere in Central or South America revolutionary interference with German interests as she did recently in Haiti, when the guns of the Panther sunk the Crete-a-Pierrot, and her moral right to do so can hardly be disputed.

Secretary Root made a sensation at a New York banquet some years ago by the declaration that "the time is coming when if we are determined to uphold the Monroe doctrine we shall have to fight for it." The section of the press that deprecates the employment of force for any purpose treated this remark as an alarmist utterance designed to induce big naval appropriations, and one organ of sentimental politics argued that we ought not to have a strong navy, for if we did there would be a disposition to use it, and that this would get us into trouble. It is perfectly plain that if we do not police the western seas and keep the revolutionary republics in order other powers will undertake the job. The Monroe doctrine has no standing in international law; it is a principle of our national self-defense, good only so far as we can make it good. European jurists regard the claim of American control over the western hemisphere as no better in law than the antecedent Spanish claim of the same scope, and just as the Spanish main was invaded just as Spain was unable to defend it, so too will the analogous claim set up by the Monroe doctrine.

THE RAILROAD ORDINANCES.

The railroad ordinances submitted to councils contain proposals for changes so extensive that they will permanently determine the character of downtown Pittsburgh and establish conditions governing the future growth of the city. Action should be taken upon them with careful deliberation, so that the full extent of the transaction shall be appreciated and all its consequences weighed.

To assist the judgment of our readers we lay also before them some information in regard to similar transactions between railroads and municipal corporations. As we have said before, the time has long since passed by when railroad companies had any reasonable foundation for claims to contributions of public aid. Their business is of incidental public benefit; so, too, is every trade and industry carried on in a city, but this of itself constitutes no valid claim for aid at the expense of the taxpayers. The railroads should be dealt with in an accommodating spirit. They should have what they want in the way of franchises so far as it is possible to comply, but they should give a fair compensation for what they take.

One defect which appears in the ordinances on their face is that they contain no time limit. Satisfactory conditions must be imposed as to the time when the new connections shall be completed and the tracks removed from Liberty street. The latter is one of the great benefits that will be conferred by the improvements, and will by itself constitute a measure of compensation to the city for the franchises that are to be conveyed, so that the ordinances should be explicit as to the time within which the removal of the tracks must be accomplished. For the rest, study of the ordinances will be necessary to decide what additional compensation shall be demanded.

OUR ROYAL VISITOR FROM SIAM.

Any idea that the crown prince of Siam, now in Washington, is a barbaric potentate with outlandish ways, would be far away from the truth. He was sent to England when he was 13 years old and was educated in that country, first under a private master, later at Sandhurst college, the West Point of England, and later at Oxford university. He has a decided taste for history and has written a work entitled, "The War of the Polish Succession," dealing with the European complications arising from the election to the Polish crown when the throne became vacant in 1733. He is a young man of dignified manners and easy address, with a marked aptitude for speaking and tactful expression of his ideas. He attained his majority January 1, 1901, and since then has been visiting the principal cities of England and Europe, making the tour as part of his preparation for public life. He visits the United States on his way to Siam, and he will stop at a number of the leading cities between Washington and San Francisco. There is nothing curious or strange about him any more than there would be about any English college man visiting this country.

Siam is a country which has displayed an ability to appreciate and borrow from western civilization, inferior to that of Japan, but far superior to other countries which were previously within the circle of Chinese culture. The government has followed Japan's example as far as possible and a Japanese lawyer has remodeled the native code of laws. European experts have also been employed, principally Belgian lawyers, in improving the administration of justice. National defense is, however, in a crude condition, and France has been pressing hard upon Siam from the east, appropriating large tracts of country whose tribes recognized Siamese suzerainty. An agreement between Great Britain and France now guarantees to Siam the integrity of its remaining territory, and the prospect is that the country will eventually establish its position among civilized nations.

The reigning monarch pursues a liberal policy in regard to religious affairs. When he ascended the throne in 1868 his first proclamation abolished slavery and his second enjoined religious faith and religious toleration. He said: "It is our will that our subjects of whatever race, nation or creed, live freely and happily in our kingdom, no man despising or molesting another on account of religious difference of opinions, customs or manners." Both Catholic and Protestant missions have received grants of land from the government, and the royal household and the nobility give active favor and support to educational enterprises of the various churches. At the same time an equal welcome is extended to the followers of Mohammed, Brahma and Confucius. Within the last six months the king contributed a fund for repairing a large Mohammedan temple that was falling into decay.

According to the latest advices there are 68 Roman Catholic churches in Siam, supporting 73 schools, with 4,777 pupils. There are 29 Protestant churches, with 15 schools and 733 pupils. Pupils from Christian schools hold prominent places in every department of the public service, and the indications are that the government of the country will be Christianized. The prevailing religion is, however, Buddhism, and popular education in general is in the hands of the Buddhist priests, of whom there are over 58,000 in the country.

BENEFITS IN WEALTH.

That there are beneficent influences attaching to centralized wealth is again evidenced in the circumstance that through J. Ogden Armour of Chicago, though he worked only for the good of one of his immediate household, four or five residents of that city are to have the free service of a specialist of highest repute and the medical and surgical guild of Chicago is to receive invaluable instruction, from which is expected to flow healing influences for the people. At a cost to himself of $20,000, Mr. Armour brought the specialist all the way from Vienna to operate on his little daughter for a congenital ailment, and the rest follows.

Mr. Armour's wealth was accumulated without special reference to the general good, nor was his importation of a specialist with a view to the public benefit, but, nevertheless, it all works to that end. Men of wealth are necessarily involuntary public benefactors, and often voluntary benefactors. What Mr. Armour was able to do with his wealth others were unable to do for lack of it, but they benefit, nevertheless, from his use of his wealth. An equal distribution of it would spread it out so thin that it would be of little avail. It is concentration that gives it force and power. Spread out thin, wealth is unable to afford special rewards that are incitements to achievements that have distinguished era after era, to the improvement and amelioration of the human race. It was the special reward that tempted the Vienna doctor to Chicago.

Of course, all good does not flow from wealth, and it is to the honor of the Vienna man that he exemplifies this truth, for the service that Armour was able to buy from him he gives freely to others. But failing the ability of some to provide the large rewards and thus encourage and sustain, there would be less likelihood that the needy would benefit. In fact there might be a greater number of the needy.

SETTLEMENT IN SIGHT.

With Mr. Morgan in Washington, in conference with President Roosevelt, after the various preliminary sessions in New York and Philadelphia yesterday and the day before, it seems probable the anthractie strike is on the eve of settlement. No authoritative announcement has yet been made. The significant remark was made by a party in interest in New York that an important statement would be issued, probably today. There is other equally suggestive information.

Assuredly the public will welcome an end to this bitter and protracted struggle, which is barely in time to avert a coal famine during the winter. Credit and blame may be apportioned after the first rejoicing has passed, and consideration of permanent measures to prevent a repetition of the serious conditions that have so engrossed public attention for a month past may be begun when the excitement has passed. For the moment the prospect of an immediate settlement and the resumption of orderly industry is all-sufficient.

A SIGNIFICANT OUTCRY.

It is a noteworthy feature of the local political campaign that the heathen continue to rage and, as a man up in Maine or down in Texas or somewhere out west is reputed to have remarked, "The more they holler the more they're hurt." Judging from nothing but the noises that proceed from the machine camp the machine has sore spots that are so very sore it doesn't care who knows all about them. "Broadsides," as one of the organs of the sore ones call them, are delivered daily or oftener at the Citizens party, and in a general way. The noteworthy feature of them, however, is that they go off in the air and hurt no one. They are sound and fury and hullabaloo and tommyrot. Only that and nothing more. It would be a relief to find force or point in any one of them. But there isn't.

The machine forces are a minority; it would be a high compliment to term them a respectable minority. They have so much to defend as a minority that they are powerless for effective attack of any sort, even were there any weak point on which attack might be concentrated. They are a minority through force of circumstances. Support that was naturally theirs they have alienated and support that they were once able to attach to their fortunes they have lost with fortune's wane. Their extremity would be pitiful were it not that they are reaping the harvest of their deeds and deserve to. Extravagance, favoritism, height and depth of political iniquity, padded registration lists, graft, syndicated vice, things visible and things not seen, have been worked to the limit and now they are all arriving at the home roost. No wonder there is an outcry in the camp of the machine. It is feeling the backward kick of all for which it is responsible and sees with dismay the approaching end. It is the people's turn now, and the people are in a majority, and united for their rights, for pure politics and a fair deal all round. And they intend to get them.

Senator Flinn's communication to the "Muddy Water party," accompanying draft of amendment to the constitution to establish the referendum, is of richer quality of humor than the senator had heretofore been suspected. Mark Twain probably never penned droller sarcasm than that of the Pittsburgh statesman when dealing with franchise grabbing and abuses of legislation. The humor of it becomes apparent by reference to the legislative calendar during the four sessions that Mr. Flinn sat in the general assembly as a member of the senate. If it does not set the whole state laughing the public is incapable of appreciating the situation.

The Voters' Civic league which has been organized in this city will perform a useful public service if it strictly adheres to its non-partisan principles and devotes itself to the work of criticism and explanation. Such organizations have done good service elsewhere, and there is a large field for work in Pittsburgh. Statements put forth showing accurate information, impartial views and disinterested purpose will command the respect of voters and influence their action. With "no ax to grind, no candidate to put up," the Voters' Civic league is in the right position for carrying on such a work.

The Exposition is now in the last week of its season. It has had a successful run and the prospect for this week is of the brightest, with Mr. Damrosch's orchestra as the stellar attraction. The music is of the highest class, and it has been noted in former seasons that an appreciative Pittsburgh public always recognizes such by good attendance. Creatore was the new feature this year and many were attracted by curiosity. Damrosch is well known and the attraction is greater on that account.

After a brave show of deliberation the coroner's jury at Shenandoah returned a verdict characterizing the shooting of Durham by Private Wadsworth as "hasty and unjustified." The verdict is open to criticism and the military authorities are fully justified in protesting against relinquishing the accused to be tried for murder. If he must be tried in the course of time, he should have a change of venue to a court entirely removed from the influences of the strike.

Now again the Molineux trial for the third time. Whether Molineux did or did not kill Katherine Adams, there has been a miscarriage of justice in so delaying the vindication or the punishment due him. In this case the New York courts have given a flagrant illustration of how not to do it.

Ballooning will not cease on account of the terrible death of De Bradsky and his engineer, but it may do something toward discouraging the fad of floating airships in Paris. The dirigible balloon was of the Santos-Dumont variety, which had before shown unreliability.

Pittsburgh will prevent the coal famine in the south by the 10,000,000 bushels the high water in the Ohio river carried southward yesterday.

At Mahanoy City the coal operators did not make good their boast that protection was all they needed to start the mine.

The governor of Louisiana seems to have his backbone on in the right place and in working order.

Perhaps the moon is driven temporarily out of business by some things it has seen recently.

Johnsonian Simplicity.

From the Cleveland Leader.

Boss Johnson may be a poor man, as is indicated by his tax return, but he has all the airs of a millionaire. He is probably the only resident of Euclid avenue who affords the luxury of a coachman in full livery, and who takes his valet with him when he makes an automobile trip. Probably the Wooster orator was all right when he referred to the boss as a "glorious genius."

The People's President.

From the Chicago Chronicle (Dem.).

The action of the president in summoning the representatives of the anthracite mine operators and the chosen leader of the miners into conference in Washington unquestionably meets the approval of the American people as a whole, and especially of such of them as are affected by the fuel famine

FIRST LIBRARY NEARLY COMPLETE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.

With Andrew Carnegie expected home in a few weeks, particular interest centers in the fact that the first of the Carnegie libraries to be finished is nearly ready for opening. About two weeks of work will do it. This particular library is on the East Side, in a locality where a public library is likely to be appreciated, if anywhere. It is in East Seventy-ninth street. The reason for this building being ready so long before any of the others is that work on it began before Mr. Carnegie's princely gift to the city of New York had been formally accepted, although there was no real doubt at the time that it would be. The edifice is of Indiana limestone, and the architect was James Brown Lord. It is a neat building, not very pretentious but well adapted for its use. It will be known as Carnegie Library No. 1. It is the desire of the city to have several of the buildings finished before Mr. Carnegie's return, with the hope that he will be present when each is formally opened. Nothing definite has been arranged to this end, but considering Mr. Carnegie's deep interest in the work of education, as exemplified in libraries, it is felt that he will give personal attention to the libraries when he reaches New York. Whether he will extend to New York the inquiry into the subject of good homes for the poor, that he is expected to take up in London, is a matter of great interest here, although nothing is known of his intentions. Even in London it is not positively known what he will do, if anything. The expectation that he may devote some of his wealth toward replacing old rookeries with well-built, wholesome, light and well-ventilated apartment houses, which may be occupied at low rentals, is based more on inference than actual knowledge. Mr. Carnegie has expressed interest in such a plan, and that is all. If he should decide to undertake such work in New York, there will be proper gratitude, of course. In the meantime, the people of New York appreciate the libraries and are glad that some of them soon will be in operation.

Raising an Assassination Fund.

A secret society in Toronto, Canada, has passed a resolution that prominent coal operators in New York should be "removed." A copy of the resolution was shown to me this evening. After declaring that the coal owners concerned in the Pennsylvania strike are "social pirates and public enemies," the resolution provides that the society shall vote $100 toward a fund being raised for a removal of these men or any of them. The chairman stated in the course of the evening that within 30 days $200,000 would be available for this purpose.

Sage Not a Retiring Man.

Well, now, what does "Uncle Russell" mean to do? This morning the report was that he had retired from Wall street forever, and that his close friend, Dr. Munn, would manage his business hereafter. On top of that report comes Mr. Sage himself from his country home, dropping into New York almost as chipper as ever. He was accompanied by Mrs. Sage and Dr. Munn, both of whom ridicule the idea of Mr. Sage retiring. It would not be surprising to see Mr. Sage back at his desk before the end of the week. He expects to be there himself, and he was not so feeble when he got to the city today as to make the expectation at all unreasonable. Those who best know Mr. Sage say he never will retire until he is in his coffin.

The Clamor for Coal Begins.

With a prediction of cold rain, followed by brisk, cool weather, New York is more anxious than ever for a settlement of the coal strike. Many flat houses are damp and chilly already because there has been no steam heat in them this fall, and landlords are having a hard time pacifying their tenants. The howl for coal is loud tonight, and, with no immediate relief in sight, the clamor is likely to be greater by tomorrow.

Latest Molineux Case Delay.

No one is astonished at the postponement of the Molineux murder trial again. It has been put off until Wednesday. Whether it will be taken up then remains to be seen. There seems to be nothing in the way, and it is generally believed that the celebrated case will begin and go forward with as much speed as homicide trials ever do in this city.

Violinist Kocian's Tour.

There is much pleasurable anticipation among musical people here over the approaching debut in Carnegie hall of the Bohemian violin virtuoso, Kocian, under the management of Rudolph Aronson. His New York appearance will be on November 22. After that he will make a tour of the principal American cities, including Pittsburgh.

Philippine Veterans in Gotham.

Governors island has again become the station of veterans from the Philippines. They are the second battalion of the Eighth infantry. They have been in the Philippine Islands for two years and reached this country three weeks ago. Some of them got to Governors island on Saturday, and the rest came down the river from Spuyten Duyvil, where they were switched off, this afternoon. The pleasant surroundings and cool breezes of Governors island are a welcome relief to the soldier boys after so many months in the tropics, and expressions of pleasure were general among them as they went aboard the government tug to be carried over to the island. There are some of the men on Bedloes island, disputing it with the Statue of Liberty, too. They are Company L of the third battalion of the Eighth.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Plan of Shopping.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt arrived in New York this evening from Washington. She will stay for a few days, mainly for shopping purposes, it is understood. It is not hard work to shop in New York, if one chooses to take advantage of the methods at the disposal of any good customer. The goods are brought to the house and the patron merely selects what she wants and has the things sent to her.

Public Money for Baths.

The almost divine virtues of cleanliness were recognized by the board of estimate today, when it appropriated $88,000 for more public baths in Manhattan. The board has little sentiment, as a rule, but it is not oblivious to the need of more public ablutionary accommodations in this city, and the free bath grant of money went through with much more celerity than usually attends an appropriation of any kind.

Suspense Makes Lively Stock Market.

There was no settlement of the strike before the stock exchange closed, and at that time the outlook was not considered bright. Consequently, there was a tumble in some stocks and something like an old-time stampede on 'change for a while. It may have been only manipulation—probably was; but it had the effect of creating excitement, with much shouting, both in the exchange and on the curb. It was one of the liveliest days in Wall street since the coal famine began to affect values.

Business Men's Campaign for Odell.

A reminder of the last presidential campaign, when McKinley and Roosevelt were pitted against Bryan and Stevenson, is the beginning of noonday meetings in support of the Republican state ticket at the headquarters of the Commercial Travelers club. In the presidential campaign these meetings were very largely attended. Many prominent Republicans spoke at them, and the influence of the club was allowed by everyone when the vote was counted for New York city. Ferdinand Ziegel of Alexander & Co., who was the chairman at today's meeting, said that, after considerable discussion, the "Drummers," Republicans, Democrats, Mugwumps and Goo-Goos, had decided to uphold Gov. Odell in order to perpetuate his economic administration in the interests of business. Business men here know who are their friends, evidently.

Pailful Doles of Coal.

The action of the coal operators in selling coal at 15 cents for a pailful, has relieved a great deal of threatened distress in the tenement quarters. There is always a line of people at each of the cheap coal stations and the vendors are kept busy all day long. As this is washing day with many families, there was a particularly large demand for the pails of coal. Only one ticket was sold to each person, but as soon as the coal is used they can go back and get more, for there has been no falling off in the supply since the system was begun at the end of last week. Chinese laundrymen are among the applicants, and they are served the same as other people, at the ruling price of 15 cents a pailful. Even if the strike is settled, it will be some time before coal will be plentiful, and these depots for supplying tenement people are likely to be in operation for weeks.

Ping-Pong-Headed Babies.

Another baby with a head as big as a ping-pong ball has been born in New York. It is thought the little thing will live. It seems to be the regular thing to compare the head of a small baby with a ping-pong ball, since it better conveys an idea of the extreme diminutiveness of the infant than such dry details as that the child is only 13 inches long and weighs 15 ounces. Many people cannot picture in their mind's eye how long a baby of 13 inches really is, and have but a hazy appreciation of the heft of 15 ounces; but everyone knows what a ping-pong ball looks like, and when you are told that the infant's head is of the same size you can gasp in astonishment with promptitude, and tell the next man you meet about the wonderfully small baby with a ping-pong comparison ready to your hand. But—does it not seem that ping-pong-headed babies are much more common than they used to be?

Women's Dog Show.

There are more than 6,000 entries for the women's dog show at Madison Square garden next week. They include every kind of dog, from St. Bernards, Great Danes and bloodhounds to whippets, pugs, "pomps" and snub-nosed Japanese spaniels. The show held in the Metropolitan opera house a year or two ago was not successful as a commercial proposition, but the women interested in the exhibition think they have the public educated to an appreciation of their pets, and they hope for paying patronage at the garden next week. There are some entries from Pittsburgh by ladies who have pets which they are confident will get some kind of ribbon from the judges.

Not One Stage Novelty.

In marked contrast to last Monday night, there were no new offerings at any of the Broadway theaters. Last Monday there were three, and every week since the season opened there has been some novelty to attract theatergoers. So many successes are running now, however, that there was no need to make changes tonight. At least, that is the explanation of the managers.

Ohio Women in the Metropolis.

The Daughters of Ohio have broken out again. They held their first meeting of the season this afternoon at the Waldorf-Astoria in the small banquet room, and a very pleasant gathering it was, with light refreshments to "make the business talk more palatable." The society was organized by Mrs. Emma Acher Osborne of Cleveland a year ago, and it has 100 members. The object is social diversion and to maintain the love of their old home among Ohio women who have been cast into this maelstrom of New York. There was a great deal of gossip of a friendly nature, and all the ladies said they never had passed a pleasanter afternoon. Of course, I get this all secondhand, for no Philistine of my sex was admitted, even the waiters being young women.

Harry Lehr Seeking a Home Site.

Here is good news for New York: Harry S. Lehr, the gentleman who leads cotillions, entertains chimpanzees at dinners and is the right-hand man of ladies of the smart set when they desire to give elaborate entertainments, is looking for a house in this city. He intends to set up housekeeping for himself in Fifth avenue, and two or three real estate agents are looking over the ground for him. It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Lehr will entertain with considerable lavishness this winter.

Minnie Dupree's Success.

One of the new plays that has made a big hit in New York city is "The Rose of Plymouth Town," with Minnie Dupree as the star, at the Manhattan. The fourth act has been rewritten and goes with more dash and go than before, although I cannot see what was the matter with the fourth act as it was, if anything. The charming personality of Minnie Dupree is the main attraction, however, and it matters little about the fourth act, or any other act, so long as she is on the stage.

Goal 25 Cents a Shovelful.

Coal was selling this morning in some quarters at 25 cents a shovelful. The shovel was a large one, but at the price the coal seemed to be somewhat inadequate, and more than one customer remarked that he hoped the strike really was about to end. The dealer smiled grimly. GEORGE C. JENKS.

Not a Partisan Matter.

From the Blairsville Courier.

These people who are attempting to hold the Republican party responsible for the continuance of the coal miners' strike are either unaware of the true situation or else deliberately misleading the public. The fact of the matter is that the one man whose stubborn attitude has defied all plans of compromise and settlement is a Democrat, and a rabid one at that. Were this man to recede from his position or be willing to yield in even the slightest degree the strike would be over. From this it is not to be inferred that we hold the Democratic party responsible, but it is referred to simply to show that politics and partisanship have nothing to do with it. It is curious, however, that the only public men who are working hard to end the strike are ardent Republicans, and it is equally curious that those who are willing the strike should continue until at least election day are Democrats.

PERSONALS.

Harbor Master Samuel G. Maloney and Assistant City Solicitor Thomas W. Finletter, Jr., of Philadelphia, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning and registered at the Hotel Henry. This is their last stopping place on a quiet, unofficial tour of the state looking over the political situation. Mr. Maloney is one of the political leaders in Philadelphia. Mr. Finletter is a son of Judge Finletter, and is closely identified with politics there. Mr. Maloney said: "The Republicans of Philadelphia are spurring themselves to action, and I am convinced Pennypacker will have from 120,000 to 140,000 majority. I have closely observed the contest in this city, and am confident of the success of the Citizens party."

Some 200 members of the Daughters of Liberty arrived in the city yesterday to attend the state council, the first business session of which will be held this morning in Perry hall, corner of James and First streets, Allegheny. The headquarters were established at the Hotel Henry and the day was devoted to sightseeing, the delegates visiting several of the large manufacturing plants and driving about the city. It is expected that every subcouncil will be represented, and that 150 voting delegates will be present this morning.

A detail of men of the Fourteenth regiment, with 15 members of the band, who have just returned from the G. A. R. reunion at Washington, left over the Pennsylvania last evening to join their command. It was intended that all should leave at 9 o'clock, but a number failed to go through the gates in time. The tardy ones were taken on at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. D. T. Watson arrived from New York last evening on the limited.

THE DEATH ROLL.

T. D. Casey.

T. D. Casey, one of the best known Democratic politicians in Pittsburgh, died last evening at his home, No. 436 Lincoln avenue, East End. He suffered from a complication of diseases for six months. He was born in County Cork, Ireland, in 1840, and came to this country with his parents when 10 years old. The family settled in Westmoreland country and when Mr. Casey reached manhood he came to Pittsburgh. For 30 years he was in the wholesale liquor business at Liberty avenue and Tenth street. He was a member of the Democratic state committee for many years and a delegate to the St. Louis Democratic convention in 1888. During both terms of Gov. Pattison, Mr. Casey was an inspector of the Western penitentiary. Mr. Casey was also an active worker in benevolent associations, having for years been a trustee of Mercy hospital, St. Paul's Roman Catholic orphan asylum and the St. Joseph's boys' protectory. He was also one of the incorporators of the St. Mary's and Calvary Catholic cemeteries. In 1868 Mr. Casey married Miss Margaret O'Hanlon of Allegheny, who, with eight children, survive. Mrs. F. D. Murto, James D., Edmund D., William F. Casey, Mrs. H. J. Canny, the Misses Dora E. and Frances M. and Charles J. Casey, all of whom reside in Pittsburgh. Mr. Casey was a six-months' man during the Civil war, but owing to his being undersized he was discharged at the end of the six months. He was a member of the Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church, Center avenue, East End.

William S. Brooks.

William S. Brooks died at his residence, 629 Logan avenue, San Diego, Cal., September 26. His first home was in Warren, O. He came to Allegheny city and lived there for many years. His children are William M. Brooks of Chicago, Mrs. Anthony Hollenbeck of Marysville, Wash., and Mrs. Daisy Goldring of San Diego. He was for many years a member of the Christian church of Allegheny and later of the First Christian church of East Pittsburgh. His only surviving sister is Mrs. Nancy McBrier of North Bristol, O. He was a man of sterling Christian character and was much respected and esteemed by all who knew him.

James A. Hamilton.

By the death of James A. Hamilton yesterday, Neville island lost one of its most prominent residents. Mr. Hamilton was born on the island and had resided there all his life. He was 58 years old and lived with his mother in the old Hamilton homestead. He was a member of the Presbyterian church and is survived by his mother and two sisters, Mrs. Nancy Kirk and Miss Lydia Hamilton.

Miss Lillie Stolzer.

Miss Lillie Stolzer, 17 years old, died yesterday morning at her home, No. 2534 Mulberry alley, of a complication of diseases. About four weeks ago the girl saved the lives of a number of persons whose homes in Smallman street had taken fire while they were asleep. She was a member of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church.

Obituary Notes.

Richard J. Lennon, prominent in Philadelphia Democratic politics for many years, died yesterday of typhoid fever at Atlantic City.

Dr. Elvira Rainer, one of the most prominent woman physicians in New York state, died yesterday at her home at Oswego, aged 55 years.

David V. Reese, Sr., aged 72, of Beaver Falls, Pa., died at his home Sunday night of throat trouble. He is survived by his widow and four sons. He was an engineer in the axe works for 36 years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Newcomer, the oldest resident of Connellsville, Pa., died at her home Sunday night, aged 96. She was the mother of Dr. G. W. Newcomer.

Mrs. Eleanor Davidson, aged 76, widow of John Davidson, died at her home in Connellsville, Pa., Sunday.

Jacob Leisinger, Sr., 81 years old, is dead at his home, No. 1601 Howard street, Allegheny. He was a veteran of the civil war, having served with the Thirteenth volunteer infantry of Ohio. Two children survive.

Mrs. Josephine Ward, a friend of Mrs. Dolly Madison and of Mrs. Julia Dent Grant, wife of the general, died in New York yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Dorenus. She was 80 years old.

A BAD PLACE FOR FAKE SHOWS

The Stranger Concluded He Wouldn't Exhibit His Wild Man from Borneo.

A tall man with a sallow complexion and iron gray hair, entered the police barracks with a hesitating manner last night about 9 o'clock and asked in a low voice that was almost a whisper if he could have a private talk with the chief of police, says the Atlanta Constitution.

As he spoke he cast furtive glances about him as if fearful somebody whom he did not wish to hear him, was eavesdropping.

He was told that the chief of police was at home, but the captain was on duty and could serve him. He called the captain to one side and said that he desired a private, a very private consultation. The captain escorted him to his private office and there the consultation took place. When the stranger had departed, Capt. Thompson said the story was too good to keep.

"I never like to divulge state secrets," said the captain, "but this is one time when I will have to tell what was told to me in great secrecy."

"That fellow," continued the captain, "wants to run a sideshow near the exposition grounds during the fair. He says he is from Canada and is trying to work his way to Panama, which he hopes to reach by the time the work on the canal is started. His name is Truegood—Albert Harper Truegood—so he tells me. What he wants to do is to have a show with a wild man from Borneo in it. He hasn't caught his wild man yet, but hopes to lasso him in Atlanta. He has confessed to me in great secrecy that he desires to run a fake show. He says he intends to get an Atlanta negro who can act the wild man and pay him handsomely for his trouble. The reason Mr. Truegood called on me was to know if there was any danger of his wild man getting mobbed in Atlanta. The last place he showed a wild man was in a small South Carolina town and when the people, he says, found out he had a fake they took the wild man out and nearly killed him. I informed Mr. Truegood that Atlanta was the poorest place in the world for a fake show since the street fair, and I informed him that the people might not mob the wild man, but they might take a notion to pay their respects to the showman. Mr. Truegood told me he believed he would stop at another point nearer Panama. He asked me to keep his story a secret, but I never promised to do so."

THE ALL-ABSORBING TOPIC.

"What are traveling men gossiping about?" repeated A. J. White at the Pfister in response to a question from a Milwaukee Sentinel reporter. "The coal strike. Not within my 20 years' experience on the road have I heard one topic discussed to the exclusion of all others like the coal strike is being talked of, not only by professional travelers, but merchants and by everyone with whom you come in contact. It is by far the favorite topic on the trains. What is the consensus? With but few dissenting voices you hear nothing but words of praise for the president. They think that his conduct has been right, and there is no doubt but what he is and will be warmly supported in the question of settling the strike as long as he assumes the attitude that he has taken.

"In connection with this talk it is made quite plain that President Mitchell of the miners is fast becoming the man of the hour and making for himself a splendid reputation. They say that man has risen in the world has been something phenomenal. Four or five years ago he was unknown, but was at the head of a local union in the Illinois Spring valley. Here he attracted attention more from the fact that he has a cool, level head. It is his steadiness more than anything else that has brought him to the front. He is not an educated man, but can handle a body holding his own with the men against whom he is at present pitted."

SMOOTH LYING IN PERSIA.

"I spent five years in Persia, and must say that in some respects it is a very charming part of the world," said Dr. Frederick Kinnard of London, England, to a representative of the Washington Post.

"Nearly every Persian is a liar, but he crushes the tru

CARDS were issued yesterday for the wedding of Miss Clara Florence Aull, daughter of William F. Aull, and Dr. James Stewart Lacock of Allegheny. The marriage will be solemnized at the bride's home in Fifth avenue, Oakland on Wednesday evening, October 29, followed by a reception and wedding supper. The bride will be attended by a maid of honor, her sister, Miss Grace Aull, and six bridesmaids, Miss Annie Kearns and Miss Elizabeth Dauler, Pittsburgh; Miss Georgia Lacock, Allegheny; Miss Predmore of Warren, O.; Miss Alice Smith, and Miss Cora Wallace of this city. Mr. Smithman of Philadelphia, will be the best man, and the six ushers will include the brothers of the bride and personal friends of the bridegroom. The ceremony is to be performed by the Rev. Charles H. Mitchell of Cleveland, an uncle of the bride-elect.

Both the bride and bridegroom-elect are popular socially and their wedding would have followed the announcement of their engagement a year ago, but for the death of Miss Aull's grandfather. Dr. Lacock is the son of George Lacock of Allegheny, a prominent business man and member of Allegheny council for years. The younger man is city veterinarian of Allegheny.

Delegates to the State Federation.

This morning a large party of club women will leave for Titusville to attend the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, which opens its annual meeting there this afternoon. Nearly every club in the city will be represented and a number of members besides the delegates will attend. The party will leave this morning at 9 o'clock from the Union sta-

Crawford, Mrs. Leonard Whiting and Mrs. Wagley; Women's Suffrage club, Mrs. J. L. Koehler, jr., and Miss Emma Whitesell; Homestead club, Mrs. Underwood; Mitten club, Miss Mary Eccles.

Wedding at the Maples.

The wedding of Miss Sara M. Gillespie and Robert Wray on Thursday evening at "The Maples," the home of Mrs. C. L. Magee, an aunt of the bride-elect, will be an exceedingly handsome one. Miss Gillespie will be attended by her cousin, Miss Louise Magee, as maid of honor and the four bridesmaids will be Miss Nellie McCallam, Miss Eva Stoner, Miss Lucy Hay and Miss Elsie Metcalf. Samuel Watson will be the best man, and among the ushers will be Thomas Watson, Mr. Stoner and Mr. Eliaer.

The ceremony will be performed in the music room of "The Maples" at 7:30 o'clock, the Rev. R. J. Young, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church, officiating. Mrs. Magee's health will not permit her returning for the wedding; she has been abroad since the first of the year, and her sister, Mrs. Warrington Warwick, is presiding as hostess at "The Maples." Mrs. George Darr, the only sister of the bride-elect, has come on from New York for the wedding and with other relatives will stay at the Magee residence. Several informal affairs will be given this week for Miss Gillespie and on Wednesday the wedding rehearsal will be held, followed by a supper for the bridal party and some out-of-town guests.

Studying English History.

The Homestead Women's club held the first of its regular sessions yesterday, the club being entertained by Mrs. James Ward at her home on Ninth avenue. This year the club will take up the study of English history and especially the reign of Victoria. The program yesterday included a historical sketch, "Victoria From the Accession to the Death of Albert," prepared by Mrs. Olive Leedy Wales; "The Prince Consort," Miss Mabel Watson; "The Tower of London," Mrs. Anna Carter Davis. The club held a special meeting one day last week, at which Mrs. W. F. Underwood was elected delegate to the convention of the state federation of women's clubs.

At Home in Bellevue.

Mrs. Fred W. Kiefer and her daughter, Miss Elsie E. Kiefer, have issued cards for an at home, Elm Terrace, No. 353 Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, Thursday, October 16, from 3 to 6 o'clock. Mrs. William H. Pfahl, Mrs. Charles F. Stifel, Mrs. Charles F. Kiefer, Miss Eunice Evans, Miss Betsy Jacobs, Miss Mary Hudson, Miss Gertrude Kiefer, Miss Iola Hodgers, Miss Jeannette Riggs, Miss Flora Langenheim and Miss Laura Cooper will assist. As house guests Miss Kiefer will entertain Miss Eunice Evans and Miss Betsy Jacobs of Youngstown and Miss Elizabeth McAlister of West Newton, Pa. A party of young people will be entertained in the evening.

Club Meetings.

The Monday Night club held its first meeting of the season last evening at the home of George B. Motheral in Rebecca street, East End. Social and musical features predominated and a recital was given by the Ariel quartet. The Monday Night club will study French literature this season and last evening the program for the year was announced.

The Colloquium club opened its season of club meetings yesterday afternoon. The club will be represented at the state federation meeting in Titusville by Mrs. W. F. Abel.

Will Wed Today.

The marriage of Miss Anna Bernice Bailey to Hugh S. Fullerton will be solemnized this evening at the Highland Presbyterian church, the Rev. C. P. Cheeseman officiating. The wedding will be very quiet in its appointments, the only attendants being Miss Frances Johnston as maid of honor and Mr. J. Raymond Price as best man, and owing to the death of a near relative of the bride there will be no reception.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Powelson announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anna Mary Powelson, and Linton DeWitt Means. The wedding will take place late in October.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Browarsky have issued cards announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Lillian Browarsky, and Harry Harris, a young business man of this city. They will be at home Sunday, October 19.

Whist at the Club House.

The semi-annual whist tournament, conducted by the Whist league, opened yesterday afternoon in the assembly rooms of the Twentieth Century club. It will be continued today and tomorrow, the final winners being entitled to wear the league pins until they are successfully contested for at the next semi-annual meeting.

INQUIRIES ANSWERED.

M. E. S. writes—Last fall you published a recipe for pickled onions which we tried and enjoyed so much. I allowed quite a number of friends to sample them and they are now coming for the recipe, which I have put away so carefully that I cannot find it, and write to ask you to republish it. We have gotten a good many nice things out of "What to Eat and How to Cook It."

Parker House Rolls.

Mrs. H. A. G.—For Parker house rolls take two quarters of sifted flour; add a teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of sugar; rub in a tablespoonful of shortening. Make a hole in center of flour and pour in a pint of cold boiled milk and half a cup or half a cake (dissolved) of yeast. Cover closely and let stand over night. In the morning stir in the flour and kneed it very thoroughly. Cover and set in a warm place to rise for one and one-half hours. It should be very light and spongy by then. Roll out on a board about half an inch thick, cut with a large cake cutter; make a crease in the center; place a bit of butter in this and fold the cake over. Lay on buttered tins and let rise an hour. Then bake for 15 minutes in a quick oven.

POSSE SEARCHING FOR ALLEGED WIFE SLAYER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 13.—A posse of a score of miners of Hostetter is scouring the country to avenge an alleged wife murder. Early this morning Mrs. Joseph Horick, until Saturday a resident of Clarkston, Allegheny county, died from the effects of six bullet wounds fired. It is claimed, by her husband on Saturday night. The posse, the county officials here state, is hot on the trail of the murderer, and if he is captured justice may be meted out in summary fashion.

Horick came to Hostetter in July, where he was employed by the Connellsville Coal and Coke Company of Pittsburgh. His wife and a daughter, 8 years old, had been working for Robert Moss at Clarkston, and on Saturday Horick went to that place and persuaded them to go to Hostetter. She was given $180 by her husband. On a lonely stretch of the road Horick demanded that the money be returned to him. Mrs. Horick refused, and he fired.

To Build a Viaduct.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—At a meeting between councils, county commissioners and representatives of the railroad and traction companies today the advisability of building the proposed Shenango viaduct from the foot of East Long avenue to North Liberty street was considered. Such a structure will be 3,500 feet in length. Plans have been directed to be made at once and an estimate of the cost of the viaduct secured.

Amputated His Own Finger.

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Mike Petronic, employed at one of the steel shearing machines at the Standard Steel Company's works here, had one of his fingers badly mangled in the machine. After inspecting the injured finger the man placed it under the shear and amputated it himself.

Two Glass Factories Resume.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Both the Lawrence and Shenango glass factories of this place began operations here at midnight after being closed down for several months. They are controlled by the American Window Glass Company. More than one hundred men are employed in the two factories.

Prisoner Attempts Suicide.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Lee Manning, a painter who was sent to the county jail for drunkenness on Saturday by Burgess Frank Judson, attempted to dash out his brains against the bars of his cell. Before he could be stopped his head had been cut in several places.

Conference Endorses Strikers.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The Eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania conference of the Welsh Congregational churches adjourned today after taking strong ground in favor of the striking anthracite coal miners and commending the action of President Roosevelt in his efforts to end the strike.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS

VERY many city women make the mistake, when returning the courtesies of friends and relatives who live far from the madding crowd, of trying to entertain as they have been entertained. They quite forget how curious they were to learn just how butter is made, or whether maple syrup comes from the noble trees already boiled down and shaped and stamped. If they stop to think they will immediately see that the guest who has known these things from the cradle up would very much appreciate being initiated into some city frills which are as sealed books.

One woman who thought to please such a guest by simple, old-fashioned cookery was fairly taken off her feet to at last learn that her guest would really prefer to live on short rations if she might only see just how a number of elaborate dishes were served. In order that, when she got home, she might have the pleasure of surprising her home company with dishes that were novel, as well as delicious.

FOR DESSERT

CARAMEL ice cream is a delicious dainty and easily made. Brown until very dark a cup of brown sugar in a pan of water over the fire and add a little hot water, just sufficient to render the mixture liquid. Beat three eggs in a pint of milk with a cup of brown sugar and add to the caramel mixture. If any flavoring such as lemon, orange or vanilla is desired add it and freeze.

THE GIRLISH HAT

THE new sailor hat that turns up all around may be had in beaver felt for a dollar. This is girlish looking and will stand the every day and changeable climate conditions. It is worn with a plain band or scarf of taffeta lousine tucked around the crown. A black bird is usually swathed in silk when it is used. Pompons, rather large, of soft silk feathers, or coque plumes, are perched at the sides. The schooped shaped turban will be becoming to a woman a little older.

RUSSIAN TOFFEE

RUSSIAN toffee will be sure to please the small folk. Dissolve three ounces of butter with eight ounces of brown sugar in a stewpan on the stove; then add one-half tin of condensed milk; stir it until it boils; simmer it 15 minutes, adding a few drops of vanlia essence; pour it into a greased tin; mark it into squares and leave it till it is cold.

A DAINTY PETTICOAT

A PALE rose faille petticoat, gored to fit the figure about the hips as closely as a habit back dress skirt, has the lower half made in an elaborate flounce. It is laid in lingerie tucks graduated to form deep points, thus throwing the fullness out at intervals in immense inverted V's. This flounce ends in a band of insertion heading a ruffle of lace set over a second ruffle of silk. The insertion at the foot, and another band that heads the flounce, are run with satin ribbon that is formed every few inches into rosettes with hanging ends.

A PRETTY AUTUMN SUIT.
It Is of Brown Mixed Cloth Trimmed With Japanese Embroidery. Worn With a Crepe de Chine Blouse and a Tucked Velvet Hat.

AN OLD FASHION REVIVED

THAT dainty detail, the veil, wearied of being twisted under the wearer's chin and otherwise teased, wants to curtail itself to the level of the nose, thus going back to a whim of its earlier history. At the same time, as "extremes meet," some folks hang long veils round their hats to dangle down almost on their shoulders in the good old fashion which some antiquated dames retain to the present day. Some of these veils have enormous chenille spots—green dots on brown, black and white on blue or brown and black on white, are the newest.

The Style of a "Dorothy Dodd"

Let us assume that your shoes fit you. Now, what next? What is most important? Unquestionably, STYLE. Demand that a shoe shall possess style. If it has "style," you want it; if it has not "style," but everything else, you don't want it. The style of a "Dorothy Dodd" is unique. It cannot be duplicated by any other maker, because the "Dorothy Dodd" is a totally different construction from any other ladies' shoe made.

Besides being exclusive in style, it holds the foot firmly at the waist (that's the instep), prevents the toes from slipping forward, and gives a correct poise in walking. It makes the foot look nearly a whole size smaller. That's curious, and you won't believe it till you see it. Just for once try the style.

They Cost $3.00.

P. S.—Of course we will give you particulars of the $4,000.00 Prize Offer.

Partly-Cooked Cereals Dangerous.

In the common sense crusade in favor of cereal foods, many people lose sight of the fact that they cannot escape all the flesh-eating ills if they are careless about the use of starch foods. Partly-cooked cereals are dangerous. They enter the stomach in a condition unfit for assimilation and yield small nourishment. A properly dextrinized (browned), food furnishes energy and builds up the system. It finds an enthusiastic reception in the stomach, which rejoices in the lightening of its load. Toasted Wheat Flakes is such a food. It is sweetened with Malt Honey, nature's health sweet, and is delicious and satisfying. Imitations may deceive you, but not your stomach. The genuine Toasted Wheat Flakes packages bear a picture of the Battle Creek sanitarium.

RUBE WADDELL STANDS BY CONNIE MACK

TWO MORE GAMES END THE SEASON

Champions Will Wind Up Barnstorming This Week.

WILHELM THE WONDER

Manager Finn of Little Rock Says Pittsburgh Drew a Prize Pitcher—Rube Waddell Struck Town En Route to Butler.

The barn-storming Pirates got back home yesterday morning and spent the day in the city, as there was no exhibition game to be played. Today the team goes up to Manor to stack up against Eddie Creamer's champions, and tomorrow the exhibition series will be closed with a return game at Rochester, after which the players will seek their winter quarters.

The final game with the All-Americans was the subject for discussion between President Dreyfuss and the players at headquarters yesterday, and it was the general opinion that had the games been played on any other ground than at Cleveland, both would have been Pirate victories. The reason given is that the Cleveland infield is both soft and slow, and it was almost an impossibility to get a ground ball past the infielders. That this operated more against the champions than it did against the All-Americans is shown by the fact that in Saturday's game Bransfield, at first base, had only two put-outs. All the other outs were on balls hit into the air.

Were a Financial Frost.

Another regrettable thing was that the Cleveland games turned out to be financial frosts. On Friday the actual attendance was 2,100 and on Saturday 3,100. The players state that they got better returns from their game on Sunday at Sharon than they did in Cleveland. It was also a matter of comment that in the two games played in the Forest City that Honus Wagner made big Lajoie look like an also ran—that is, in the quality of work put up by both players.

President Dreyfuss received a letter yesterday that caused him to wear a smile all day. The letter was from Michael Finn, manager of the Little Rock team in the Southern league. Manager Finn wrote to tell President Dreyfuss that he had picked up a pitching jewel in Irvin Wilhelm, who, he says, was far and away the best pitcher in the Southern league last season and the Little Rock manager predicts that Wilhelm will make the Pittsburgh cranks forget all about Cheshro. That's a pretty strong statement, but it comes from Finn all right.

Rube Waddell on Deck.

Rube Waddell, the Butler county boy who pitched Connie Mack's Athletics to the American league pennant, blew into town yesterday and one would have thought, by Rube's appearance, that the advance agent of Buffalo Bill's wild west had struck town. Rube was dressed in style, wearing a long ulster and a broad-brimmed soft hat.

Rube was on his way to his home in Butler county to spend a month or so in hunting. He had with him a dog that he said was very valuable and which had been presented to him by a Philadelphia friend. It happened that John Murphy, the ex-ground thrower at Exposition park, was also in town, having come here from New York to spend the winter. Murphy is a dog expert and Waddell took his canine over to Allegheny to have Murphy pass judgment on him.

As per usual, Rube is full of stories and one was that he had refused an offer of $7,000 to pitch for the St. Louis National league next season. Waddell is a great admirer of Connie Mack and will stick to him and the Athletics. He wanted Sam Leever to accompany him to the wilds of Butler on a hunting trip, but the schoolmaster had other plans for the fall season.

Fultz Will Stick to American.

Dave Fultz, who played center field for Connie Mack's champions, was also in the city yesterday. Dave is coaching the Lafayette college football eleven and as they play Wash-Jeff tomorrow, Coach Dave brought his team on a day ahead and gave the players some stiff practice work over at the Colosseum. Dave is not doing any blowing about his team, but thinks it will be strong enough to take a fall out of the Washington county eleven today.

Regarding baseball Fultz said that notwithstanding contrary reports he has not signed with any team for next season. There have been stories printed to the effect that Fultz will be found with either New York or Brooklyn next year, but he denies these, and says that he has about made up his mind to stick to the American league, but does not know which club he will play with.

ANOTHER SHAKING UP.

Tigers' Coaches Giving All Players Fair Trial.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Not satisfied with the radical changes made in the Princeton team during last week, the coaches today, for no apparent reason, shook things up again, making some changes which, in the belief of many, will not last. The policy with those in charge of the Tigers seems to be that of trying all men for all positions, in hopes of finding the best man for every place. This meets with general approval, but it is now felt that the time has come to settle down and pay attention to team play, in view of the large games close at hand.

The most surprising change was that of Vetterlein from quarter to fullback on the 'varsity. King, quarterback on last year's freshman team, takes his place. Baker, the 173-pound tackle, who was first tried at guard last week, was placed in Short's position at center and the latter moved to left tackle. Brown has been sent to the scrub tackle and Reed has his place on the 'varsity.

MANY CHANGES MADE.

Carl Williams Is Experimenting With Pennsy's Team.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Experimenting was the order of the day at Franklin Field today. Coach Williams bringing Pierkarski back into the line of the U. of P. football team, while Richardson resumed his position at left end and young Strang was given another try at quarterback. The latter is a sturdy young fellow, well fitted physically for the position, and today acquitted himself in a fine manner, getting into the plays quickly and giving an illustration of ground gaining which was quite refreshing to the large student body in the south stand to witness.

Richardson, like on all previous occasions, showed his ability to take care of left end, and it is apparent to the interested spectators that the pair can wipe out Pierce, for which was administered at the hands of the local collegians in Pittsburgh several years ago.

NEW FORMATIONS WERE PRACTICED

Coach Richardson Gave His Players Lots of Work on a Muddy Field.

The Pittsburgh football eleven had a hard practice yesterday at the training grounds in Greensburg with Datz Lawlor in his old position at right guard, the big fellow working into the new formations like the veteran that he is. With a week's hard work he will be in shape. Mathewson repeatedly kicked the ball 65 yards today. His direction is not the best, but this is on account of lack of practice. Both Lawlor and Mathewson will be in the games Wednesday and Saturday, unless they are previously injured.

Richardson perfected a new formation yesterday afternoon, and a good one. He had his men walking through the signals for an hour showing each man the man he is to take. Richardson declared that before the year is over his interference is going to be great. The Pittsburgh players expect the Cottage team to put up a stiff argument at Greensburg tomorrow afternoon, and they are making preparations for it.

WASH-JEFF READY FOR LAFAYETTE

TODAY'S FOOTBALL GAME WILL BE VERY WARM.

Both Elevens Are in Fine Shape for a Hard Struggle—Record Breaking Crowd Expected.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 13.—Never before in the history of football at Washington and Jefferson college was there so much enthusiasm in regard to a football game as there is in Washington today over the coming game tomorrow with the Lafayette college team. Not only the students and resident fans are worked up over the contest, but the visiting alumni who have not seen a football game for years are getting ready to shout for the local team, and the attendance tomorrow promises to eclipse by far any former crowd that ever witnessed a similar contest in Washington.

The W. and J. team had the final practice at College park this afternoon. The gates were closed to all spectators, and what was done is not known; but it was given out tonight that only formation practice was on the boards and there was no lineup with the scrubs. All the men are in perfect condition and are ready to play the game of their lives. The strongest lineup this year will be against the Easton kickers tomorrow afternoon. Sutter has recovered and will be at left end as usual, while the remainder of the team will be the same that played against Western Reserve last Saturday.

Among football followers here there is no doubt existing as to the outcome, and it is safe to say that not one fan in a hundred thinks the local collegians will lose. All the grandstand seats were sold early this morning. Reports from Pittsburgh state that there will be a train load of people over to attend the game, and to prepare for the crowds Manager Craig has placed several hundred chairs directly in front of the grandstand, and some of these have been sold, and a rush for their purchase is looked for tomorrow when the throngs arrive.

The Lafayette rooters in Pittsburgh have secured a block of seats in the grandstand and will be here in force to root for their team. The rooting by the local college men will be a feature. Rooting squads with leaders have been organized, while a drum corps of college men and old students and alumni will participate in the parade, which will end at College park, where the game will be played. The Lafayette team will arrive here tomorrow morning, and according to reports sent out they, too, are confident of winning. They intend to wipe out the defeat which was administered at the hands of the local collegians in Pittsburgh several years ago.

WILL JOIN BIG LEAGUE.

The Junior Champions Are Ready to Branch Out.

The South Side basketball team held a meeting and organized for the coming season. Last year's junior league champions, who will probably be in the Interstate league this year, have secured a hall in which to practice, and will get down to business the first of next week. The team of last year will remain intact with the probable exception of Stolzenbach, who has not decided whether or not he will play this winter. Gump will be the pivot man, D. C. & A. C. last season, and Hill Davies will be added to the team.

Evan M. Robert, manager of the team last year, was re-elected, while the captain will be elected the first night the team practices.

Withrow Wins the Medal.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The series of shoots for the Brown gold medal ended this afternoon. The trophy was won by John Withrow, who had four weekly wins to his credit. Dr. William Taylor had three; Ross Withrow, three; Robert Fulton and Michael Low of Greensburg, one each.

Well-Known Sporting Man Insane.

TOLEDO, O., Oct. 13.—William C. Tate, formerly a well-known boxer and referee, was adjudged insane today and sent to the asylum here. He refereed the famous Sullivan-Ryan fight.

The Cottage Jrs. expect a warm game from the Ingram A. C. Saturday, as both teams are fighting for the championship. Will play on Cottage grounds. The Jrs. would like to hear from all 50-pound teams in the two cities. Address Robert Barkell, 702 Homewood avenue.

The Tarentum Tigers are without a game for October 18 and would like to hear from all 105 to 110-pound teams in Western Pennsylvania. Would prefer the South Side A. C., Olympics or Orange A. C. game to be played away from home. Address A. E. Rawswell, No. 518 Penn avenue, Pittsburgh.

Coach Rodgers requests the following Unique A. C. players to report for practice Tuesday and Friday evenings at 7:30 sharp: Bush, Daffner, Stock, Smith, J. Eiben, P. Eiben, Nutt, Skelly, Dumont, Dawson, Kuhlman, Speicher, Ehrhart, Lyons and Griffiths. The pairs of Metzger and Wipe out Fear which was administered at the hands of the local collegians in Pittsburgh several years ago.

ONE GOOD THING WAS PUT THROUGH

HERMIS TOOK HANDICAP

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 13.—The first Mamaroneck handicap, the feature event at Morris park today, was won by L. V. Bell's Hermis. Despite the fact that he was carrying an impost of 126 pounds and giving away from 2 to 39 pounds to his field, he won by half a length from the lightweight Warranted. Advance Guard was third, half a length away. Two to one was laid against the winner, while Warranted, who carried only 87 pounds, was played down from 10 to 1 to 6 to 1. The time, 2:08¾, for the mile and a quarter, was excellent, as the track was slow.

Coruscate, backed down from 60 to 1 to 30 to 1, won the second race for maiden 2-year-olds. Brunswick, Hermis, Old Hutch and Zoroaster were the winning favorites. GANS KNOCKED M'PARTLAND OUT

THE FINISHING BLOW CAME IN FIFTH ROUND

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUFFALO, Oct. 13.—Joe Gans, the lightweight champion, had no trouble in disposing of Kid McPartland before the international club at Fort Erie, Ont., tonight, knocking the New Yorker out after two minutes and twenty-five seconds of fighting, in the fifth round. The blow that did the business was a left hand hook to the pit of the stomach, the same blow with which McPartland has won many fights. McPartland writhed on the floor while Charlie White counted the 10 seconds, but a few seconds later he was fully recovered.

Gans did not extend himself at any stage, although at times he showed flashes of his speed when the men came to close quarters. He made McPartland do the fighting, contenting himself with blocking and looking for a chance to land one decisive punch. He dropped Mac with a straight right to the jaw in the third round, but the Kid stayed throughout.

McPartland did not land over eight solid blows during the entire time of the bout. Gans smothering most of his leads before they were fairly started. Mac virtually fought himself out in the four full rounds fought.

McPartland was not in the best of condition. Gans was in magnificent shape. Both weighed under 135 pounds. Charlie White was referee. The betting was five to two and three to one on Gans and even money that McPartland would not last eight rounds. The attendance was about 2,000.

In the preliminary Herman Miller, Gans' sparring partner, lost to Warren Zurbrick, an unbeaten local boxer, in seven rounds.

TOURNAMENT OF THE COUNTRY CLUB TODAY

What promises to be the most successful open golf tournament ever known to the local district, will begin this morning at 10 o'clock on the Beechwood boulevard course of the Country club of Pittsburgh. There will be about 70 starters, two additional entries being admitted last night in R. P. Nevin, Jr., the Edgewood crack, and Dr. Chalmers Martin, president of the Pennsylvania College for Women. In the 18 holes of qualifying play today, two sixteens qualify for match play, and a gold medal is offered for the lowest gross score.

The record for the present course is 77 strokes, held by W. C. Fownes, Jr., while the professional record is 68, made by Nichol Thompson.

The first pair in the qualifying round will start at 10 a. m. with 2 minutes intermission between each couple.

A feature of the present tournament is the best representation of out-of-town golfers any local tournament has had in years. For the first time Dr. D. P. Fredericks, the brilliant golfer from Oil City, will take part in a local tournament. The out-of-town entries were all out on the course yesterday. If it does not rain the links will be in fair condition today, and should be in excellent shape before the end of the week. A large shelter tent has been erected for the use of the players.

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday the 18-hole match play rounds will be decided in each sixteen, with the 36-hole final and the 18-hole handicap on Saturday.

WOMAN TERRIBLY BEATEN.

Wife Rendered Unconscious and House Wrecked by Dynamite.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 13.—John Wright made three desperate attempts to kill his wife at Atchison's coke works last night, and is in jail here awaiting the results of her injuries. It is charged he beat her into insensibility with a blackjack.

Mrs. Wright's mother took her daughter to the adjoining house, and shortly after Wright, it is claimed, exploded three sticks of dynamite under the house. The building was wrecked, but none of the inmates was seriously injured. Then Wright, it is alleged, set fire to the premises and was bringing more dynamite when an armed posse overpowered him and rescued his wife. She is dangerously injured.

CONFERENCE OF COACHES.

They Want to Strengthen Cornell for the Indians.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The largest conference of coaches and graduates held on the Cornell field this season was the feature of today's football work. Coaches Reed and Morrison, frightened by the defects revealed last Saturday, sent hurriedly for "Clint" Wyckoff of Buffalo, a famous Cornell quarterback; Davall, one of the coaches of last year's team; Schoellkopf, the star fullback in 1901, and Dr. Pollard, the coach of the University of Rochester team, a well-known Dartmouth player. These men gathered today to canvass thoroughly the work of the Cornell 'varsity and to devise new plays to be used against Carlisle on Saturday and against Princeton a week later.

LUTZ WINS ON FOUL.

Scores Two Knockdowns on Stelzer Before Finish Comes.

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The 15-round boxing contest this evening before the Nonpareil A. C between Buck Stelzer of Columbus, O., and Lawrence Lutz of Beaver Falls, as won by Lutz on a foul, in the final round. Both men fought cautiously all the way through, and with the exception of the fourth and fifteenth rounds the fight was rather tame. Lutz scored two knockdowns.

In the preliminary Jimmy Dunn of New Castle was given the decision over Frank Newman of Rochester, Pa., in the second round of a bout scheduled for six rounds.

Bible School Convention.

The Bible school of the Pittsburgh Baptist association will hold its fall convention today in the Sharpsburg Baptist church. About 50 schools of Pittsburgh and vicinity will be represented.

Offensive even to Myself.—F. A. Bottom, druggist, Cookshire, Que., says: "For twenty years I suffered from catarrh. My breath was very offensive even to myself. I tried everything which promised me a cure. I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. I got relief instantly after first application. It cured me and I am free from all the effects of it."—19.

PENNYPACKER IN COKE REGION

PRAISE FOR HIS STATE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Uniontown, Pa., Oct. 13.—Ex-Judge Pennypacker today and tonight met the miners, coke workers and merchants of Fayette county, and if the warmth of his reception is any indication of the result of the election, Fayette county will be lined up with her usual majority in the Republican column. His reception was a contrast to the frost which ex-Gov. Pattison ran into here.

Democrats, however, are banking on their candidate for congress, O. W. Kennedy, superintendent of the Frick Coke Company, to carry Fayette for their ticket. The congressional district last fall gave the following majorities: Fayette county, 800 Republican; Somerset county, 4,000 Republican; Greene county, 1,200 Democratic, making a Republican majority in the district of about 3,600. Fayette county is a coal mining and coke district, where good wages are made and where the working people are satisfied. Somerset county is a mining and farming district, and Greene county an agricultural district. There is no cause for disaffection, so far as can be learned, and the Democratic expectation, like their reckless claims in other parts of the state, are based on the uncertain foundation of hope.

The Coming Congressman.

Allen F. Cooper, Republican candidate for congress, is a well-known lawyer, popular in the district. Kennedy is not likely to influence the coke workers in his behalf, because of his hostility to labor organizations. He has lived here only since 1895.

There are no idlers here, and by a coincidence of the name of the chairman of tonight's meeting was Works—J. C. Works, a well-known lawyer.

The gubernatorial party arrived at Greensburg, where cars were changed for Uniontown, about 9 o'clock this morning. Judge Pennypacker was met by a delegation of citizens headed by Congressman Huff, Judge Steele, Judge McConnell, ex-Senator Brown, County Secretary Miller, Dennie C. Ogden, Harry F. Bovard, Dr. L. C. Thomas and Sheriff John H. Tresher.

At Scottdale the gubernatorial party was met by the Fayette county reception committee, including County Chairman Henderson, Judge Reppert, J. Q. Van Swearingen, John R. Bryne, George C. Steele, B. F. Boyts, J. V. Thompson, P. Ashburns, Frank H. Rosboro, William McClelland, Frank L. Fuller, W. J. Sturgis, E. S. Showalter, Senatorial Candidate Crow and Representative Candidates Arensberg, Thompson and Davis.

Bird's Eye View of Prosperity.

The big crowd on the streets and in the opera house was swelled by special trains from Brownsville and Connellsville, and Judge Pennypacker, both on his way to the meeting and at the meeting, was received with lively demonstrations.

Judge Pennypacker, in his speech, described his pleasure in viewing from the roof of the tall First National bank building the evidence of prosperity on every side. Those evidences he considered sufficient reason why Mr. Pattison should not be elected. This prosperity, he said, benefits Democrats as well as Republicans, notably Col. Guffey, George F. Baer and William Nolan. He asked how those gentlemen prospered under Mr. Cleveland's administration.

He paid a high tribute to the Pennsylvania soldiers who fought for the preservation of the union, and in closing eulogized Pennsylvania as the grand old state that had done more for the union than any other state and had never faltered in her devotion to the Republican party on a presidential election. Judge Pennypacker was loudly applauded.

Brown Exposes Democratic Trick.

William M. Brown, candidate for lieutenant governor, who was late in arriving on account of the delay caused by freight congestion owing to Republican prosperity, was the next speaker. Mr. Brown spoke of the clear railroad tracks during the Cleveland administration, owing to business prostration and the wrecks of industrial establishments, the wrecks of financial institutions and the wrecks of ruined lives.

Continuing, Mr. Brown said our friends, the Democrats, are telling us we must devote our attention to the narrow issues that they call state issues. They are breathing all kinds of vituperation and abuses against everybody and everything. They are denouncing almost every person who had anything to do with the Republican party.

"I am one of those who believe that all this vituperation and abuse are simply blinds, under which they hope to ride into power," said Mr. Brown. "They know perfectly well that under that cover their history will not be scanned. They know they have not a single issue today to present to the people of Pennsylvania. They know that every issue on which they have been contending in other states has been brought before the people of Pennsylvania and has been condemned by them and for that reason they are afraid to talk about anything at all except to vilify Republicans."

The meeting closed with addresses by ex-District Attorney W. I. Shaffer of Delaware county, Col. Ned Arden Flood of Meadville and Congressional Candidate Cooper, the audience dismissing with three cheers for Pennypacker, Brown and the whole ticket.

The candidates will meet Connellsville people tomorrow night.

Gen. Koontz Withdraws.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Gen. William H. Koontz of Somerset filed a formal withdrawal in the state department today as a candidate for senator in the Thirty-sixth district. Gen. Koontz was the nominee of the Ballot Reform Citizens, Democratic and Union parties, although his Union party nomination papers were rejected by the department. Representative William C. Miller of Bedford is the Republican nominee, and it is believed Gen. Koontz's withdrawal assures his election.

SCHLEY PRAISES AMERICAN SEAMEN

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Winfield Scott Schley were passengers on the Pennsylvania Limited last evening en route for the west. The admiral received a number of newspaper representatives and conversed in a genial manner while the car was being switched to the Panhandle tracks.

He said: "I have the most delightful recollections of my former visit to Pittsburgh, when I was deeply impressed with the great manufacturing industries, the beauty of your residence district and the hospitality of the people.

"Mrs. Schley and myself have been having a most enjoyable time in the Adirondacks and the White mountains and are now bound on a pleasure trip to St. Louis, and Ft. Worth, Galveston and other cities in Texas. We expect the trip to cover several weeks."

In reply to an inquiry he said that, being an officer on the retired list of the navy, he could say nothing in the way of criticism concerning the article on the United States navy by Lieut. Hobson which appeared in the North American Review for October.

"I will say, however," he continued, "that the navy is being enlarged with the finest ships the world can produce. This is not, however, the chief element of national strength, so far as sea defenses are concerned. It is the high standard of individual intelligence on the part of those who are accepted for naval service and their patriotic sentiment. The standard of intelligence and training is higher here than in any other country in the man behind the gun.' Our navy is made up, as Lincoln said, of 'the plain people,' and they are undoubtedly the best, for God made more of them."

TRYING TO DISRUPT OLD ORGANIZATION

Allegations Made That Blowing Machines Will Soon Supplant Many Skilled Laborers.

John L. Denny, president of the new organization of window glass workers, is trying to discourage the men of the old organization from going into the plants, on the ground that the American Window Glass Company is preparing to operate at all plants with the new blowing machines, which will dispense with the services of most blowers and gatherers.

It is generally understood that the machine is a success and that the American Company will have exclusive control of it, but the Pittsburgh factories in many factories before the end of this blast. At Alexandria, Ind., where a plant is equipped with machines, they are operating satisfactorily, but improvements are constantly made, and it is understood that the machine is not yet ready for introduction in all plants.

The ownership in the patents of the machine is controlled by a number of the officials of the company, and the company is to have the exclusive use of the machines, either by paying a royalty or buying the patent rights. By the earlier start of the factories, operating under the Denny-Lubbe scale, some of the men of the old organization were drawn to these factories. The officials of the Burns organization will allow them to come back without penalty. Most of the factories of the American and the Federation Window Glass companies will start today, pulling down their people back to work. The factories have been closed since May 24.

Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary.

The sixtieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. James Dickson and the 80th birthday of Mrs. Dickson was informally celebrated at their home on Neville island yesterday. During the day many old friends of the couple called, including Mrs. David May of Arch street, Allegheny, who was one of the bridesmaids at the Dickson wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Dickson are the oldest and best known couple on the island, and during the day they were the recipients of many hearty congratulations appropriate to the occasion. The old couple have eleven children, 42 grandchildren and 27 great-grandchildren, nearly all of whom live on Neville island.

Thugs in Homestead.

George Marsh of Fifth avenue, Homestead, was the victim of a hold-up early last evening. On McClure street, near Tenth avenue, a man stepped out and with a brick struck Marsh on the head. He fell and another man held him while the first went through his pockets, taking $20. The men escaped. Marsh, who was dazed, made his way home, and later notified the police.

THEATRICALLY, LAST NIGHT WAS INTERESTING

Alvin—The Wilderness.

An audience of fashionable first-nighters gathered at the Alvin theater last evening, drawn thither by the lodestone of the Empire Theater Company, a group of players than which there is hardly a better on our contemporary stage. If there was any disappointment felt last night the blame must fly at the door of Mr. Henry V. Esmond, the young (we suppose he is young) English playwright, who has compounded the particular article usually called a play, that the talented Empire Stock people are using this season. With every desire in the world to do Mr. Esmond justice, and with a full remembrance of the last 10 or 15 minutes of the performance last evening, it is still difficult to call "The Wilderness" a play. The title doesn't signify much. By it we are given to understand that the characters are all a lot of people who are lost in a wilderness of deception and artificiality. They tell lies, they trick and delude one another and many are given in marriage for reasons wholly unworthy and sordid. Incidentally this wilderness is London society of the smart kind in the present day.

A young girl in this wilderness has been taught that to marry well is women's chief aim. She is half in love with a very good fellow. This love affair goes so far as a very passionate kiss and a scene in which the girl is so far forgetful of her training as to hint at marriage. The man, who is a cad, by the way, discourages this view for the reason that they are both penniless. Within the hour this girl becomes engaged to a fine specimen of English nobility, rich and a great catch. He teaches her after marriage a great many things among them how to love a man honestly. In the last act the husband finds a letter written to her lover on the night of the day upon which she became engaged to him. As she has, however, grown so honest under his benign influence as to determine to tell him the whole story herself, his discovery of the letter and her discovery that she really loves her husband, come together in time to give the play its one and only strong situation from a dramatic standpoint.

Mr. Esmond, we are sure, can do better than "The Wilderness." We are sure of it because we have seen his "When We Were Twenty-one." Of this latest effort one word will very nearly cover the entire case from a critical standpoint—invertebrate. "The Wilderness" is almost wholly without dramatic backbone. The first act is talk, talk. The second act is even worse. The characters run around or loll upon the ground and talk. Nor is it specially wise or brilliant talk, either. Mr. Esmond's epigrams lack sparkle. They have the appearance of being shopworn.

If one is patient, however, and will wade through a wilderness of talk to the very end, there is in the last moment a quick, tense scene, when husband and wife come to understand each other. Otherwise "The Wilderness" drags, and all because Mr. Esmond has simply written a lot of clever conversation and thrown it together. There is no dramatic structure anywhere in sight.

When we come to speak of the players we are on much surer and safer ground. Mr. Richman, Miss Anglin and their talented co-players could vitalize a very much "deader" clay than Mr. Esmond's. It is true Mr. Richman is badly handicapped in trying to play an illogical character. A man who is supposed to be a grave and thoughtful student of life at 35, but who is compelled to act like a foolish 18-year-old boy to give color and life to the role. But in those moments where finesse, clever, emotional strength and intelligent perception were needed, Mr. Richman showed his genuine talents and maintained the already high place he holds in the esteem of local playgoers. Miss Anglin was delightful and showed a gift of pleasing comedy in the earlier scenes that even her many admirers were unprepared to see. It was light of touch, but sure and intellectually convincing. Her emotional moments were what they always are—clear compelling. We doubt whether there is any other actress alive today who can get her voice so thoroughly saturated with appealing and sympathetic emotion.

Of the other players Mr. W. H. Crompton, in the part of an irascible uncle of the hero, does a splendid piece of character work. It is so full of human reality as to place it quite alongside of anything else in excellence that the whole performance contains, if indeed, it be not the gem of purest ray serene. Mr. William Courtleigh is a manly actor of great ability. Jack Kennerly is a poor, weak character as Mr. Esmond conceived him, but Mr. Courtleigh invests the role with some of his own superabundant force and manliness. Then there was our dear old friends, Mrs. W. G. Jones, Mrs. Whiffen, E. Y. Backus, who were unfortunately tucked away in roles that only gave them half a chance. Mr. Lowell Sherman played a typical stupid English lord with great skill. The other members of the company, including Miss Honnek, Miss Thurgate, Kate Pattison Selton, Grace Gallagher and the two delightful children, Donald Gallagher and Kittie Bonisce, all measure up to the Empire stock's fine reputation, the children adding a touch of life and innocent talent that was exceedingly refreshing in Mr. Esmond's verbal wilderness.

Grand—"Charley's Aunt."

"Charley's Aunt" is a frolicsome morsel of nonsense. It is English and it isn't English, don't you know. There is such a whirlwind of fun, such constant movement and snap one can hardly understand how it ever happened to appeal to the rather lethargic amusement taste of the Britishers. But it did. Not only was London convulsed for months, but the piece has swung around the globe everywhere with the same result—roars of laughter. And after it is all over you hardly know why you should laugh, for some of the situations and lines are exceedingly idiotic, and if played clumsily, there is constant falling into horse play by the actors to give emphasis to the humor. The Grand stock company is using the farce this week, and, so far as the title part is concerned, using it well. Mr. Abbe repeats his admirable impersonation of last season, while his support is even better. True, Mr. Ingersoll and Mr. Greenleaf, the principal assessories to Abbe's pranks, butchered their lines fearfully yesterday. An altogether inexcusable weakness in this instance for the dialogue of the play is not intricate and is not the sort of stuff that easily admits of improvization in a pinch. But barring this the performance is an intensely amusing entertainment. Mr. Abbe has a certain abandon, a quick appreciation of the ludicrous situation that make him almost ideal in roles like that of "Charley's Aunt." He improvises readily enough, though his easy familiarity with the lines constitute one of the excellencies of his work.

Miss Taylor, Miss Gale, Miss Phillips and Miss Buckley render capable assistance, both by dressing handsomely and tastefully, as well as by graceful acting thoroughly in spirit with the leading part. James Cooper does another good piece of character work as Stephen Spettigue, while Wilton Taylor plays Col. Chesney well. The farce is well staged and constitutes one of the Grand's most amusing efforts.

Mr. Oscar Radin, the energetic young leader of the Grand's orchestra, has again proved his tact and ability in arranging musical programs. One of the best things in this week's bill is "The Pittsburgh Gazette March," played with great skill and enthusiasm.

Bijou, "Foxy Grandpa."

There's no doubt about it. "Foxy Grandpa" is sure to be "It" with the fun hunters this week. They poured into the Bijou last night till every seat was filled. Then they filed into the aisles and stood up around the walls, waiting to get acquainted with the "wise" old man who could make them forget their troubles. And they weren't disappointed. From the time "Foxy Grandpa" smiled his first genial smile until he cut his last antic not one of his audience had time to remember his aches or pains or "dead broke" feelings. It was a case of laugh and laugh again and then repeat the performance.

Foxy Grandpa is no other on the stage than Joseph Hart, who scored a brilliant success in New York theaters in the same performance. He's witty and wise, a remarkably clever actor and brimful of quaint sayings and new "drives" that caught his hearers in a ludicrous attempt to look sober and forced them into a broad grin or a boisterous laugh. "Foxy" is a decidedly unique character, and in his impersonations of a very cunning old man who simply can't be caught by the wiles of his two nimble witted grandsons or the artful schemes of the pretty adventurers that hang on his trail, presents an inimitable example of a real live joke.

Along with "Foxy Grandpa" is the prettiest bevy of chorus girls that has appeared on the Bijou stage for many a day. First of these is Carrie De Mar, who as Polly Bright, Grandpa's protege, is a bewitching and talented specimen of girlish grace. Her bright expression, dainty ways and catchy songs and dances are enough to insure her the cordial support of the most fastidious audience.

Very capable assistants "Grandpa" has in his two grandsons, Chub and Bunn, or George Mack and Bobbie Barry. They have the instinct of first-class funmakers, and in their vain attempt to entrap their older and wiser relative bring out the spirit of boyish devilry in an artful way.

Way back at the Green Mineral Springs, where the fun is supposed to occur, John T. Ray, as Hiram Hopper, the shrewd proprietor, gets a strong hold on his hearers. His type of rural host is not hard to imagine, but the drollery that he infuses into his part is exceedingly hard to imitate and was thoroughly appreciated.

Throughout the play there are frequent snapshots at funny incidents and awkward dilemmas. Good tumbling, a few hits of jugging and some excellent dancing fill in the interims very satisfactorily. The stage effects are prettier than the average, and in their sinuous, bewitching movements under a soft light the line of pretty girls add much by their attractive presence to a performance that is above criticism and replete with animation and interest.

Empire—"A Little Outcast."

Although billed as a comedy drama, "A Little Outcast" is in reality a melodrama. Not one of the blood-curdling, hair-raising sort, but one containing enough thrilling scenes and situations to sustain interest; enough pathos to make you feel a tremor running down your back, and enough native humor to call forth hearty laughter.

The play deals with the wrongs done Paul Weston by George DeVoe in order that the latter could marry Madeline Harcourt, and the rescue of the former by the hero of the piece, Bob, the little newsboy. Weston is employed by William Harcourt, a banker, and is about to become his partner when gold bonds worth a fabulous amount are stolen. Suspicion points to Weston and he is driven from the office, protesting his innocence. Madeline, who returns his affection, declares him innocent, but of no avail. Around this motive the four acts of the play revolve.

Aside from the acting of Cahpbell, Miss Blaneka's impersonation of the slangy newsboy is an excellent piece of work. Miss Blaneka will be remembered as the popular actress at the Avenue and Grand several seasons ago. Mr. Benedict is good as Teddy Forrest, Weston's friend. The part of DeVoe, the villain, was not acted in a satisfactory manner. It was too much of the stagey sort of villain. From the moment he appeared until his final exit one knew exactly the sort of man he was. That kind of a villain is rarely seen in real life.

On the whole, however, the play is one well worth witnessing, and last night's performance assured it a successful week.

Duquesne—J. B. Davis—Vaudeville.

They are a hard and fast working lot of performers at the Duquesne theater this week. Jessie Bartlett Davis is the star attraction, of course. Miss Davis' personal appearance has improved. Her singing of "Because I Love You So" was delightful, as were also her renditions of "Oh, Promise Me" and "Coming Through the Rye." Will H. Murphy and Blanche Nichols have an excellent comic sketch with a sensational conclusion called the "Bifurcated girl." Maud McIntyre presents some high-class musical impersonations, and Swan and Bambard, acrobatic comedians, are master fun-makers in their line. Time has neither improved nor caused deterioration in Lillian Burkhart's playlet, "Love and the Ticker," and the only new things in the acrobatic sketch of Zazel and Vernon is the costumes. Carleton and Terre have a good musical specialty which is decidedly original. If they polish up their monologue they will have an offering of more than usual merit. The World's Trio retain all their old dash and humor. Adele Purvis Onri and the kinetograph conclude the performance. The management of the theater is to be congratulated for having gathered together this week a well-balanced and high-class entertainment.

Avenue—La Neva—Vaudeville.

Everybody enjoyed the vaudeville bill at the Avenue yesterday, with the exception of one of the star performers, La Neva, the celebrated and somewhat sensational toe dancer, uses in her act a little child. When she reached Pittsburgh, according to her manager, the infant member of the combination was missing, so a new baby was borrowed for the occasion. Not being used to having himself carried daintily down a stairway built of upright champagne bottles by a nurse who used only the tips of her toes in performing the act, Master Baby rebelled audibly, and from the expression on his face there seemed to be a general impression among the audience that he was not altogether enjoying himself, nor an act that everybody else applauded roundly. Another item on the varied bill that was greatly enjoyed was the singing of little Harry Smith, the boy soprano, whose local history has been pretty thoroughly recounted. Harry made a hit and a box party in his honor was one of the features of last night's performance. "The Belles and Beaus Octette," Earl and Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Fredell and the Kellys were other features of a good, straight vaudeville bill on the Avenue stage. In the annex theater Dan Harrington, ventriloquist, and Lee Ingham, equilibrist, entertained you while you waited.

Academy—Cracker Jack Burlesquers

Bobby Manchester's famous "Cracker Jacks" opened the week at the Academy to the usual crowded house with an entirely new show. The opening burlesque, "Dr. Munyon Outdone," being full of the ridiculous and built alone for laughing purposes. The vaudeville department, consisting of the Mayo Sisters, who could probably do better; Florisel, a flexible Venus, a very clever female contortionist; Collins and North, the old-style monologue artists; the only Charles and Annie Glocker, whose baton swinging act is without an equal; Kelly and Adams, in an Irish comedy sketch which is very pleasing to a large part of the audience, was concluded by Four Olifans, European eccentricques, whose novel, new and clever act is the real feature of the program. The closing travesty, "Nature," is short, dainty and well worth waiting for. Harvey Parker, the demon wrestler, tried hard to down our local champion, Charles Reinecke, who held his own to the delight of the many Pittsburgh admirers and sent the crowd home satisfied with the whole performance.

N. C. Goodwin in a New Play.

Mr. N. C. Goodwin and Maxine Elliott, who were not seen in Pittsburgh last year, are sure of a cordial welcome when they appear at the Alvin for one week, beginning next Monday, October 20. They bring with them a new play, "On the Altar of Friendship," which has already proven another success of the kind for which Mr. Goodwin is noted. Sale of seats opens Thursday morning.

Duss at Duquesne Garden.

John Duss comes among his own people this week after going in the east and astonishing the musical world with the manner of musician that is reared in Pittsburgh. He played 128 nights in New York, a record unapproached by any other musical organization. He will bring to Pittsburgh with him precisely the same band as that which was with him in New York. There are 60 pieces.

R·I·P·A·N·S

A lady next door had awful spells of indigestion. I insisted on her trying Ripans Tabules and gave her three, which was all I had just then. By noon she had the greatest relief. Her brother told me the other day, when anybody comes to the house and complains of pain, Annie tells them of the Tabules, and she thinks they are worth their weight in gold.

CAMPBELL'S

WHAT DRAPERIES DO.

PINCHING poverty has no use for draperies, neither has crude utilitarianism. Window laces, mantel scarfs, portieres, sofa cushions and piano drapes belong to the aesthetic side of life. They proclaim culture, taste and refinement. The curtains waving at the windows say to the passerby: "This is a home." Portieres break the harsh outlines of the doorways and help convert our interiors into bowers of beauty.

So when you select your new hangings take plenty of time, exercise your best judgment and pay enough to get something good. You will find us ready to meet your wants in this direction—and in some things to meet them for less money than you really expected to pay.

Bobbinet Ruffled Curtains, three yards long, with lace edging and lace insertion, as fine as the kind usually sold for $2.00 pair, our price $1.48 pair.

Nottingham Lace Curtains, buttonhole edge, with plain or figured centers, three and one-half yards long, bought so advantageously that instead of asking $1.50 (their real value), our present price is 98c pair.

Kensington Curtains, with very pretty plain net centers and pronounced borders; not as heavy as cable net, but heavier than Nottingham lace, for $4.98 pair.

Sash Curtain Materials:

Handsome Floor Coverings with Graceful Draperies.

Wilton Velvet Rugs we make a specialty of. Size 56x63 inches, at $5, and guarantee them the best rugs ever put on the floor for the money.

Lowell-Bigelow and Hartford Body Brussels five-frame quality in all this season's newest patterns, including the two-tone reds and greens with high art 18-inch borders for $1.35 a yard.

English Inlaid Linoleum, built up like tiles, the solid colors right through to the back, so they cannot wear off and have a hardwood floor effect, for $1.50 a yard.

Count Every Step In the Stairs as A Nickel Saved When You Go Down To See These.

Ready-Made Sheets—Good muslin sheets, hemmed ready for use, size 72x90, the kind that costs 50c if you buy without looking around. Our price 30c.

Table Covers—Turkey Red Table Covers, in 8-4, 10-4 and 12-4 sizes, colors that won't fade, 75c, $1 and $1.35 lines, for 50c each.

Fiber Bed Blankets—A firm in Detroit conceived the idea of getting out a line of bed coverings in prepared paper, softened and toughened by patented processes, and cloth bound, so they couldn't start to tear. As paper is a non-conductor of cold, they were a practical success—but the people never took to them. We have a few left—made to sell for $1.25—and will close them out for 25c each. Make splendid mattress covers.

Furniture on the Fifth and Sixth Floors where room Doesn't cost much. Excellent Elevators.

The Sideboard is almost a synonym for hospitality. So we believe that every family should have in its dining room the handsomest sideboard it can afford. That is why we carry so large a line, so handsomely carved, in such a variety of styles, and sell them so close to first cost. Here are two cases to the point:

A handsome quartered oak Sidebard in the rich golden finish, exquisitely carved, with large base and new shaped drawers, with one drawer lined for silver. The top is elaborately carved with lions' heads. Your choice of four special styles for $32.50.

Here's another—a very handsome Sideboard, 4 ft. 6 inches long, made of selected quartered oak, hand polished and carved, the newest style front, massive canopy top, shaped columns and claw feet. Cannot be duplicated elsewhere for $55—our price.

Chiffoniers in solid oak, nicely polished, with five large roomy drawers, fancy brass trimmings and French plate mirror on top measuring 12x18 inches. Worth $9. Yours for $6.98.

Fine Bedroom Suite, in selected oak, hand polished and carved. The dresser is 43 inches long, with full swell front and French plate mirror measuring 30x24 inches. Large Washstand with swell front. Lowest price anywhere else, $47.50. Our price, $40.00.

Couches—30 inches wide, with full spring edge, eight rows of deep tufts, guaranteed steel construction, covered in velour. Heavy oak frame and claw feet. Worth $12.50. Who wants one for $8.98?

APPOINTMENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Three New Presiding Elders Named and Ministers Given Charges.

M. E. CONFERENCE ENDED

Business of Final Session Was Rushed in Order That It Might Be Finished Yesterday Morning.

The closing session of the Pittsburgh conference of the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning in the West End church was rendered conspicuous by the appointment of the three new presiding elders and the appointments of the pastors to their charges. Owing to the death of the Rev. Dr. J. A. Ballantyne, presiding elder of the McKeesport district, a number of changes in the appointments had to be made at the last minute.

In the list of presiding elders the Rev. G. W. Terbush of the West End church succeeds the Rev. E. J. Knox as presiding elder of the Allegheny district; the Rev. S. T. Mitchell of the First church, Johnstown, succeeds the Rev. W. P. Turner as presiding elder of the Blairsville district, and the Rev. J. F. Murray succeeds the late Rev. J. A. Ballantyne as presiding elder of the McKeesport district. The Rev. T. N. Boyle remains presiding elder of the Washington district.

Appointments Announced.

The conference session opened at 9 o'clock, Bishop James N. Fitzgerald presiding. The routine business was hurried in order to finish in the morning. The Rev. E. J. Knox, a retiring presiding elder, read a resolution on the death of the Rev. Ballantyne, offering the conference's sympathies to his family. The Rev. Dr. William A. Montgomery, president of Allegheny college, made an address on behalf of that college. At the close of the meeting the bishop announced the appointments. The conference adjourned at noon. The following are appointments in full for the ensuing year:

NEW COMPANY HAS $13,000,000 ORDERS

Standard Steel Car Concern Starts Operations With Long Period of Work Ahead.

The Standard Steel Car Company, which now has its great new plant at Butler in full operation, has just taken contracts for 1,500 cars of 100,000 tons capacity, 1,000 of which are for the Erie railroad and 500 for the Reading. These contracts are in addition to orders for nearly 10,000 cars which this company has taken before. The value of all these contracts runs close to $13,000,000.

The Standard company is now turning out cars at increasing rate almost daily on an order for 1,000 big hopper cars for the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad. By November 1 the output of the plant will reach about 50 cars daily, and this will be gradually increased to 65 cars and more.

The 1,000 cars for the Erie are to be twin-hopper gondolas of 100,000 pounds carrying capacity, and the order is to be fulfilled by spring. The contract for the Reading calls for steel hoppers of the Standard company's own design, also to be delivered by spring.

MEETINGS AT CARNEGIE.

Three Interesting Lectures Will Be Given at the Institute.

Thursday evening Dr. Edwin C. Conklin of the University of Pennsylvania will give his lecture on "The Life of Micro-Organisms" under the auspices of the Academy of Science and Art at the Pittsburgh Carnegie Music hall. The lecture will be illustrated with lantern projections of living microscopic animals.

The first meeting of the photographic section of the academy will be held this evening in the botany room at Carnegie institute. Dr. G. W. Allyn, president of the section, will give demonstrations on "Lantern Slides, How to Make and Color Them."

The pedagogical section of the academy will hold a meeting this evening in the lecture hall at Carnegie. The subject for discussion will be "Imitation and Suggestion in Mental Development."

His Suicide a Mystery.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—(Special)—Walter D. Gubner, a real estate man, committed suicide today in his bathroom by shooting. Mr. Gubner's property is estimated at $250,000. Members of his family say he had no business or family trouble, and the only theory they advance is mental derangement.

RAIN TOOK A HAND.

What promised to be the biggest land sale ever held in the state of Pennsylvania, was checked on last Saturday by a tremendous downpour of rain.

Bright and early last Saturday morning one of the big sections of the excursion trains, chartered to carry an immense turnout of lot purchasers to the new pottery town of Derry, Pa., left East Liverpool, O., taking with it a big portion of that prosperous town's population, and adding big crowds at every town along the line, arriving in Pittsburgh about 10:35. Here it was joined with the main section of the big excursion and when the enlarged train started on its way for the new town, there were 24 coaches in line and conservative estimates place the number of passengers at about 2,000 on this one train alone. Trainmaster Keyser said it was the largest passenger train that ever left the Union depot.

It looked as though there would be a wild scramble for the lots when the train had reached its destination, and that there would hadly be enough sites to go around. However, along about an hour before Derry was reached, the elements opened up in a most disagreeable manner and were still keeping up an awful downpour, when the thousands of homeseekers and investors came to the end of their ride. The rain literally came down in "bucketfuls," and even though some of the more eager buyers tried to push their way through the beating sheets in order to get first pick of the lots, they were soon forced to return to the shelter of the cars.

When the Johnstown and Indiana sections of the excursion arrived there were approximately 4,000 people on the scene, all waiting for even a slight cessation of the downpour to get on the property. But the rain continued. Jupiter Pluvius was out "to do his darndest," as one of the excursionists expressed it, and kept it up without a moment's recess, until the excursion train, according to schedule, had started on its homeward journey.

On this account there was practically no sale. It would have been taking one's health into one's hands to take the awful drenching a trip over to the property would have resulted in. While there were hundreds of umbrellas on hand, these were of no account at all, such was the fierceness of the cloudy onslaught. Mr. Henry Haas of Haas & Lauinger, representing the Derry Land Company, promoters of the sale, went through the trains advising passengers not even to think of attempting to defy the elements, and in some instances, where the purchasing enthusiasm was above the normal, and men were for rushing out into the downpour whether or not, Mr. Haas had to use unusual suasion to make them keep their places on the trains, telling them that they must think of their wives and children, a great many of whom were on the excursion. When the promoters of the sale realized that they were up against a circumstance that could not be overcome by any possible means, they turned their attention to the comfort of the passengers. Every courtesy was shown, lunch was served to every man, woman and child on the trains, and the best was made of the disappointment in every possible way.

Half of the 96 salesmen did not leave the trains.

TICKET BROKERS LOSE TEST SUIT

VIOLATION OF CONTRACT

Non-Transferrable Agreement on Back of Each Pass Signed by Purchaser—Defendant's Plea That Railroads Are in Combine

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—A decision of importance to ticket scalpers and railroad passenger business was delivered today by Justice Hagner of the equity court of the District of Columbia, who permanently enjoined 33 ticket brokers from selling Grand Army special excursion tickets issued by the Pennsylvania, Southern, Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio railroads.

The defense of the brokers was that they were pursuing a legal licensed brokerage business and that the railroads, in combining for the establishment of a joint ticket agency here during the encampment for the vising of return tickets, violated the Sherman anti-trust law.

The court held that the tickets sold by the railroads on account of the encampment bore contracts signed by the purchasers in the presence of a witness and were absolutely void when used by any other than the original purchasers. The tickets distinctly read that any one except the original purchasers attempting to use them would be subject to prosecution for forgery. The contract signed by the original purchaser is absolute, according to the court, and any violation of it constitutes fraud, on which the suit at bar for the injunction properly was based.

As to the claim of the defendants that the railroads violated the anti-trust law, the court held that the joint ticket agency could not be considered in that light, as the agency had nothing to do with the fixing of rates. Futher, the defendants had shown that they were violating the law, and could not press as a defense the violation of a law by another party.

The brokers gained another day's delay by the fact that none of the bonds presented by the railroad companies was executed properly when offered this afternoon, and the brokers claim that the delay so caused will permit them to sell off the tickets remaining unsold. The decision affects only special excursion tickets, non-transferrable and bearing signed contracts.

POSTAL MATTERS.

Pennsylvania Department Clerk Promoted—Scott Haven Postmaster.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Assistant Postmaster General Wynne this afternoon announced the promotion of W. S. Nicholson of Pennsylvania as appointment clerk of the post-office department, vice J. D. Robinson, transferred to legal work in the department. Mr. Nicholson has been employed heretofore in the salary and allowance division.

James H. McIntyre has been appointed postmaster at Scott Haven, Westmoreland county, vice John Johns, resigned.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Taylor today approved of the purchase of additional land upon which to erect the extension of the public building at Youngstown, O. Congress appropriated $14,000, and the owners have agreed to accept that amount.

CAPITAL CARNEGIE LIBRARY.

Time for Building Dedication to Be Fixed to Suit Donor.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The $350,000 Carnegie building for the Washington public library in Mt. Vernon square is slowly approaching completion. The board of trustees, of which Theodore Noyes is president, will decide upon the time for holding the dedicatory exercises. The time will be selected to suit the convenience of Andrew Carnegie, who is expected in the United States next month, and who will be asked to be present.

The trustees hope to receive several additions to the library before it is opened to the public in the new building.

Coal Advanced in London.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—On the London coal exchange this afternoon prices advanced 25 cents per ton. Americans are said to be inquiring for coal in Scotland and Yorkshire, where there are larger supplies.

Pittsburgh Friends Give Token of Esteem to Charles W. Bassett

Charles W. Bassett, general passenger agent of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, at Baltimore, was yesterday presented with a loving cup by the Pittsburgh passenger committee. A special meeting was held in the Duquesne hotel for the presentation. The gift is an evidence of gratification felt by the local passenger men over the recent promotion of Mr. Bassett.

The cup is of silver, artistically engraved and bearing appropriate inscriptions. On one side is inscribed: "To Mr. Charles W. Bassett, from the Pittsburgh passenger committee, July 1, 1902," and on the other side the names of the committee members. Mr. Bassett was formerly a member of the local committee and at one time served as chairman. The exercises yesterday were short, but interesting. Coal Thomas E. Watt, district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, made a brief impromptu speech, proceeding the offering of the cup, and the following resolutions were passed:

"Whereas, The management of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company has wisely seen fit to advance to the position of general passenger agent of its lines, one who formerly rendered very efficient service to this committee and who has faithfully acted as its chairman for a series of years.

"Resolved, That we extent to Charles W. Bassett our most sincert congratulation on his well deserved advancement, with the sincere hope that this may only be a stepping stone to still further promotion."

Mr. Bassett accepted the token in a brief address of thanks.

MORE ENGINES ORDERED.

Lake Erie & Bessemer Have a Share in Heavy Equipment Purchases.

Orders placed last week with the American Locomotive Company and the Baldwin works indicate the persistent demand of the railroads for additional motive power. The total number of engines ordered during the week was 196, of which the American locomotive works secured 137 and the Baldwin company 27. The Bessemer & Lake Erie ordered from the American works 10 consolidation freight engines for delivery in May. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie placed an order with the same company for 25 consolidation freight engines.

Officials of the Pittsburgh lines still complain of a shortage of motive power as the cause of freight congestion. Orders have been given by all the roads for additional engines, but on account of the pressure of business at the works, the machines will not be delivered before May.

No Smoking in Sleepers.

Library-smoking cars will soon become a permanent fixture on the through trains of the Pennsylvania system. Three cars of this description were recently constructed for the Pennsylvania by the Pullman compny, and it is now said that another contract will be given. The cars are built with a smoking compartment on each end, one for Pullman passengers and the other for coach passengers. In the middle is a buffet. These cars cost $15,000, and are acknowledged to be the most complete in equipment ever built by the Pullman company.

To Prevent Congestion.

Freight officials of the Baltimore & Ohio have been summoned to Baltimore today for a general conference on the freight situation on all parts of the system. L. R. Brockenbrough, general freiht agent in Pittsburgh, will represent this city. It is intended to arrange some method by which freight may be more properly handled during the winter. The increase in the coal shipments has materially complicated matters on the Baltimore & Ohio.

Roberts to Head Wabash Line.

Reports reached local railroad circles yesterday afternoon that D. I. Roberts, vice president of the Little Kanawha, is to be made president of the Marietta, Columbus & Cleveland, in addition to his present duties. The report has it that President J. T. Blair is soon to retire. Both roads are a part of the Wabash system. Roberts is well known in Pittsburgh through his recent association with the Erie railroad.

Two P. R. R. Excursions.

Announcement was made of two special excursions on the lines of the Pennsylvania railroad to Rhododendron park on October 18, special train will leave the Union station at 8:05 a. m., and returning will leave the park at 5 p. m., on November 5 the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley will run an excursion from points on the low grade division to see the chysanthemum show at Schenley park.

Railroad Notes.

Ticket Agent McAdoo of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, is at work after a two months' illness.

D. E. Crawford, superintendent of motive power on the Fort Wayne, was in town yesterday on business.

N. P. Ramsey, president of the Pittsburgh, Toledo & Western, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

H. McReynolds, freight agent of the Pennsylvania lines at Cincinnati, has resigned. A. L. Robinett will succeed him.

L. A. Robison, general passenger agent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, has gone to Portland, Me., to attend the annual meeting of the General Passenger Agents' association.

The earnings of the Wabash for the first week in October amounted to $430,291.40, increase $34,126.46 over the same period of last year. Since the beginning of the fiscal year July 1, the earnings are $5,896,478.17, increase $890,268.63.

SUPREME COURT OPENS SESSION

STURGEON IS A PARTNER

Owners of Apello Oil & Gas Company Must Give Him One-Fifth Interest—Many Decisions Are Rendered.

The October term of the supreme court opened yesterday, when a large number of opinions were handed down. There was only one from Allegheny county. About 200 lawyers were admitted to practice.

The appeal cases from the counties of Armstrong, Cambria, Clarion, Forest, Jefferson, Mercer, Somerset and Venango were called for argument.

The most important opinion handed down was in the contest over the will of Mrs. Letitia Robinson of Delaware county, involving $100,000 worth of property, much of which is in Allegheny. The decedent left the bulk of her estate to her son, ex-Congressman John B. Robinson, and the will was contested by the grandchildren of the testatrix.

Ex-Congressman Loses.

Justice Mitchell wrote a dissenting opinion.

The only Allegheny county case in which an opinion was handed down was that of George A. Sturgeon against the Apollo Oil and Gas Company. Justice Dean affirms the decree of the lower courts for the plaintiff.

Sturgeon, S. W. Vandersal and L. T. Yoder formed the defendant company, which had a capital stock of $1,000. The partnership was sold five years later for $50,000. Yoder and Vandersal requested to share with Sturgeon.

Sturgeon Gets One-Fifth.

He sued for one-fifth interest and a like part of unexpended balances. It was asserted that Sturgeon was only made a partner because the law requires not less than three to join the original articles of the association. Justice Dean says that on the face of the papers Sturgeon was clearly a partner and that he was entitled to a one-fifth interest.

But three cases were argued yesterday. One was the appeal of Albert West from a verdict of the Delaware county court in convicting him of murder in the first degree in killing Addie Ballard, a young girl at Chester.

Another was the appeal of Samuel Greason from a decision of the Berks county court in finding him guilty of murder in the first degree for the killing of John Edwards at Stouchsburg.

The third was the appeal of Charles Grether. He was convicted of murder in the first degree by the Monroe county court, for the killing of Adam Strunk, at Marshall Creek.

NEW FLANNAGAN HEIR.

Alleged Cousin of the Wealthy Blacksmith Turns Up.

Another claimant for the valuable estate of Michael Flannagan, the Lawrenceville blacksmith, appeared in orphan's court. He is Patrick F. Flannagan of Portsmouth, O., who claims to be a cousin. His petition was filed yesterday. He says that when Michael Flannagan came to this country he met him at Mt. Savage, Md. Michael Flannagan was introduced to the claimant, the latter says as his cousin, and the two always claimed the relationship.

The following decrees in distribution were made: Estate of Hester J. Murtland, $30,331; Charles S. Fetterman, $65,-264; Anna M. Fetterman, $2,474.

SAW SANDERS SHOOT.

Brother of Murdered Man Testifies Against an Accused Mulatto.

"Buck" Sanders, a mulatto, was on trial yesterday charged with the murder of John Markoff, who lived at Boreland station, on June 15. Several witnesses testified they saw Sanders fire three times at Markoff, and saw the latter fall. Among the prosecution's witnesses who saw the shooting was a brother of the murdered man.

The defense set up was that several shots had been fired by other persons, and that a man named Walker probably killed Markoff.

Today's Trial Lists.

Criminal court—Commonwealth vs. T. Charles Stevenson, John Kroucheuitt, Stanl Anefuski, Larry Glenn, James O. Fisher, Louis Braun, Minnie Lagoske, Annie Bee Reason, Henry Schubert, Thomas P. No Profits Realized.

An answer was filed in the equity suit of Milton D. Hays against W. C. Jutte for an accounting. The plaintiff alleges the defendant employed him to obtain options on stock of the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon Railroad Company for $10 a share. For this service, Hays alleged, he was to receive $100 a month and 25 per cent of the profits on the sale of the stock. Jutte admits that he made no accounting for the reason no profits were realized.

McKinleys Deny Charges.

In the suit of the First National bank of Pittsburgh against the McKinley Coal Company, growing out of an alleged indebtedness, an answer was filed yesterday. It is denied that the stockholders of the McKinley Coal Company, upon receipt of the stock and bonds from the Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company, for its interest, distributed the stock among themselves without making provision for the indebtedness of the plaintiff.

George S. Edgar Loses.

Judge Frazer, in the divorce case of Charlotte E. Edgar against George S. Edgar, which has long been pending, confirms the report of the master, which recommends that a decree be granted and Edgar pay his wife $25 a week alimony. An appeal will be taken to the supreme court.

Two Found Guilty.

The jury in the cases against Charles W. Tammany, Jacob Greene and Joseph Rubinsky, tried in United States district court last week, found Tammany and Green guilty of the four indictments against them for using the United States mails fraudulently, and acquitting Rubinsky.

STOCKS OPENED WEAK, BUT CLOSED BUOYANT

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Up to the close of business hours yesterday Wall street had no definite information as to any decided change in the coal strike situation. Late in the day, however, there were numerous rumors of a settlement, and, reading the course of events from start to finish, the stock market acted precisely as it might be expected to do in discounting the event. At the opening the tone was very weak and the liquidation heavy, the sales to noon exceeding a half million shares. The greatest declines were those shares which have been the favorites of various pools and bull cliques, but nothing escaped the declining tendency. Four leading stocks sold down to the lowest prices of the year, these being New York Central, which sold at 149¾, Delaware & Hudson at 162½, Metropolitan at 135, and General Electric at 170. United States Steel preferred sold down to its previous low point of 87½. To be sure, there was enough in the condition of the money market, as disclosed by Saturday's bank statement, and in the attitude of the banks toward speculators, to warrant a resumption of liquidation; but if the strike were really settled and the news being held back, it would be in consonance with similar movements in the past to make the situation look as dark as possible before official announcement of the settlement. By noon the pressure on the market was relaxed, and a slow but steady recovery set in, which became more pronounced in the final half hour, and the market closed active and buoyant, the sales for the day exceeding a million shares. In a number of instances the early losses were not only wiped out, but prices closed above Saturday's final bids.

Call money rates ranged between 20 and 6 per cent, the higher rate being touched in the morning and the lower at the close. The bulk of the loans commanded from 12 to 18 per cent, and it was noted that some of the best houses in the street were compelled to renew loans at these figures. The conviction is gradually forcing itself upon the public that the present condition of the market is real, not artificial, and that calling loans and forcing liquidation in the stock market is the only recourse remaining to the banks to strengthen their position. Since the middle of last August they have lost more than $88,000,000 in deposits, while within the same period loans have been reduced only $57,000,000. One of the favorable incidents yesterday was a decline of a half cent in sterling exchange, but the latter is still above the gold-importing level. About $3,000,000 gold which arrived Saturday was received by the banks yesterday, and $1,500,000 more is on the way from Australia, which will arrive within the next two weeks, but as an offset, time loans negotiated abroad are falling due, and the latest information regarding the treatment of these loans is that foreign lenders are insisting upon current call rates for renewal from day to day. The best opinion is that there will be a firm money market to the end of the year, and that a revival of bull speculation in the stock market would only result in adding to the stringency.

The bulletin of the bureau of statistics, covering the exports of domestic products for September, the figures being corrected to October 10—makes a favorable showing that is particularly interesting at this time. For the first month this year exports of breadstuffs show an increase over the corresponding month last year, and this same is true of the total exports of the four principal articles of domestic products. The most important change, however, was in cotton, the value of which was $20,530,815, as compared with less than $6,500,000 for August and $16,400,000 for September last year. Ordinarily we depend upon cotton exports to turn the foreign exchange market in our favor and bring imports of gold at a time to supply the drain caused by shipments of currency to move crops. The figures show that this cotton movement is now of greater volume than at any corresponding time in four years past. That gold imports have not followed is because of the fact that earlier in the year Wall street was a large borrower abroad, and also because foreign banks have raised their rate of discount. The value of our exports of domestic products for the nine months of the calendar year is $483,472,-741, compared with $457,000,000 for the like period of 1901. It is not within the range of probability that the total for the full year will reach last year's figures, but it is gratifying to note the large increase in both cotton and breadstuffs for the past month.

In Pittsburgh the stock market was under slight pressure of liquidation induced by tight money and by sympathy with the course of prices in the east. In only one instance, however, did the decline thus set in motion exceed a dollar a share, and in the majority of cases the losses were only fractional. Philadelphia Company sold down to 47, a loss of 1% compared with the last previous sale. Manufacturers' Light and Heat fell on the other hand, sold at 89½, an advance of ¾, and Wheeling Gas advanced to 73 bid, the highest ever quoted on the present capitalization. The steel stocks were moderately active and weak in the early dealings, but later rallied from the low point and closed steadier. Crucible Steel common sold at 21¾, declined to 21¼ and recovered to 21⅝, while the preferred declined to 85, selling at 85¼ at the close. The annual meeting of the company will be held tomorrow, and while there has been no guide in the shape of quarterly reports to foreshadow the showing for the year, the general expectation is that the latter will be an improvement on the previous year, when about 7 per cent was earned on the stock. The coal shares were dull and only fractionally changed. River Coal did not respond to the fact that the company was enabled through the unexpected rise in the river to make a large shipment to market, but this was due to the fact that general market conditions were not favorable, rather than a lack of appreciation of the importance of the event. Pittsburgh Coal common closed ¾ lower, while the preferred was steady and unchanged at 91½. Window Glass declined to 50, but later recovered a portion of the loss and closed ¾ off. Westinghouse Electric declined to 104, but later rallied to 104½ and closed firm. At Friday's bid and asked quotations all the Pittsburgh Brewing stocks at the extent of 200 shares at the uniform price of 125. Colonial Trust opened 5 lower at 615 and sold off to 608, a net loss of 12 for the day. Real Estate Trust declined to 305, but rallied to 307 bid at the close. There was no change of note in the remainder of the list.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

A prominent local railroad man of long experience yesterday expressed the opinion that the first six months of next year would witness the largest tonnage ever carried by the railroads of the country. The coal markets of the country are bare of supplies, and a resumption of mining operations in the anthracite region will tax the capacity of the coal roads to handle the output. On top of this will come the grain movement, which will be larger this year than ever before, because the average of all crops are larger. Then the roads at present are unable to handle the coke, iron and steel business offering, and the importation of iron and steel prove that there is no falling off in domestic consumption. All the signs, he said, point to continued activity, and the railroads are making the most strenuous exertions to obtain the rolling stock necessary to handle the business, in some instances paying handsome premiums for every day gained over contract stipulations in turning out cars and motive power.

From 10 to 2 o'clock today the Keystone bank officers and directors will greet the public in their new banking room and building on Fourth avenue, the occasion being the formal opening of the handsome structure.

An officer of the company is authority for the statement that the earnings of the River Coal Company for nine months of this year will equal the total for the 12 months of the last fiscal year. The shipment of several million bushels yesterday on the unexpected rise in the river enables the company to get the coal to market at a time when the demand is most urgent and prices above the average obtained since the organization of the company. It is also operating its railroad mines to their fullest capacity, shipping the product both east and west.

James Kifer, who is endeavoring to obtain an option on two-thirds of the stock of the Exchange National bank at $116 a share, stated last night that large deposits were being made with the Colonial Trust Company under the terms of his latest circular, and he was confident that before November 2, the date set for exercising the option, the requisite number of shares would be deposited.

The initial public sales of Standard Security Trust were made yesterday at 175. Carothers & Co. to Lytle & Davis.

General Electric yesterday dropped 7 points to 170, the lowest price of the year, but subsequently recovered to 175. Westinghouse Electric probably declined in sympathy, although its loss was insignificant by comparison.

A settlement of the anthracite coal strike would have a good sentimental effect, particularly abroad, where too much weight has been given radical utterances of the labor connection with the strike; but it would have little or no effect in easing up money. On the contrary, the natural tendency would be to create an additional demand for money in the anthracite region.

Sharon Steel was quoted on the local board yesterday at 160 bid, 190 asked.

Mr. John DeM. Wertz of the Peoples National bank will address the Pittsburgh chapter of the American Institute of Bank Clerks at their regular meeting this evening. His subject is "The Correspondence Department."

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the United Traction Company was held yesterday. The board of directors was elected as follows: James D. Callery, James H. Reed, M. K. McMullin, Patrick Calhoun and H. J. Dowdoin.

The controller of the currency has announced the following selections of new officers by national banks: The Peoples national bank of McDonald, Pa., R. N. Tannehill, assistant cashier, vice W. S. Wolcott; the First national bank of Gallitzin, Pa., G. F. McDonald, vice president, and H. S. Smith, cashier, vice Peter Gurwald; the First national bank of Hawley, Pa., H. A. Plum, vice president; the First national bank of Stoystown, Pa., F. M. Kelley, president, vice R. B. Hubbard.

The comptroller of the currency has approved of the selection of the Federal national bank of Pittsburgh as a reserve agent for the First national bank of Etna, Pa.

Dividends Declared.

The Pittsburgh Malleable Iron Company has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent.

The board of directors of Great Northern has declared the usual dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, payable November 1.

The Portland Gold Mining Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 3 cents per share after a suspension of six months. The disbursement is payable October 15, amounting to $90,000. The Portland Company has distributed in dividends $3,500,000 in the last seven years.

The Central District and Printing Telegraph Company has declared its regular dividend of 2 per cent, payable October 31.

The Chesapeake & Ohio has declared its regular dividend of 1 per cent, payable November 26.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A Pittsburgh syndicate, headed by Dr. John D. Potter, has bought the reduction works at San Jose del Sitio, Chihuahua, Mexico, and has organized the San Jose Mining and Milling and Railroad Company to transport ores to the plant.

Another large body of low-grade ore has been opened in the Pilot Knob at Ely, Nev., and at a depth of 300 feet in the Ridth'a large volume of ore has been uncovered that averages 3.6 per cent copper, $4 gold and 3 ounces silver.

A new strike is reported in an old claim in Pine Grove district, a three-foot vein of free milling ore running $40 to the ton having been discovered.

One of the richest strikes ever made in White Pine county, Nev., is announced, in the Rococo-Homestake, where a vein eight feet high and four feet wide has been exposed. Assays ran $60 in gold, silver and lead.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The demand today has not changed to any extent in character, a considerable business passing in staple and fancy cottons. Tone and prices firm. RALLY COMES AT CLOSE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 13.—The violent and almost uncontested break in prices of stocks this morning and a practically complete recovery this afternoon is the history of today's market. The closing prices showed a sprinkling of net gains amongst some of the most important stocks on the list, reaching a point in Reading and Ontario & Western. At one period before noon there were ragged declines of all the way from 1 to 12 points from Saturday's level, many of the leading speculative stocks having lost 3 to 4 points in the two hours of trading. The sentiment in the street seemed mixed before the opening between the contending influences of the reports that a settlement of the coal strike had been arranged and the admonition contained in the Saturday bank statement that there must be further contractions of loans placed in the stock market. The latter influence swept away all other considerations and with the exception of a momentary rally after the opening, due to the taking of bear profits by Saturday's short sellers, the market pursued a steady downward course under a continuous stream of liquidation.

It was evident that further selling out on the part of some of the large speculative pools was going on, presumably under pressure of the demand from money lenders for repayment of loans. When the liquidation first showed signs of decreasing the bears caused a sharp rally by covering of shorts, after which the market lay sluggish and neglected for an hour. The speculative sentiment then yielded to the influence of the hopeful feeling that the industrious consultings and activities of the financial and operating powers of the great anthracite companies would lead to substantial results in the settlement of the coal strike. Reports received over Sunday of the receipt of several small parcels of gold from Europe and of an expected arrival within two weeks at San Francisco of $1,000,000 additional Australian gold were powerless to effect the depressing influence of the bank statement.

Money went to 18 per cent soon after the opening. Sterling exchange broke sharply, but discounts in London responded with an advance. The coming week's syndicate requirements, which foot up some $50,000,000, were considered formidable in view of the money situation. These include another $17,000,000 payment on the purchase of control of Louisville & Nashville, $21,000,000 on account of new Baltimore & Ohio stocks and $12,000,000 on account of Pennsylvania 3½ per cent convertible warrants. The market closed with the rally in full force and prices at the top levels.

Bonds weakened and recovered in sympathy with stocks. Total sales, par value, $4,645,000. United States new and old 4s declined ¼ per cent each on the last call.

IN THE OIL FIELDS

In the Folsom district, across the Wetzel county line in the northwest corner of Harrison county, W. Va., the South Penn Oil Company's test well on the W. R. Hall farm has increased its production to 285 barrels a day and is the largest producer on that side of the developments.

In the Pine Grove district the South Penn Oil Company has completed and shot its test well on the Mary E. Greathouse farm and has a 10-barrel pumper in the Gordon.

In the same district L. S. Hoyt & Co. have completed and shot Nos. 67, 68 and 69 on the L. S. Hoyt farm and has three producers good for 90, 45 and 40 barrels a day.

In the Big Flint district, Tyler county, the South Penn Company has shot its old No. 1 on the David Haught farm and increased its production to 125 barrels a day.

In the Shirley district, Doddridge county, Ingham & Elder have drilled in their test well on the Margaret Cole farm and have a 35 or 40-barrel producer in the Big Injun.

In the lower end of the Folsom district, Wetzel county, the South Penn has drilled in its No. 26 on the Genine Robinson tract and the well produced 90 barrels the first 24 hours.

Van Grass run a few of the old producers show good staying qualities. VanWormer & Parks' Nos. 2 and 3 are holding up at 200 barrels a day, and the United States Oil & Coal Company's No. 2 on a part of the same farm, 100 barrels, and the Associated Producers Company's No. 2 on the S. I. Ritter farm, 110 barrels a day, respectively.

Light Well on Big Knot.

In the Keener sand development on Big Knot run, Ritchie county, the Drillers Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the George Ryan farm and has a natural producer good for 25 barrels a day. The location is 500 feet in advance and to the north of No. 1 on the same farm. There are now 14 wells in the list of large producers having an aggregate production of 1,740 barrels a day, divided as follows: Mellery Bros. & Co., 6 wells, 700 barrels; Three Jees Oil Company, 5 wells, 350 barrels; Hall, Browse & Zahnlser, 2 wells, 250 barrels, and Drillers Oil Company, one well, 100 barrels.

In point of gushers the Wolf Pen Run district is now ahead of the Big Knot run country. Of 1,740 barrels a day, divided as follows: the Dora Arnett farm, is holding up at 480 barrels, and No. 2 at 25 barrels a day. The Cleveland & Parkersburg Oil Company's No. 5 on the Thomas E. Dye farm is still producing 450 barrels a day.

Southeastern Ohio.

On the Ohio side in the Macksburg field in Washington county, W. C. Patterson & Co. have the same kind of a producer at No. 7 on the James Jackson farm.

In the Turkeyfoot extension, Beaver county, Pa., the Unity Oil Company has completed No. 15 on the R. Freshwater farm and has a 15-barrel pumper. In the new development between Georgetown and Hookstown, in the same county, Mellon, Phillips & Company's No. 2 on the J. F. Swearinger farm and has a duster.

LARGE RECEIPTS STOPS BIG RISE

WHEAT CLOSES FIRM

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Wet weather and higher cables caused a strong opening in grains on the board of trade today, and after a slight decline wheat closed firm, December up ⅛@¼c. December corn closed ¼c lower and oats ¼@⅜c lower. January provisions closed unchanged to 2½c lower.

General rains during the past 48 hours, together with higher cables, started wheat higher today, but large receipts in the northwest, with predictions of better weather caused considerable selling early by commission houses and the market weakened materially. Local sentiment, however, was bullish and offerings were well taken. In the latter part of the day prices advanced again on a good demand with limited offerings. Poor grading, fair cash demand and a small increase in the visible were the sustaining factors.

Fluctuation of December.

December opened ⅝c to ¾c higher at 71⅛c to 71¼c, sold to 70⅝c, but rallied to 71½c. Another reaction followed, but the close was ⅛@¼c higher at 70⅞@71c. Primary receipts were 1,756,000 bushels, compared with 1,124,00 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 1,335 cars, which, with local receipts of 117 cars, 1 of contract grade, made a total receipt for the three points of 1,452, cars, against 1,088 cars last week and 821 cars a year ago.

Corn opened strong on wet weather and higher cables. The feature to trade was the unloading of a long line by a prominent trader, it being reported that over a million bushels were disposed of. The market weakened, but later most of the loss was regarded on buying by locals and commission houses. December sold between 48⅝c and 48¼c and the close was steady, ¼c lower at 47⅛@47⅝c. Local receipts were 292 cars, with 63 of contract grade.

Oats Fall on Selling.

Oats opened strong with corn, but on commission house selling, principally by a prominent long, and with weakness in corn prices tended lower. There was a fair trade throughout the day. The close was easy with December down ¼@⅝c at 31¼c, after selling between 31c and 31⅝c. Local receipts were 195 cars.

Provisions were traded in moderately and opening prices were higher, influenced by moderate receipts of hogs and higher prices at the yards. At the advance there was some realizing which caused a slight decline, but the market held about steady. January pork closed 2½c lower at $15.67½. January lard unchanged at $8.97½, and ribs unchanged at $8.50.

Cattle.

There was a very considerable falling off in cattle receipts at the Central stock yards today, as compared with last Monday, only 70 carloads arriving this morning. Such light receipts, of course, made the market very active, a noticeable increase being made in prices, which ruled about 10 cents higher than they did a week ago, while the advance was even greater compared with the two or three latter days of last week.

Choice, 1,400 to 1,600 lbs, prime, $6 90@7 10; prime, 1,200 to 1,400 lbs, $6 25@6 75; good, 1,000 to 1,200 lbs, $5 60@5 75; tidy, 1,000 to 1,150 lbs, $4 75@5 25; fair, 900 to 1,000 lbs, $3 75@4 25; common, 900 to 800 lbs, $3 00@3 50; heifers, 700 to 1,100 lbs, $3 00@5 00; cows, bulls and stags, $2 10@4 75; good fresh cows, $40 00@55 00; common to fair, $20 00@35 00.

Hogs.

Hog receipts were here than those of the corresponding day last week, 35 double decks reaching the East Liberty yards. Demand was active, however, and prices are higher than they were at the close of the week, though still nearly 10c below the figures ruling last Monday, since which time there has been a very sharp decline.

Prime heavies, $7 45@7 50; best mediums, $7 25@7 40; best heavy Yorkers, $7 20@7 30; light Yorkers, $7 00@7 10; pigs, $6 80@7 00; roughs, $6 00@7 25.

Sheep and Lambs.

Twenty carloads of sheep and lambs arrived in the Central stock yards this morning, two loads more than were received last Monday. Prices were unchanged, the market just about holding its own. Veal calves are slightly lower.

Best wethers, 95 to 100 lbs, $3 75@4 00; good, 85 to 90 lbs, $3 40@3 65; mixed, 75 to 80 lbs, $2 75@3 25; culls and common, $1 50@2 60; choice lambs, $5 50@5 75; common to good, $4 00@5 25; veal calves, $7 50@8 00; heavy and thin, $4 00@5 00.

TOWBOATS DEPART ON A RAPID RISE

High winds and a swift current yesterday interfered with the movement of the towboats on the Ohio river and the boats were slow in getting started for the south. The current in the Ohio was very strong because the rise came as a wave and the water flower rapidly, as there was no water in the lower rivers to counteract it. The highest stage reached was 9.3 at Davis Island dam, which is good large water. The rivers also commenced to fall rapidly and it was the opinion of most rivermen last night that the boats would have to get out before daylight this morning if they expected to take advantage of the water.

Towboats departed in the following order with tows: Charley Hook, 5 barges, Joseph Walton, 12 barges; J. C. Richer, 10 barges; John Cook, 13 barges; Tom Rees, 13 barges; Tom Lysle, 5 barges; Fred Wilson, 17 barges; P. M. Pfeil, 10 barges; Mariner, 12 barges; Gleaner, 12 barges; John A. Wood, 7 barges, 7 light coal boats; Iron Age, 14 barges; James Moren, 7 barges, 6 light boats, 1 model barge of iron; Ironsides, 12 barges; Stella Moren, 4 boats; G. W. Thomas, 5 boats; Jim Brown, 8 barges; Harvester, 2 barges, Jo Boats; R. L. Aubrey, 8 barges; Sam Brown, 12 barges; Jack Frost, 7 barges; Charles Brown, 10 barges; Nellie Walton, 10 barges. The total run of coal will amount to probably 7,000,000 bushels.

When the various towboats owned by the different coal companies leave Bellaire, their coal tows will be made up as follows: C. Jutte & Co. towboats, Gleaner, 22 barges; G. W. Thomas, 14 barges; Jack Frost, 14 barges.

A. R. Budd Coal Company, Harvester, 17 barges.

Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company send the following: Mariner, Joseph Walton, Fred Wilson, Josh Cook, Ed Roberts, Ironsides, John Moren, each with 17 barges; Iron Age, 22 barges; Charles Brown, 22 barges; James Moren, 12 barges, 7 light boats; John A. Wood, 17 light boats, and Pacific, B. D. Wood, Tom Rees, each with 17 barges; Sam Clarke, 22 barges.

News of the Rivers.

Capt. D. L. McDonald, Jr., is making a trip on the towboat Voyager.

The towboat Hunter No. 2 is bringing out a tow of coal from the fifth pool for the Clyde Coal Co.

Capt. William Stewart has been assigned to the command of the towboat Jack Frost, owned by Capt. Thomas Hall.

The Tom Dodsworth has changed somewhat in appearance. Her roof has been extended back to the stern bulkhead.

The Lorena will arrive from Zanesville Friday, and the Greenwood will also arrive the day to enter the Charleston trade.

Capt. Holmes Harger, Sr., expects to take command of the Lookout or the Eleanor today. The Clyde One of these boats will probably both will go south.

W. N. Gordon expected to go down the Ohio river last night to look at a steamer with a view of purchasing it for the shoal packet trade on the Monongahela river.

The sand dredgeboat Rebecca, which went over the dam at Lock No. 1 several days ago and was badly damaged, has been hauled over the Manchester ways and is undergoing repairs.

Several Kanawha coal dealers have been in Pittsburgh lately trying to negotiate for the delivery of some Pittsburgh coal in the Cincinnati market for use of the Kanawha operators.

The local coal dealers at Cincinnati, according to a telephone message from there yesterday, have lowered the price of coal 50 cents an hour, or 5 cents a bushel, on the strength of the rise at Pittsburgh.

Capt. Edward J. Howard, who has purchased the Cincinnati marine ways, now owns nearly all the ways between Pittsburgh and New Orleans, the Campbell Company's dock being the only one not purchased is the plant at Paducah.

Capt. T. J. Hall of Cincinnati was in Pittsburgh yesterday and went to Bellaire on the Jack Frost, from which place he returned to Cincinnati. Capt. Hall is reported to be interested in a coal company which is operating seven mines.

Pilot George Clark, under whose hands the sweet towboat Sprague was taken from Cairo to New Orleans, is now on the Desoto City and is full of praise for the levitating. He says she is one of the nicest handlers he has ever toyed with.

Capt. James A. Henderson of the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati Packet Co. left the Keystone State to leave Cincinnati Thursday for Pittsburgh, to be followed Saturday by the Virginia. In this event the Keystone State will be the first boat out from Pittsburgh leaving the next Monday.

Capt. John F. Klein, who was on the steamer Mayflower when that boat met in collision with the Wilmot, says that the latter boat did not display no lights and when a red light was placed on the stern of the Wilmot, just prior to the collision, Capt. Klein says: "I called to the man putting it there, reminding him of the fact." Capt. Klein, who was in command of the Mayflower, is now in charge of the local inspectors yesterday, saying that he saw no lights on the boat until he was about 50 feet away, and then the electric lights were turned on. The Mayflower was badly damaged in the collision.

Missionary Women's Meeting.

The quarterly meeting of the Pittsburg branch of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Protestant church will be held today in the Fourth church, Mayflower street and Park avenue, East End. The morning session will be in charge of Mrs. Cordelia Jamison. At 2 p. m. there will be a devotional hour, followed by a business meeting.

Bank Cashier Shoots Himself.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Charles G. Dale, cashier of the New York County National bank, shot himself dead in his home in West New Brighton today. It was announced at the bank that Dale's accounts were correct, and no cause for his suicide is known.

CREAMERY BUTTER HAS BEEN ADVANCED

The week opened quietly in the hay and grain market, and no perceptible difference was to be noticed in figures governing sales from those which ruled at the close on Saturday, except for a slight weakening in shelled corn, which is not so well sustained as it was. There is no reason for a going off in price except that quotations were a little too high, and had to give way. Hay is steady at recent advances, with best grades in active demand.

The feature in the grocery market was an advance of 10 cents in the price of flour at the mills. This was rather unexpected, but was due to a stronger wheat market. Jobbers were slow to follow the advance, and have not yet done so fully, but are naming stronger figures, and have cut out all concessions. A full range of price for spring patent seems to be at the moment from $4 10@4 15, while 5 cents higher than that range should prevail to be commensurate with the mill advance. Local jobbers do not like to see the flour market disturbed by too many fluctuations, and do their utmost to hold it steady, and not give place too quickly to mill advances and declines. The coffee market is still as it was, and refined sugar is unchanged.

Beans Still High.

While navy beans are a little lower now than they were prior to last Saturday, dealers do not hold out any hope that prices will get back to normal conditions this season, believing that the most of the beans used this winter will be imported from Europe, and, even there crops are below the average. California limas are advancing in sympathy with navies, but not to such proportion.

Salt fish continues high on account of the immense demand, catches being large, but more going into consumption than ever before.

No change of any kind has occurred in canned goods, corn and tomatoes, the leading items, holding steady at former prices. Dried fruits have not changed much, although peaches are lower, currants are easier than they were, and the probabilities favor a plentiful supply this season. Fruits and produce were steady yesterday, last week's prices continuing in nearly all lines.

Corn Has Advanced.

Green corn advanced, and what few cantaloupes are to be had are commanding better prices, while all other lines remained unchanged. Potatoes do not reach this market fast enough to injure prices, although the claim is made that there are large supplies waiting to get in which will hammer down quotations when they arrive. Peaches are steady, with stock thinning out, and offerings of fancy stock readily finding purchasers. Grapes are in good demand and firm.

Poultry opens the week at the same figures as prevailed on Saturday. Chickens are coming forward in just about large enough quantities to take care of demand.

Creamery butter prices went forward a cent a pound at Elgin yesterday, and local quotations have been advanced accordingly. Cheese is also very firm, and is being quoted higher.

Hay, Grain and Feed.

Receipts bulletined: Pennsylvania lines, 32 cars hay, 1 car oats and straw, 1 car oats and wheat, 1 car corn and oats, 14 cars oats, 3 cars corn, 6 cars rye, 3 cars rye; Baltimore & Ohio railroad, 6 cars hay, 1 car corn, 1 car feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, 10 cars hay, 2 cars oats; Pittsburgh & Western railroad, 13 cars hay, 1 car straw, 1 car feed; total receipts, 96 cars.

Following are the official quotations for hay, millfeed, corn, oats and straw, corrected by the superintendent of the Pittsburgh grain exchange:

Straw—Oat, $7 00@7 50; wheat, $7 00@7 50; rye, $8 50@9 00.

Hay—No. 1 timothy, $16 00@16 50; No. 2, $14 50@15 50; No. 1 mixed, $12 00@13 00; No. 1 clover, $11 50@12 50; prairie, $9 00@10 00; packing, $9 00@10 00; loose from wagon, $16 50@17 50.

Rye—No. 2, Michigan, 58@59c.

SALE OF $65,000 IN PENN AVENUE

H. Prescott Simpson Buys Property at No. 626.

TRAFFORD CITY HOTEL

The Real Estate Trust Company has closed the sale of the property at No. 626 Penn avenue for a consideration of $65,000. The former owner was J. D. O'Bryan and the purchaser H. Prescott Simpson. The lot faces 20 feet on the south side of Penn avenue, near Barkers alley, and extends back a distance of 111 feet. This makes the rate of sale $3,250 a front foot, and the three-story brick building erected thereon is old and of little value. It is now occupied by the Simpson Gas Stove Manufacturing Company and it is understood that this concern will erect a modern store and warehouse on the lot in the spring, as the purchase was made for this purpose. The property has been in the O'Bryan family since 1832. At that time the lot was bought for about $2,000, showing that the property is worth over 32 times as much as it was 70 years ago.

A $50,000 Hotel Will Help Values.

One of the improvements that is bound to add considerably to the value of Trafford City properties is a modern hotel which the Westinghouse Foundry and Machine Company is preparing to build at a cost of $50,000. The site for the hotel is a lot on the west side of Fifth avenue, extending from Cavitt to Brinton avenue. The frontage in Fifth avenue is 260 feet and about 200 feet in each of the other streets. Plans for the building are now being drawn by the Century Architectural and Engineering company. It will be a four-story brick structure and will contain over 160 rooms. Besides the regular sleeping rooms there is to be a handsome club room, large dining room, parlors, writing rooms and offices. The hotel will be supplied with steam or hot water heat and will have a complete system of electric lights. The improvements assured by the Westinghouse interests and the building contemplated in the spring by private parties are sufficient to give the town a substantial boom next year.

New Way of Getting Options.

The United States Steel Corporation is making good progress in getting possession of its sites at McKeesport for the immense new tube plant. The work of appraising the buildings on the property bought has been proceeding for five days and is now nearly completed. The company has made a new departure in this matter which is working very satisfactorily. At first the agents of the company tried to get individual options, but this plan met with many obstacles, and the number of property owners being so large, prices varied widely. Then the company tried the experiment of getting options by streets. The property owners in every street were induced to sign an agreement, pledging themselves to part with their holdings exclusive of the buildings at so much per front foot. James Evans was appointed by the company as one member of a committee of six to fix a value on the buildings and each property owner named another member. In case these two could not agree a third was appointed. Where the property was occupied by a business this was also appraised. The value set on the frontage alone ranged from $50 to $125 a foot, the highest figure being placed on Fourth street property.

Jones and Laughlin Building a Myth.

The 12-story office building to be built by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company in Ross street, bulletined "exclusively" by a morning paper yesterday, proves to have been a myth of the first order. An official of the company was very emphatic in his denial of the whole story. "It is absurd," he said, "and you may say for the company that there is absolutely not a word of truth in the story. Such a thing has not even been contemplated. We have owned most of the property along Ross street, between Second and Third avenues, for years, and the matter of a building has never been seriously considered. The purchase, which the paper says was closed Saturday, was made last spring, and the figure was less than one-third the sum named in the article. Our present building is roomy and convenient and we have no idea of building another."

An interesting example of big advances in the value of small parcels of real estate, is to be found in the sale by George Schmidt to Carmine Ranallo of an improved lot, 41x100 feet, at the northwest corner of Laurel avenue and Cedar street, Sixteenth ward, for $3,000. Mr. Schmidt bought the property in 1881 for $1,000. Since then it has paid him an average rental of $25 a month, or 30 per cent on his investment, and a clear gain of $2,000 in its selling value.

Twenty-Eight Swissvale Houses.

George C. Norris has started the foundations on 28 brick houses which he will erect in Swissvale. The houses occupy about 400 feet of frontage, at the corner of Harrison and Oak Grove streets. They will be four-room dwellings, costing about $1,500 each. It is expected that the whole bunch will be ready for occupancy by January 1.

Contractors L. Benz & Bro. have begun excavating for the five-story brick warehouse to be built by the Duquesne Cigar Company, at the corner of Twenty-first and Smallman streets. The building will measure 70x72 feet, and will cost $25,000, exclusive of machinery. It was designed by Architects George S. Orth & Bros., and will be built on the slow combustion plan.

Architect M. Jacobs is taking bids on a four-story brick building, 17x90 feet, to be built for S. Cohen, on the north side of Penn avenue, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets. The building will cost $13,000.

Pittsburgh Receives Praise.

A recent issue of Fireproof, in commenting upon the necessity of careful building in large cities, criticises Chicago and Philadelphia severely for their laxity in the matter of allowing fire traps to be erected. "There should be a liberal, full and impartial enforcement of building laws," it says, "which could and should be guaranteed by holding the inspector of buildings personally responsible for every permit granted, and for its being faithfully executed. This can be done best by filing duplicates of every set of plans submitted as part of the building records. In this connection it is refreshing to read that the building department in Pittsburgh, Pa., recently refused permission to erect a maternity and foundling hospital only three stories high, for the reason that it was not to be made fireproof, a most wise and reasonable conclusion, which every conscientious citizen will indorse and commend."

Horse's Home Will Cost $130,000.

By far the finest stable in Pittsburgh is to be erected by William Miller & Sons for F. T. F. Lovejoy, in Braddock avenue, near Edgerton avenue, Twenty-second ward. The building will be a brick and steel structure, two stories high, and will be literally a horse's paradise. The permit for its construction was taken out yesterday, the estimated cost being $130,000.

The Pittsburgh Provision Company has received permission from the Allegheny bureau of building inspection, to erect two buildings on Herrs island, at a cost of $15,000 and $8,000 respectively. The first will be a four-story brick storage house and the second a three-story phosphate house.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company has permission to build a temporary frame building, of four rooms, between South Twenty-second and South Twenty-third streets. It will be used for section men.

Other Pittsburgh building permits were granted to Miss B. Bradley, for repairs to the house, at No. 4933 Center avenue, $5,000, and to Fred Widman, for a two story frame building at Climax and Gearing avenues, $2,100.

Going Back to Old Name.

The real estate department of the United Realty Trust Company, which was formed last spring, will hereafter be known as the Union Realty Company, the name it went by before the trust department was added. Its offices will continue to be at the present quarters of the United Realty Trust Company at Nos. 310-312 Fourth avenue. The trust department of the company is now the Iron City Trust Company, and will move, November 1, to the Westinghouse building, where it has secured a lease on the corner room on the first floor.

Owing to the swelling of the maple floors in the McCullough building, at the corner of Penn avenue and Twelfth street, which was damaged by fire a few weeks ago, it has been found necessary to take down the entire Twelfth street wall. The estimated cost of the improvement, as shown by the permit issued, is $7,000, although the actual damage to the interior of the building did not exceed $600. The floors were flooded, and being heavily loaded, could not warp, but forced the wall out.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is preparing to build a two-story brick electric light plant at Conway, Pa., to cost $55,000. As soon as this is completed a similar structure is to be erected on the Panhandle at Sheraden.

The Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railroad Company has bought two more South Side properties for $11,500. One improved lot, 20x109 feet, belonged to Fred T. Gretton, and brought $7,000. It is located in the southwest side of Sarah street, near South Twenty-ninth street, Twenty-fourth ward. The other lot, also improved, measures 20x60 feet, in the south side of Edwards alley, near South Seventeenth street, Twenty-sixth ward. It was owned by Josephine Pomeran, and brought $4,500.

George B. Caruthers has sold to Rachel L. Carrothers a triangular shaped plot at the southwest corner of Perrysville avenue and Euclid street, Tenth ward, Allegheny, for $16,000. The plot measures 89x96x115 feet, and has erected on it a large brick house.

North Street: The Commonwealth Real Estate and Trust Company sold for the Dilworth estate to D. J. Baker, four lots, 20x100 feet each, in North street, Thirty-second ward, for $900. The same company sold to George Montooth three lots in Wade street for $800. Also for Robert Simbiett to John Turfley, a lot 37x38 feet, in Webster avenue, for $600. The buyer will build.

Corner Property Sold.

Davison Street: James H. Hays sold to Ludwig Zeibel an improved lot, 60x94 feet, at the northwest corner of Davison and Forty-sixth streets, Seventeenth ward, for $5,925.

Atlanta Avenue: Robert H. Murphy sold to Joseph G. Lee of East Liverpool, O., an improved lot, 40x150 feet, in Atlanta avenue, near Dauphin street, Nineteenth war, for $3,300.

Hazelwood Avenue: Arthur W. Tyler sold to Alabama Nihlan an improved lot, 72x100 feet, in the southeast side of Hazelwood avenue, Twenty-third ward, for $1,250.

Wright's Alley: James E. Kuntz sold to Bertha Nagesk an improved lot, 22x60 feet, in Wright's alley, Twenty-sixth Twenty-sixth ward, for $2,600.

Atlantic Avenue: Mary Kaufmann sold to Elizabeth C. Fleber an improved lot, 25x100 feet, at the southwest corner of Atlantic avenue and Breeds Hill street, Nineteenth ward, for $3,000.

Glenwood Avenue: Silas P. Sadler sold to William G. Evans a lot, 65x160 feet, at the southwest corner of Glenwood and Johnston avenues, Twenty-third ward, for $1,800.

Blair Street: Rufus Martin sold to W. G. Evans a lot, 49x45 feet, in the west side of Blair street, Twenty-third ward, for $2,500.

Active in Homestead.

Several important real estate deals were closed in Homestead yesterday. A syndicate of local capitalists, headed by J. J. Rattigan and T. W. Brockman, bought from the Carnegie Steel Company a plot of three acres on Tenth avenue, in the borough of Munhall, for $40,000. The purchasers will improve the property and resell it.

J. J. Cavanaugh, a Homestead merchant, bought from B. J. Stenger of Squirrel Hill a lot 110x25, on Eighth avenue, near West street, for $6,600.

J. J. Rattigan and other local men of Homestead, who last week bought $30,000 worth of property from the Duquesne Land & Improvement Company, yesterday added to their holdings in the laboratory plan at Duquesne by purchasing from the same company another tract, for which they paid $21,000, which makes their investment in Duquesne property $51,000.

Mellott & Husband have let the contract for the erection of 10 buff brick houses on Ninth avenue, east of Library street, Homestead. They will cost $70,000.

AMERICAN GENERALS LUNCHED WITH KING

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Ambassador Choate and Gens. Corbin, Wood and Young were the guests of King Edward at a luncheon at Buckingham palace today in honor of Lord Kitchener, prior to the latter's departure for India, where he is to take command of the British forces. Lord Roberts also was a guest of the king.

Gen. Corbin delivered to the king a message from President Roosevelt, expressing the hope that King Edward would lend his assistance in creating interest in Great Britain in the St. Louis exposition. The king replied that he would answer the message personally in the same kindly spirit in which it was sent.

At the conclusion of a rather elaborate luncheon his majesty proposed the health of President Roosevelt. The king spoke in most admiring terms of the president and expressed his delight at seeing such distinguished Americans present.

His majesty announced an adjournment to the smoking room, where he had a long talk with Gens. Corbin, Young and Wood, and personally expressed to them his gladness to see them in England, "because," he said, "I feel we are not only friends, but relations." The king asked many questions about the American army.

DECAPITATED BY A WIRE.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Charles B. Smith, aged 55, a bricklayer employed by the Roebling Construction Company, today, in falling from the sixth story of a building, struck upon a telephone wire and his head was severed.

Tension caused the wire to spring back, carrying with it the head, which was thrown high enough to let the strong gale carry it on to the roof of the building.

Ohioan Dies on Train.

MARCELINE, MO., Oct. 13.—John F. Sullivan, aged 25, en route from Phoenix, Ariz., to his home at Woodstock, O., died in a berth on a Santa Fe passenger train. The body was taken from the train here, prepared for burial and shipped east tonight, accompanied by his wife.
